RESOLUTION ON THE SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT REPORTS FOR THE YEAR ENDING THE 30TH SEPTEMBER, 1903.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—LAND REVENUE.

Calcutta, the 29th February, 1904.

RESOLUTION—No. 1299.

READ—

Letter No. 558A, dated the 15th January, 1904, from the Board of Revenue, submitting, with a note, the Survey and Settlement Reports for the year ending the 30th September, 1903.

The Survey and Settlement reports for the year ending the 30th September, 1903, with their appendices, have been prepared generally in accordance with the orders of Government.

2. Survey and settlement operations were in progress during the year in eighteen districts contained in eight of the nine Divisions of this Province. The programme, which was considerably larger than in the previous year, has been generally carried out; while, in the few cases in which deficiencies occurred, the reasons given for the failures are satisfactory. The area covered by the traverse survey parties was 6,884 square miles, and was 2,713 square miles in excess of that dealt with in the previous year. Cadastral survey operations extended over 3,719 square miles, as against 3,357 square miles in the year 1901-02. A record-of-rights has now been framed in respect of 32,482 out of a total area of 151,185 square miles of British territory in the Province.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor joins with the Board in congratulating Major Crichton, Superintendent of Provincial Surveys, upon the marked success which has attended the various measures of economy which he has introduced in the working of his Department during the year. It is noticeable that in Backergunge, where there are peculiar difficulties to contend with, the cost per square mile of traverse survey amounted to Rs. 43·6, as against Rs. 61·9 in the previous year; and that the cost of cadastral survey, with preliminary records, was Rs. 167·7, as compared with Rs. 273·3 in the year 1901-02. In Ranchi, where, owing to the poverty of the country and the people, it is specially important that the work should be done as cheaply as possible, it is very satisfactory that the traverse survey was carried out at a cost of only Rs. 28·9 per square mile, as against Rs. 60·5 in the year 1901-02; while the cost of cadastral survey and initial record-writing was only Rs. 94 per square mile. In Purnea, the cost of traverse survey was only Rs. 24·3 per square mile; and the Lieutenant-Governor notices with pleasure that the care with which the preliminary demarcation was supervised by Messrs. Pyne and Wodschow, on behalf of the Darbhanga Raj, was one of the causes which contributed to this good result.

4. In paragraph 14 of his report, the Director has stated that kanungos, and, sometimes, persons not in the employment of Government, are now being largely employed on record-writing and as Assistant Settlement Officers. He observes that the cost of the operations will, in this manner, be materially reduced; but that he fears that efficiency may be impaired. In commenting on these remarks, the Board of Revenue deprecate the prosecution of economy in the direction of cheapening the supervising agency, where there is any danger that such economy will affect the efficiency of the work. A separate communication will shortly be addressed to the Board on the subject of the subordinate agency employed; and it will suffice to say here that the Lieutenant-Governor fully concurs in the opinion thus expressed by them. The question of effecting economy in survey and settlement operations was fully discussed in the year 1902; and, in reporting to the Government of India the measures which it was proposed to take in order to attain this object, the late Lieutenant-Governor, Sir James Bourdillon, held that, in no circumstances, should expenditure be curtailed in such a way as to render the record less trustworthy than it has hitherto been. With this view Sir Andrew Fraser is in entire agreement.

5. The question of diara surveys, which was alluded to in paragraph 7 of the Resolution of this Government reviewing the Survey and Settlement reports for the year ending the 30th September, 1902, is still under the consideration of the Board; but, as indicated in paragraph 11 of the present Settlement report, the matter will shortly be submitted by them for decision.

6. The settlement of rents in the Damin-i-Koh Government Estate in the Sonthal Parganas was completed during the year; the result being that the rents of the last settlement were enhanced by 50 per cent. for the first five years, and by 62 per cent. for the remaining period of the new settlement. Under a declaration made by Government in the year 1823, the lands held by the Paharias, which lie within the limits of this Estate, cannot be assessed to rent without their consent; and hence no compulsion has been put upon t[illegible] people to apply for settlement. The hillmen have, however, begun to [illegible] that settlement proceedings will have the effect of protecting them fro[illegible]oach-ments by the Sonthals; and it is satisfactory to learn that [illegible]haria villages were settled during the year on voluntary application.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor has noticed with special satisfaction the remarks, quoted below, which have been recorded by the Settlement Officer of Ranchi as to the attitude of the Mundas towards the operations which are being conducted in that district:—

"So far, the progress of the settlement appears to have aroused no unhealthy excitement amongst the Mundas of the areas dealt with, whose attitude has, on the whole, been friendly. They appear to believe that Government is making a serious effort to befriend them; and, in turn, they have willingly assisted the work in supplying free labour for cadastral survey and record-writing, and no difficulty has been found in obtaining carriers at cheap rates. This was specially the case in the Mundari khuntkatti area, where the people were deeply interested in the fate of the Bill which dealt with the preservation of their rights. The passing of the Chota Nagpur Tenancy (Amendment) Act, V (B.C.), of 1903, appears to have caused great satisfaction to them."

The Lieutenant-Governor has just received an address from the residents of the Ranchi district, asking that the survey and settlement operations should be extended to the whole district. The results in deciding land disputes and preventing litigation are appreciated. It is also satisfactory to observe that the inhabitants of pargana Surjapur, in Purnea, were very favourably disposed towards the operations which were undertaken there, for the purpose of settling disputes between landlords and tenants; and that the people holding lands in adjoining areas were most solicitous in their enquiries as to the time when the operations would be extended beyond the pargana referred to.

8. The statistics relating to the mutation offices established under the Land Records Maintenance Act, III (B.C.) of 1895, emphasise the conclusion, previously arrived at, that the Act has proved a failure. Schemes for the maintenance of the records in North Bihar, Orissa and Chittagong have been submitted to the Government of India, and are now under the consideration of that Government. The present Settlement report furnishes indications of improvement in the record of mutations of names in Government and Wards' Estates. In some cases, however, the work is still unsatisfactory; and the Board are requested to pay continued attention to this important subject.

9. It is satisfactory to observe, from Chapter V of the Director's report, that the settlement records and maps are now more largely utilised in general district administration. As observed by the Board, the work of maintaining boundary marks on an effectual system has only just begun; and the progress made cannot yet be profitably criticised.

10. In conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor has much pleasure in acknowledging the services of the various officers, whose work has been brought to notice in the reports under review, and in the Board's note thereon. The thanks of Government are due to Messrs. Allen and Maddox and to Major Crichton for their efficient management of the Departments under their charge. Mr. Beatson-Bell has done admirable work in the district of Backergunge in the face of exceptional difficulties; while Messrs. McPherson, Lister, Coupland, and Taylor are specially commended for the ability and energy displayed by them in dealing with the important operations entrusted to them.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy of it, with copies of the two reports, be submitted to the Government of India.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. EARLE,
Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye-observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

N. B.—In the weekly abstract from 31st January to 6th February 1904 read 47 for 4 as miles recorded on the 6th February 1904 and 78·0 for 78·2 as the maximum possible number of hours of sunshine.

I.—LOWER PRIMARY SCHOLARSHIPS.

Unit area.—The Lower Primary Scholarships will be distributed according to thanas, and will be open only to pupils attending lower primary schools, provided that such schools adopt the course prescribed in Bengal Government Resolution No. 1, dated 1st January 1901.

Preliminary selection.—A preliminary selection of candidates will be made by the Sub-Inspector of Schools based on the results of his annual inspections. Such selections may, if desired, be made by the Sub-Inspectors after consultation with the Guru Instructors in charge of the schools of the thana. The Sub-Inspector should forward to the Deputy Inspector a list of eligible candidates from each thana.

Limit to selection.—The number of names in the aforesaid list should not exceed three times the number of scholarships allotted to each thana, and the name of not more than one candidate from each school should appear in the list.

Scrutiny.—The Deputy Inspector should scrutinise the list and, if necessery, strike out names from, or add names to, the list if he has reason to believe any injustice is being done.

Scholarship Examination.—The final selection for scholarships will be made by means of an examination of the candidates selected as above and in the books and subjects prescribed from time to time by the Director of Public Instruction. The examination will be held at the head-quarters of a thana, or at some convenient higher class school, and be conducted under arrangements made by the District Board or by the District Committee of Public Instruction, as the case may be. The examination will be mainly oral, and be conducted by Superintendents appointed by the District Board or its Education Committee, or by the District Committee of Public Instruction in non-Board districts. Any written papers which may be set to test candidates' hand-writing and knowledge of Arithmetic will be examined by the Superintendents or by examiners appointed by the District Board or the District Committee of Public Instruction, for each thana.

Marks earned by the examinees.—The marks earned by the candidates at the oral examination, and also in papers set in writing and Arithmetic, should be forwarded to the Deputy Inspectors of Schools who should submit them to the Chairman, District Board, or the Vice-President, District Committee of Public Instruction, giving his views as to the distribution of the scholarships, and any other remarks he may wish to make.

Award of scholarships.—The scholarships will be awarded by the District Board, or by the District Committee of Public Instruction, as the case may be, in consultation with the Deputy Inspector, and in accordance with the rules in force in the Department, or sanctioned from time to time by Government.

II.—UPPER PRIMARY SCHOLARSHIPS

Unit area.—The upper primary scholarships will be distributed according to subdivisions, and will be open to pupils attending (1) upper primary schools, (2) the third class of middle schools, and (3) the seventh class, section A, of high schools, provided that such schools are being taught under the Code given in Government of Bengal's Resolution No 1 of 1901.

Preliminary selection.—A preliminary selection of candidates will be made by the Deputy Inspector of Schools on the result of his annual inspections in respect of upper primary and middle schools and by the Inspector or the Assistant Inspector in respect of high schools. Such selections shall be made, if necessary, in consultation with the Head Master of the particular school. The Deputy Inspector should forward to the Inspector of Schools a list of eligible candidates from upper primary and middle schools in the subdivision. The Inspector should then prepare a combined list of candidates from upper primary, middle and high schools in each subdivision of a district.

Limit to selection.—The number of names in the aforesaid list should not exceed four times the number of scholarships allotted to each subdivision and the name of not more than one candidate from each school should appear in the list. The number of names in the list prepared by the Deputy Inspector and in that made by the Inspector or the Assistant Inspector should each be double the number of scholarships allotted to each subdivision.

Scholarship Examination.—The final selection for scholarships will be made by means of an examination of the candidates selected as above, and in the books and subjects prescribed from time to time by the Department. The examination will be held at the head-quarters of a subdivision or at some convenient higher class school and be conducted under arrangements made by the Inspector of Schools. The examination will be partly oral (in Reading, Object-lessons, Geography and Map-pointing and Mental Arithmetic) and partly written (in Vernacular Literature and Grammar, Science Reader, History, Arithmetic and Mensuration). The oral examinations will be conducted by the Superintendents appointed by the Inspector for each centre, and the written papers will be set and the answers examined by examiners appointed by the Inspector for the whole district, or, if thought desirable, by examiners appointed for the whole division.

Marks earned by the examinees.—The marks earned by the candidates at the oral examination and also in the written papers should be forwarded to the Inspector of Schools.

Award of scholarships.—The scholarships will be awarded by the Inspector of Schools in accordance with the rules in force in the Department or sanctioned from time to time by Government. At least one-half of the scholarships will be reserved for candidates from Upper Primary Schools.

III.—MIDDLE SCHOLARSHIPS.

Unit area.—The middle scholarships will be awarded according to districts, and will be open to pupils attending middle schools and to the pupils of the 5th class of high schools, provided that such middle and high schools are being taught on a vernacular basis according to the Code given in the Government of Bengal's Resolution No. 1 of 1901.

Preliminary selection.—A preliminary selection of candidates will be made by the Inspector, Assistant Inspector or Deputy Inspector of Schools on the results of his annual inspections in respect of middle schools, and by the Inspector in respect of high schools. These selections should be made, if necessary, in consultation with the Head Master of the particular school. The Assistant or Deputy Inspector should forward to the Inspector a list of eligible candidates from middle schools in the district. On receipt of this list, the Inspector should prepare a combined list of candidates from middle and high schools arranged according to districts.

Limit to selection.—The number of names in the combined list should not exceed four times the number of scholarships allotted to each district, and the name of not more than one candidate from each school should appear in the list. The number of names in the list prepared by the Assistant or Deputy Inspector, and in that by the Inspector, should each be double the number of scholarships allotted for each district.

Scholarship examination.—The final selection for scholarships will be made by means of an examination of the candidates selected as above, and in the books and subjects prescribed from time to time by the Department. The examination will be held at the headquarters of each district or subdivision or at some convenient High School, and be conducted under arrangements made by the Inspector of Schools. The oral examination will be conducted by the Superintendents appointed by the Inspector for each centre, and the written papers will be set and the answers examined by examiners appointed by the Inspector for the whole district, or, if thought desirable, by examiners appointed for the whole division.

Mark gained by the examinees.—The marks earned by the candidates at the oral examination and also in the written papers should be forwarded to the Inspector of Schools.

Award of scholarships.—The scholarships will be awarded by the Inspector of Schools in accordance with the rules in force in the Department, or sanctioned from time to time by Government.

IV.—GENERAL RULES GOVERNING THE AWARD OF PRIMARY AND MIDDLE SCHOLARSHIPS.

In preparing the list of candidates for the various scholarship examinations, information should be recorded as to the circumstances of the candidates and as to their conduct, and considerable weight will be given to such considerations. Thus in the second selection made by the Deputy Inspectors for candidates for lower primary scholarships and that made by the Inspector for upper primary and middle scholarships, great weight will be given to considerations of poverty and conduct, and a poor orphan or a poor boy will be preferred to one who has parents, who are well to do or who are not actually poor.

A candidate who has once been admitted into any of these examinations shall not again be admitted into the same standard of examination.

No person directly interested in any of the candidates should take part in the examination.

Scholarships awarded under these rules shall be tenable only in schools working under the new scheme for vernacular education.

The scholarships will be liable to forfeiture for misconduct or for any unsatisfactory report regarding the progress made by their holders in their studies.

The examinations will be held in the second-half of November of each year and the award of the scholarships will be declared in December.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye-observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported for any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

A. EARLE,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 1441.—The 14th March 1904.—The following revised rules for the regulation of private hostels, students' messes, etc., are published for general information.

A EARLE,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Rules for hostels, messes for students, etc., in connection with (a) Arts Colleges, High English and Middle Schools receiving Government grants-in-aid or receiving money from any public source whatever, or (b) from which students compete for Government middle schools, junior and senior scholarships, or (c) in which Government upper primary, middle, junior and senior scholarships will be made tenable. These rules also apply to (d) all Government Arts Colleges and Zilla and Collegiate Schools.

THE Principal and Head Masters or the Managing Committees of all institutions, belonging to the classes (a), (b), (c), and (d) above are required to undertake the following duties, or to make proper arrangements for carrying out these rules.

2. All students attending the institutions falling under the four classes—(a), (b), (c) and (d)—above will be required to reside under one or other of the four following conditions:—

(ii) Under the care of duly-recognized guardians, who must be accepted by the heads of the institutions as persons of sufficient age and responsibility to be entrusted with such guardianship. In the case of students whose fathers are alive, such guardians shall be nominated in writing by the fathers of the pupils. In the case of a student residing in a private family as tutor, the head of the family shall be considered to be the guardian under this class.

(iii) In a hostel of public or private character.

(iv) In a students' mess or other approved mess.

Students not living under one of these conditions will be liable to expulsion from the college or school attended, and the cause of such expulsion will be notified in the transfer certificate given to the student.

3. In the case of students living in classes (iii) and (iv) of rule 2, they will be considered to be under the direct control and supervision of the heads of the institutions of classes (a), (b), (c), and (d) not only during college or school hours, but also at all other times during the college or school terms.

4. All hostels or messes coming under paragraph 2 (iii) and (iv) above must be duly licensed or approved in writing by the Principal of a college or by the Head Master of a High English or Middle school as a fit place for the residence of students. At the time of application for a license, the head of the institution to which the largest number of students asking for the license belong will be considered to be the officer to inspect and license the mess. In the event of equal numbers in a mess coming from different institutions, the head of the senior institution as recognised by or affiliated to the Calcutta University will be considered to be the officer to license the mess If, as the result of change in the residents in a mess, it is found the majority of the residents belong to an institution other than that of the officer who licensed the mess, it will be open to him to transfer the mess to the head of the other institution.

5. The Principal or Head Master, who has approved of the building or rooms used as a hostel or mess, will be responsible for the hostel or mess so approved, and for the students who live in it. Such hostels or messes will be regularly and frequently inspected by the Principals of Colleges or Head Masters of Schools, or by officers deputed by them for such duties.

6. Particular attention shall be directed at such inspections to all conditions in relation to the morality of the students and also to the discipline maintained in such hostel or mess. Instructions shall be given, if necessary, that a proper standard in such matters shall be maintained.

7. In Calcutta and in all mufassal stations where expert sanitary advice is available, the sanitary arrangements shall be carefully enquired into and inspected. In Calcutta no hostel or mess will in future be licensed for the residence of students unless its sanitary condition has been previously certified to by the Health Department of the Corporation. In the case of existing hostels and messes in Calcutta, they will be required to submit certificates that such hostels or messes have been examined by the Health Department, and that their sanitary arrangements have been approved within six months of the publication of this notification, failing which these licenses will be withdrawn. Sanitary certificates will be furnished free of charge.

8. In those mufassal stations where there are medical officers in the employ of Government and in stations where there are dispensaries under public management, similar sanitary inspections will be made by a medical officer attached to some public institution, and the provisions of rule 7 will be applied and sanitary certificates will be required as a condition of the existence of hostels and messes. In stations where there is a Civil Surgeon, the first inspection of the sanitary arrangements of a building which it is proposed to use as a hostel or mess shall be made by the Civil Surgeon.

9. At any time during the existence of any license it will be open to the licensing officer or any sanitary officer indicated in rules 7 and 8 to hold a sanitary inspection; and if the sanitary arrangements are not approved, the license will be cancelled after three months' notice by the licensing officer.

10. Public and private hostels and messes coming under paragraph 2 (iii) and (iv) will be also open to inspection by any Inspector or Assistant Inspector of Schools, or any other person specially deputed for the purpose by Government or by the Education Department. In stations where no sanitary expert advice is obtainable, the Inspector or Assistant Inspector will be permitted to condemn a mess or hostel on sanitary grounds, and to cancel a license if sanitation is not properly attended to, after three months' notice.

11. In the case of a hostel under public management, if any defects are found, steps must be taken through the proper authorities to have any defects noticed remedied as speedily as possible.

12. In the case of private hostels or the messes referred to, it will be in the power of the officer who is inspecting to declare that such buildings cannot be recognised or continue to be recognized for the purposes of a hostel or mess, and such declaration, when approved by the Principal of the college or the head of the school, shall be sufficient after three months' notice, to cause the building to be struck off from the list of places where students are permitted to live.

13. Gentlemen of influence living in the neighbourhood of such messes or hostels may also be appointed to act as visiting members for such places under the authority of the Director of Public Instruction.

14. In every hostel where there is no paid Superintendent and in every mess, the Principal of the college or the Head Master of the school shall appoint one of the most senior and responsible of the residents of such hostel or mess to act as Honorary Superintendent, and such Superintendent will be responsible for the maintenance of good order in the institution in which he resides. It will be the duty of the person so appointed to help the Principal of the college or the Head Master of the school in every matter connected with the morality and discipline of the persons living in the hostel or mess, and also to report any serious breaches in such matters to the authorities of the college or school. Ordinarily the Superintendent will be a teacher or a senior student of a college, but it will be permissible for outsiders to be appointed as Superintendents of messes. The remaining members of a mess must be bonâ fide students of colleges or schools, unless special exceptions to this rule are made by the head of the institution who has licensed the mess.

15 Cases of infectious disease or of sickness should be at once reported by the Superintendents of hostels and messes to the authorities of the college or school at which such students attend.

16. A Conduct Register will be kept by the Superintendent of the hostel or mess, who shall have no power to cancel or alter an entry once made and signed. Boarders are liable to have their names placed in the Conduct Register for—

(1) Disobedience of orders or infringement of any rules made for the well-being of the hostel or mess.
(2) Absence without sufficient cause.
(4) Insubordination or disrespect to the authorities.
(5) Assaulting or abusing a servant of the hostel or mess.
(6) Want of cleanliness or tidiness in their rooms and on the premises.
(7) Misconduct not provided for by the rules.

17. The names of all the students residing in the hostel or the mess should be entered in an Attendance Register to be supplied for the purpose, and the rolls must be called twice a day at stated hours. Boarders found absent without satisfactory cause should be reported to the Principal or the Head Master of the institution to which they may belong, and for the third offence of the kind during the same term they may be expelled from the hostel or the mess.

18 A student may be removed from the hostel or students' mess for habitual or gross misconduct, or for frequent entry in the Conduct Register by the head of the institution who has licensed such hostel or mess. Every such removal shall be reported to the authorities of the institution to which the student belongs and also to his guardian.

19. All inspection remarks are to be recorded in the Visitor's Book.

20. Detailed rules for the conduct of the hostels or messes should be made by the Superintendent in consultation with the heads of the institutions concerned.

The Superintendent will listen to any complaints or suggestions that may be brought to his notice by a boarder in a proper manner. Hostels and messes can prosper only through the mutual co-operation of their members.

22. The head of each institution licensing messes or under whom a hostel is working shall, at the end of each official year, submit, to the officer of the Educational Department through whom he ordinarily corresponds with Government, a report on their working, with special reference to the conduct of the residents and to their health and progress, as also to the sanitary arrangements of the premises and surroundings. IV.—GENERAL RULES GOVERNING THE AWARD OF PRIMARY AND MIDDLE SCHOLARSHIPS.

In preparing the list of candidates for the various scholarship examinations, information should be recorded as to the circumstances of the candidates and as to their conduct, and considerable weight will be given to such considerations. Thus in the second selection made by the Deputy Inspectors for candidates for lower primary scholarships and that made by the Inspector for upper primary and middle scholarships, great weight will be given to considerations of poverty and conduct, and a poor orphan or a poor boy will be preferred to one who has parents, who are well to do or who are not actually poor.

A candidate who has once been admitted into any of these examinations shall not again be admitted into the same standard of examination.

No person directly interested in any of the candidates should take part in the examination.

Scholarships awarded under these rules shall be tenable only in schools working under the new scheme for vernacular education.

The scholarships will be liable to forfeiture for misconduct or for any unsatisfactory report regarding the progress made by their holders in their studies.

The examinations will be held in the second-half of November of each year and the award of the scholarships will be declared in December.

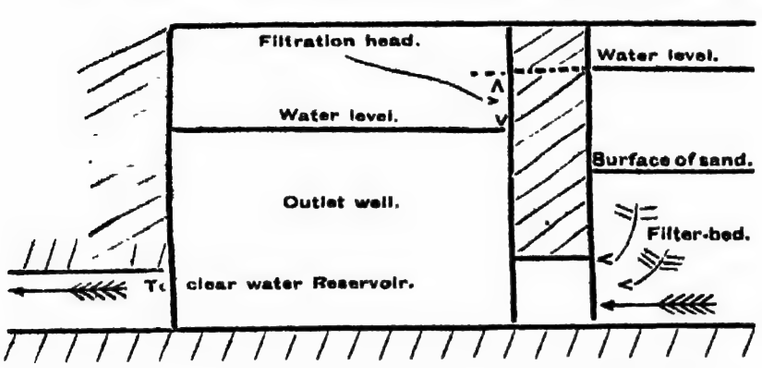
APPENDIX B.

RULES FOR WORKING FILTER-BEDS OF WATER-WORKS IN BENGAL.

(Revised by order of the Sanitary Board, Bengal, 26th May 1896.)

1. The depth of water above the surface of the sand in a filter-bed should never be allowed to exceed two feet; care should be taken to always maintain this depth of water as long as filtration is in progress, and for this purpose gauges should be painted on the side walls of the filter-beds.

2. The water collecting in the drains of a filter-bed is usually discharged into a small masonry well called the outlet-well, from whence it passes through a sluice into the clear-water reservoir; the difference of level between the surface of the water in the filter-bed and that in the outlet-well is called the filtration head; the rough sketch in the margin explains this clearly. The filtration head should not under ordinary circumstances exceed six inches, but in cases of emergency it may be allowed to reach as much as twelve inches. Full reasons for allowing the filtration head to exceed six inches should be recorded in the filter-bed log-book.



3. The interiors of outlet-wells should be painted white, and gauges should be painted on the side walls, so that the filtration head may be accurately recorded.

4. Readings of all gauges should be taken every two hours while the filters are at work, and recorded carefully in the log-book (Sanitary Engineer's Form No. 5) or in any other form approved by the Sanitary Engineer.

5. Filter-beds should not be worked continuously, but the surface of the filtering material should be exposed to the air for at least eight hours out of the twenty-four, so as to enable the air to penetrate and so oxidize any organic matter deposited in the interstices of the filtering material by the unfiltered water. Filter-beds should, preferably, be run dry at night time only.

6. Filter-beds should not be charged from below or by admitting water upwards on to the surface of the sand. When a filter-bed is to be brought into work, the outlet valve should be kept closed until the depth of water on top of the sand remains at the limit prescribed in rule 1, i.e., two feet, care should be taken not to disturb the surface of the sand by admitting water too rapidly at first.

7. Sand that has been scraped from the surfaces of filter-beds should be left exposed to the air for six or seven days before it is washed and replaced in the filter-beds.

8. The fine sand in a filter-bed should never be reduced by scraping to a less depth than 12 inches. When sand washers are available, the fine sand should be brought up to its correct thickness after every third scraping, so that the rate of flow through the filtering material may be kept as uniform as possible.

9. The filtering material and brick drains should be entirely removed from the filter basin once every four years. The pebbles, or broken stone, and the coarse sand may be replaced, provided they have been thoroughly exposed to the air while the brick drains are being laid; they should be spread out in thin layers and turned over with spades at least once a day. The fine sand should be entirely renewed. When a filter-bed has been reconstructed and charged, the filtered water flowing from it should be allowed to run to waste for at least 48 hours.

10. Water should not be allowed to remain in settling tanks longer than is necessary for the deposition of suspended mineral matter, such as clay, sand, etc. Whenever the water of the source of supply is sufficiently clear, it may be pumped direct into the filter-beds, or if the intermittent character of the flow causes damage to the surface of the filtering material, the water may be passed through the settling tanks at a low level without being allowed to stagnate.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye-observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

Goods transhipped within the Port are exempt, also ballast, with the exception of dressed stone. For the purpose of levying such due on miscellaneous general cargo landed or shipped at the Kidderpore Docks or at the Jetties, the Commissioners will follow the schedules of charges prescribed for the Docks and the Jetties, and charge one-fifth of the rates therein specified; but where the landing or shipping charge is in these schedules levied on the ton by weight, then the due under this notification shall be four annas per ton. For the purpose of levying such due on goods landed or shipped over the Inland Vessels' Wharves or otherwise than through the Docks or Jetties, the ton shall be reckoned at the actual weight where such is ascertainable. Where the weight is not declared, then the ton shall be reckoned at the respective weights and measurements given in the schedule in force for the Inland Vessels' Wharves.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

The 15th March 1904.

No. 24Marine.—Notification.—In exercise of the powers conferred on him by section 9 of the Indian Petroleum Act, 1899, and in supersession of the rules sanctioned under this Department Notification No. 111Marine, dated the 1st September 1903, which was published at pages 1159—65, Part I, of the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd idem, the Lieutenant-Governor proposes to make the following revised rules for regulating the grant of licenses to possess and transport petroleum in the Lower Provinces of Bengal. The rules will be taken into consideration on the expiry of two months from the date of their publication in the Gazette, and the Lieutenant-Governor will consider any suggestions or observations that may be made by any person concerning them within that period.

D. B. HORN,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Preliminary.

1. The following rules shall extend to all the territories for the time being administered by the Lieutenant-Governor.

2. In these rules, including the forms annexed thereto,—

(I) "the town of Calcutta" means all places within the local limits of the original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal:

(II) "the Municipality of Calcutta" means the municipal limits of Calcutta as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899:

(III) the expression "suburbs of Calcutta" means the local area for the time being excluded from the general police district of Bengal by notification under section I of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866: and

(IV) "petroleum in bulk" means petroleum in any vessel or receptacle having a capacity of 300 gallons and upwards.

Possession of Petroleum.

3. Licenses for the possession of Petroleum within the town of Calcutta shall be granted only when (1) the quantity of petroleum to be kept in one place does not exceed 50,000 gallons, and (2) the place intended to be used for the keeping of the petroleum fulfils the following conditions, namely: (a) if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place does not exceed 5,000 gallons, the building itself shall be constructed of masonry with a terraced or iron roof, and the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to a height of not less than two feet above the level of the road or street, or the floor shall be sunk at least two feet below the level of the road or street, so that the petroleum cannot flow out of the place in case of fire; (b) if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place exceeds 5,000 gallons, the building itself shall be constructed of masonry with a terraced or iron roof, and the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to a height of not less than three feet above the level of the road or street, or the floor shall be sunk at least three feet below the level of the road or street, so that the petroleum cannot flow out of the place in case of fire, and there shall be a clear open space of at least twenty feet round the building.

4. Licenses for the possession of petroleum in places outside the town of Calcutta shall, if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place does not exceed 50,000 gallons, be granted on the same terms as those granted in the town of Calcutta for the possession in one place of not more than 5,000 gallons. If a license for the possession in one place of a larger quantity than 50,000 gallons be required, the license shall be granted on the same conditions as those granted in the town of Calcutta for the possession in one place of petroleum exceeding in quantity 5,000 gallons:

Provided that, if the place in which the petroleum is to be kept is situated within one hundred yards of the river Hooghly or Tolly's Nala, or the Circular Canal, the building shall further be surrounded by a wall or earthen embankment not less than four feet high, with a trench close to, and completely surrounding, the building, of sufficient capacity to hold all the petroleum stored, and to prevent its escape beyond the limits of the trench in case of fire.

5. (1) Notwithstanding anything in rules 3 and 4, and subject to the conditions prescribed in this rule and to such further conditions as may be prescribed by the Local Government in each case, a license may be granted for the possession of any stated quantity of petroleum in a place specially prepared for the storage of petroleum in bulk in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the Local Government. The capacity in gallons shall be conspicuously marked on every storage tank or other receptacle in such place.

(2) Every tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk in such a place as is referred to in sub-rule (1) shall be protected by an efficient lightning-conductor:

Provided that a tank or receptacle which is not of sufficient capacity to contain 10,000 gallons of petroleum need not be so protected if it is so situated as not to be liable to cause danger in the event of the petroleum being ignited, i.e., if it is not in close proximity to any other such tank or receptacle or to any building, and if it is surrounded by a wall or moat or combination of both, sufficient to prevent the flow of petroleum beyond certain circumscribed limits in the event of the escape of the whole contents of the tank when full.

(3) Not less than once in every year the holder of a license granted under sub-rule (1) for the place in which there is, under sub-rule (2), required to be a lightning-conductor, shall test or cause to be tested the efficiency of the lightning-conductor in such manner as the authority granting the license may, by general or special order, declare to be sufficient.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-rule (3), an officer appointed in writing by the Local Government in this behalf may enter any place in which there is, under sub-rule (2), required to be a lightning-conductor for the purpose of testing the efficiency of the lightning-conductor at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

6. The District Magistrate, or any Deputy Magistrate or Sub-Deputy Magistrate, or in the town and suburbs of Calcutta, the Commissioner of Police, or any Police Officer of or above the rank of officer in charge of a police-station may enter any place in respect of which a license for the possession of petroleum has been granted, for the purpose of inspecting the same at any time after sunrise and before sunset:

Provided that a Police Officer below the rank of Inspector shall previously obtain the order of the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police, or Deputy Commissioner of Police or District Superintendent of Police, in writing for such duty.

7. The officer authorised by the preceding rule to enter on such premises may require a sample to be delivered to him from any tank or other receptacle containing petroleum stored in any licensed premises. The procedure prescribed in sections 12 and 13 of the Act shall apply to any demand for samples made under this rule, and to the testing of such samples.

8. The following fees shall be charged for licenses for the possession of petroleum in places situated within the Municipality of Calcutta:—

13. Any tank or other receptacle for the storage of petroleum in bulk that may be erected on the land belonging to the Commissioners of the Port of Calcutta, and appertaining to the Budge-Budge Petroleum Depôt, shall be deemed to be a place in respect of which a license for the possession of petroleum has been granted under rule 5.

17. The Licensing Officer may, for special reasons to be reported to Government, refuse a license in any case. The reasons for refusing a license shall be communicated to the applicant, if a request to that effect is preferred by him.

18. (1) Every special license for the transport of petroleum shall specify the places from and to which, respectively, the petroleum is to be conveyed, the route by which it is to be taken, the quantity of petroleum covered by the license, and the time for which the license is in force.

(2) Petroleum transported to Calcutta or Howrah under a license shall be conveyed by land and not by water between Garden House and Cossipore.

Explanation.—This sub-rule shall not apply to the conveyance of petroleum which is brought under a license from beyond the limits of Calcutta and Howrah, and is not intended to be landed within those limits.

In the case of applications for licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum under section 5 of the Act, the application shall also contain the particulars required by sub-section (2) of that section.

No. 407 C. W.—T.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.—PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.—CIVIL WORKS.—TELEGRAPHS.

Calcutta, the 16th March 1904.

Instructions regarding the despatch and acceptance of "clear-the-line" messages.

RESOLUTION.

It has been brought to the notice of the Government of India that the power given to certain high officials to "clear the line" in order to obtain precedence for a State telegram of great importance has been abused, and that this has been encouraged by the failure of the Telegraph Administration to enforce the regulations on the subject.

2. The matter has therefore been under the consideration of the Governor General in Council and the following rules are issued for information and guidance:—

1st.—"Clear-the-line" messages are not to be accepted at a telegraph office unless signed by an officer in the authorized list.

2nd.—The power given to officers in the authorized list to clear the line is not to be delegated and messages when issued as delegated are not to be accepted.

3rd.—An officer having authority to send a "clear-the-line" message may in such message authorize a "clear-the-line" reply. No "clear-the-line" reply shall be accepted in the absence of such authority.

4th.—The Director General of Telegraphs is instructed to examine all clear-the-line messages once a month in order to see that the above instructions are observed.

3. The following officers are authorized to clear the line:—

Private Secretary to the Viceroy, by special order of the Viceroy.
Private Secretary to the Governor of Madras, by special order of the Governor.
Private Secretary to the Governor of Bombay, by special order of the Governor.
Military Secretary to the Commander-in-Chief, by special order of Commander-in-Chief, and in the absence of the Commander-in-Chief from Head-quarters the Senior Staff Officer at Head-quarters.
Lieutenant-Generals Commanding the Forces, Punjab, Bengal, Madras, Bombay, and Burma.
Private Secretaries to the Lieutenant Governors, Bengal, United Provinces, Punjab, and Burma, by special order of Lieutenant Governors.
Executive Members of His Excellency the Viceroy's Council.
Secretaries to Government of India.
Chief Secretaries to Government of Madras, Bombay, Bengal, United Provinces, Punjab, and Burma.
Chief Commissioners of Assam and Central Provinces.
Agents to the Governor-General, Rajputana, North-West Frontier Province, Central India, and Baluchistan.
An Officer Commanding a force in the field.
Director General of Telegraphs.
Maharaja of Patiala (from Patiala Office only).
Residents, Hyderabad and Mysore.

4. In publishing these instructions the Governor General in Council desires to impress on officers that the power given to clear the line is only to be used in cases of great public importance and is not to be used simply as a means of obtaining priority of despatch. It may not be generally known that directly a "clear-the-line" message is tendered for transmission at a telegraph office all works over the wires to the place or places to which the message is to be sent is instantly stopped until the message in question is disposed of. This dislocation of the ordinary traffic is only warranted by the supreme importance, from the point of view of the public service, of the message for which the line is to be cleared. It is impossible to define what constitutes a matter of great public importance, but it seems to the Governor General in Council that the instances in which it should be necessary to clear the line should be few and far between.

5. It will be seen that in future the power to clear the line cannot be delegated and that an order to clear the line which is signed "by order" will not in future be accepted by the Telegraph authorities, as has been the practice in the past.

6. In the cases of messages repeated to two or more offices, the officer ordering the line to be cleared should carefully consider whether it is necessary the line should remain cleared for the despatch of the repeated copies. In many cases, notably in the case of military messages, these are often sent for information only, and all useful purpose would, it is believed, be served if they were sent by one of the usual classes, urgent, ordinary, or deferred, or by post instead of by telegraph.

7. Lastly, the Governor General in Council desires to take this opportunity of impressing on officers the necessity for economy in the use of words in drafting State telegrams. A perusal of some of the messages recently despatched shows that many are drafted with the freedom of expression and detail used in ordinary correspondence by letter; this is unnecessary for telegraphic messages of any class, but is the more to be deprecated in messages for the despatch of which all other traffic has been put on one side.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be communicated to the Director General of Telegraphs for information and guidance and to the Foreign, Finance and Commerce, Home, Legislative, Military, and Revenue and Agricultural Departments; to the Local Governments and Administrations noted on the margin and to the Private Secretary to His Excellency the Viceroy. Also that it be published in Part I of the Gazette of India for general information.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

RECORD-ROOM STAFF IN DISTRICT COURTS.

The Hon'ble BABU SALIGRAM SINGH, in the absence of the Hon'ble RAI TARINI PERSHAD, BAHADUR, said:—

I beg to draw the attention of Government to the following:—

That, according to the rule now in force (vide Government Memorandum No. 1280J., dated the 14th March, 1902, addressed to District Judges under the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, on the Report of the Commission on the ministerial establishments of the Civil Courts), the ministerial officers for the record-room of the District Courts are:—

> one record keeper; three muharrirs for each record-room receiving 15,000 records a year; and, for record-rooms receiving more than 15,000 records a year, one extra muharrir for every 10,000 records received in a year.

That the Commission expressed an opinion substantially to the effect that there should be one muharrir for every 5,000 records in each district. The duties now falling upon the ministerial staff in the record-rooms are too numerous and heavy, and the officers now working are very much overworked.

That, owing to the very heavy work falling upon the ministerial officers of the record-rooms as well as in other departments in several District and Subordinate Courts, such as those of Bhagalpur, Patna, Burdwan, Muzaffarpur, Mymensingh, &c., most of these officers are obliged to stay in office till late hours, and also to attend office and work there even on Sundays and other close holidays; and, although extra hands are sometimes provided, such temporary provision does not sufficiently answer the purpose.

In view of the hardship pointed out, will the Government be pleased to make an inquiry in this connection from the District Officers, and consult the High Court, and kindly consider the advisability of removing this grievance by making necessary additions to the staff?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

"This matter is one which ought in the first instance to be represented to the Judge of any district in which the record-room staff is too small. It would be most inexpedient for the Government to make a general inquiry of this nature without having authentic and definite information of a general necessity for increase of the staff. The Lieutenant-Governor must look to the District Judge to inform him of any need for additional establishment in any particular district."

APPRENTICES IN MUFASSIL CIVIL COURTS AND OFFICES.

The Hon'ble BABU SALIGRAM SINGH, in the absence of the Hon'ble RAI TARINI PERSHAD, BAHADUR, said:—

I beg to draw the attention of Government to the following:—

According to the practice now in force, the apprentices in the District Courts (Civil, Criminal and Revenue) get nothing in the shape of remuneration for their services, extending over several years, before they are employed as ministerial officers or section-writers. Many persons come to be admitted as apprentices from distant parts of the district, and in very many instances, though qualified for apprenticeships, they are unable to seek admission for want of means of livelihood in places where they could be admitted as such.

Will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of making such provisions as to it may seem fit to remove the difficulties pointed out above?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied :—

"The question of granting some allowance or remuneration to apprentices in the Civil, Criminal and Revenue Courts and offices in the mufassil has already engaged the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor and is under consideration."

COPYISTS AND SECTION-WRITERS IN COURTS.

The Hon'ble BABU SALIGRAM SINGH, in the absence of the Hon'ble RAI TARINI PERSHAD, BAHADUR, said :—

I beg to draw the attention of Government to the following :—

That copyists or section-writers are employed in Civil and Criminal Courts, and are paid from out of the income derived from the Copying Department in a certain proportion, and that to all intents and purposes they are much in the same position as paid ministerial officers in other departments. There are numerous instances of such copyists or section-writers leaving office after a service of 30 years and upwards, without getting anything in the shape of a pension or a gratuity for the support and maintenance of themselves and the families depending upon them. There is no provision in the Civil Service Regulations for such officers after their retirement.

Will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of making some provision for them on their retirement from the service?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied :—

"The Lieutenant-Governor hopes to be able to effect some improvement in the position of the officers referred to by the Hon'ble Member, and the matter forms the subject of a correspondence with the Government of India. No further information can be given at present on the subject."

THE CALCUTTA IMPROVEMENT SCHEME.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state if it is a fact, as stated in the Englishman of the 15th February last, that a private Conference is sitting to consider the subject of the improvement of Calcutta ?

(b) Is it a fact that there are no representatives of the rate-payers in this Conference ?

(c) Is it a fact, as stated in the Hindu Patriot of the 17th February, that it was proposed at this Conference to levy a death-duty of 5 per cent. on house property in Calcutta ?

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES replied :—

"Correspondence which showed some tendency to become protracted has been in progress between the Government of India and the Local Government regarding the Calcutta Improvement Scheme.

"To avoid unnecessary delay, and to have the best available assistance in framing proposals for submission to the Government of India, the Lieutenant-Governor invited certain gentlemen to discuss the matter with him. The Conference consisted of two Bengal Officers serving in the Government of India (Mr. H. H. Risley, C.I.E., and Mr. E N. Baker, C S I.), the Financial Secretary to the Bengal Government, the Commissioner of Police, an officer of the Public Works Department, the Chairman of the Corporation, and three non-official Members of the Corporation, one of whom was at that time also President of the Chamber of Commerce, namely, the Hon'ble Mr. E. Cable, the Hon'ble Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya and Mr. Nalin Behary Sircar, C.I.E. These non-official gentlemen were selected by the Lieutenant-Governor as representing the interests and views of the different classes of rate-payers. The Lieutenant-Governor presided and Mr. C. G. H. Allen acted as Secretary.

"The proceedings were entirely confidential, and were only intended to assist the Lieutenant-Governor in placing his proposals before the Government of India. The matter is now being placed before that Government; and no information can for the present be given."

RULES FOR THE CONDUCT OF LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON presented the Report of the Select Committee on the suggested amendments in the Rules for the Conduct of the Legislative Business of the Bengal Council.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON moved that the Report of the Select Committee be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON also moved that the amendments be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON also moved that the Amendments, as revised by the Select Committee, be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL EXCISE BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Excise Bill, 1903.

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE moved that the Bill be re-committed to the Select Committee, with instructions to re-consider and so amend the same as to secure by express and direct legislative enactment—

(a) that the principles of the policy of the Government of India, enunciated in paragraph 103, principles (3) and (4),* of their Despatch to the Secretary of State for India, No. 29, dated 4th February, 1890, be given legislative effect, with due regard to the present system of local and municipal institutions prevailing in Bengal;

(b) that intoxicating liquors and drugs may not be sold, at any house licensed for the sale of such liquors and drugs, to women or to children under the age of 14; and

(c) that reasonably adequate provision be made therein so as to prevent, as far as possible, the spread of drunkenness in Bengal.

He said:—"On a careful consideration of the Majority Report of the Select Committee upon the Excise Bill and of the Note of Dissent attached thereto by two of the Members of that Committee, and in consideration of the various memorials and papers which were placed before the Select Committee, which have been called for, for the purpose of ascertaining public opinion on the matters therein concerned, I felt that there was laid upon me the necessity of moving the motion which stands over my name. The Select Committee in paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Majority Report state as follows:—

3. Local option.—In several of the criticisms which have been received it is urged that the principle of "local option" should be adopted in the Bill, that is to say, that it should be provided that licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor or drugs in any locality

* "(3) that the number of places at which liquor or drugs can be purchased should be strictly limited with regard to the circumstances of each locality; and shall not be granted against the wish of a majority of the inhabitants of the locality. The introduction of the principle of local option into Indian Excise Law has been urged before. The question was exhaustively considered by the Government in the years 1886 to 1890, and the Government of India deliberately declared in the latter year that local option was impracticable in this country (see paragraph 98 of their despatch to the Secretary of State for India, No. 29, dated the 4th February, 1890, published on page 211 of the Supplement to the Gazette of India of the 1st March, 1890). No change has since occurred in the habits or feelings of the people such as would justify the re-opening of this question, and we have accordingly left it untouched by the Bill."

(4) that efforts should be made to ascertain the existence of local public sentiment, and that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such opinion when ascertained."

4. Under existing arrangements, however, although the granting of licenses is not left to the control of local opinion, steps are taken to ascertain what local opinion is before licenses are granted, and all due deference is paid to such opinion when ascertained. This is done in pursuance of clause (4) in paragraph 103 of the Despatch mentioned above. Thus in Calcutta, rule 9 (5) on page 80 of Volume I of the Excise Manual, 1903 (which is sold at the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt), declares that—

No shop shall be opened on a new site unless a notification shall have been affixed, at least 15 days before the grant of the license, at the nearest police-station and in some conspicuous place on or near the proposed site. The notification shall state, for the information of the public, that it is proposed to open a shop (specifying the kind of shop) on the site in question; and the Superintendent shall carefully consider all objections urged by the inhabitants against the opening of such shop, in communication with the Commissioner of Police; and, in the event of a difference of opinion, shall refer the matter, through the Commissioner of Excise, for the decision of the Board of Revenue.

"It seems to me, Sir, that these paragraphs of the Report of the Select Committee do not deal either exhaustively or effectively with the principles enunciated by the Government of India in paragraph 103 of the Despatch referred to. The Government of India, it is true, in paragraph 98 of that despatch stated that the local option was impracticable as a principle to be applied to all India; but that statement is qualified to a considerable extent by the observation that 'any system of local option presupposes the existence of a highly-developed system of local or municipal institutions to which representatives are elected by the mass of the people, and [illegible] conflicting interests command their due share of attention. No such system exists in India.'

"That observation of the Government of India must be read as referring to the state of things at the date of this Despatch. Since then there has been a considerable change in India. There has been the establishment of a large number of local and municipal institutions to which representatives are elected by the mass of the people, and in which conflicting interests command and receive due attention. But, Sir, conceding that local option in the sense of, and to the extent of, absolute prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors and drugs is even now beyond the range of practical legislation for the reasons assigned in the Government Despatch, there seems to me, regard being had to the subsequent clauses of this despatch, no sufficient reason assigned why in the Bill now under consideration legislative effect should not be given in Bengal, where local institutions and the system of Municipal Government so largely prevail to the principles (3) and (4), enunciated in that Despatch, namely,—

(3) that the number of places at which liquor or drugs can be purchased should be strictly limited with regard to the circumstances of each locality; and

(4) that efforts should be made to ascertain the existence of local public sentiment, and that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such opinion when ascertained.

"The Government of India go on further to add that 'the steps we have recently taken in the direction of providing that public opinion shall be consulted have already been explained in Despatch No. 157 of the 25th May, 1889, and Your Lordship has approved them.' The Government say in that despatch:—

The Government of India are inclined to think that the procedure adopted in Bengal, where distinct instructions have been given to the licensing officers to ascertain and consider local opinion, and directions have been issued that where municipalities exist the Municipal Commissioners should be consulted in determining the location of shops, might be generally followed with advantage. But having regard to the varying conditions of different provinces, it has been thought desirable for the present to leave to Local Governments full discretion to decide what measures are expedient in each case.

"In clause 105 of the despatch of the 4th February, 1890, the Government thus sums up the position:—

The practical measures which we propose to adopt in furtherance of our declared policy comprise (1) the abolition of the farming or outstill system in places where it is found practicable to do so; (2) the gradual introduction of the central distillery system in its least complex form; (3) the imposition of as high a rate of duty on country liquor as it will bear, subject to the limitation that such duty shall not exceed the tax levied on imported liquor; and (4) the restriction of the number of shops. Where the outstill system is retained we shall, as far as possible, enforce the limitation or the capacity of the still, and in some instances a minimum selling price.

We do not anticipate that the carrying out of this policy in a rational manner and with reasonable regard to the circumstances of the country will lead to any loss of revenue. On the contrary, we believe it will be as successful from the financial as from every other point of view.

"I have been given to understand that the outstill system having been found unworkable has been discarded in Bengal proper, but is continued in Bihar and Chittagong. This Bill, however, still continues the farming or outstill system. Any one who considers what the farming system is must appreciate at once that it leads to the maximum of consumption with the minimum of return to Government in the shape of Excise. Every gallon of liquor that can be made, and there is an abundant opportunity of doing so, surreptitiously, owing to the large number of outstills, is a distinct profit to the farmer and a loss of revenue derivable from excise. The farming system also leads to this, that it is the interest of the farmer to push the sale of intoxicating liquors and drugs beyond reasonable limits.

"Fifteen years ago these principles were enunciated by the Government of India, and these instructions were given to the licensing officers to ascertain [illegible] and directions were issued that where municipalities existed the Municipal Commissioners should be consulted in the determination of the location of shops. In the report of the Material and Moral Progress of India, 1901-1902', I read 'definite orders have been passed in accordance with the principles formulated by the Government in 1890 to the effect that before any new site for the establishment of a shop was settled, reference should be made to local opinion, and that any reasonable objections should be considered.'

"Since the date of the despatch of 1890 there has been, as I have observed before, a great growth of municipal and district bodies throughout India. The Government is consequently now in a far better position than it was then to ascertain the local public opinion as to the condition under which, and the places in which, within any given area, intoxicating liquors and drugs should be sold.

"In view, Sir, of the principles thus enunciated by the Government of India, I venture to inquire whether the number of places at which liquors and drugs can be purchased in Calcutta or elsewhere in Bengal have been restricted or not, and whether in the district or municipal areas in Bengal the District Boards or Municipal Commissioners have been consulted as to the number or location of liquor shops. It must be possible, no doubt, if the number of liquor shops has been restricted and the District Boards and Municipal Commissioners have been consulted, for the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill to place on the table a copy of any such restriction or reference to such local bodies. But even if any restrictions have been issued, is it not a fact that the principle of restriction enunciated by the Government of India has been honoured rather in the breach than in the observance?

"What steps have been taken to ascertain from the municipalities throughout Bengal their opinions as to the number or location of licensed shops within areas under their control? To judge from the 11th paragraph of the Majority Report there have been none. It would appear that the Corporation of Calcutta, not the least important of the various municipal bodies in Bengal, has not been consulted. What is done at present? Simply, according to the Report, when a liquor shop has to be opened at a new site, a notification, four or five days previous, is affixed to the nearest police-station and some conspicuous place at or near the proposed site; and then, forsooth, the Superintendent of Excise is directed to consider the objections urged by the inhabitants in communication with the Commissioner of Police, and in case of any difference of opinion the Board of Revenue is to decide the question. That is the very body which is specially charged with the case of the Excise revenue of Bengal, has to decide. Quis custodis custodiet.

"The Board of Revenue is an Archaic institution: it is a relic of the olden times when the system of a paternal or ma-bap system Government, prevailed, and they had innumerable duties to perform. It has many and manifold duties to discharge. It has to deal with the revenue and partition of estates, with wards and minors and their marriages and the allowances to be given them. This Board consists, as Hon'ble Members are aware, of two senior members of the Bengal Civil Service. I know of no post in this country which is a more desirable one than that of being a Member of the Board of Revenue. The Board of Revenue answers to Lord Eldon's description of a Corporation: 'It has neither a body to be kicked nor a soul to be damned.' It is not subject to any Court. None of its decisions are open to appeal, nor as a rule have the public the right even to be heard before the Board save in some special matters. They are subject, as I understand, alone to the administrative control of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. But over and above these multifarious duties, the Board of Revenue has other duties connected with the Excise Department. Under these circumstances, it does seem to me that they are the last body in the world to which there should be given the extraordinary power of rule making which is given in this Act.

'This skeleton legislation is not legislation properly so called: it is by its power of rule-making a delegation of legislation, but it does not by reason of the want of stability and publicity, meet the wants and requirements of the people who should know what are the laws under which they live and by which they are to govern themselves. Anyone, and I am prepared to speak as a lawyer of some experience, knows that it is far more difficult in this country to find out what the law is, than when found out, to interpret it. It is to be found in numberless Gazettes and notifications and rules and orders which are not to be found collected, so far as I am aware, in any convenient form. There are no doubt a number of them collected in the Excise Manual and treaties dealing with the rules of the Excise Department.

"The Corporation of Calcutta have no voice in this matter nor, so far as I can see, have any other Corporation in Bengal, notwithstanding the express instructions of the Government of India that the municipalities are to be consulted. There is a clause, Sir, section 98, which might perhaps be so amended as to give the powers that are therein assigned, but as at present worded it does not, in my humble judgment, provide for the matters with which I am now immediately concerned; that is, as to say, the question of determining and fixing the number of public houses in any given area and the sites and locations of any new or existing intoxicating liquor and drug shops.

"Turning next to the papers which were placed before the Select Committee, it would seem that the number of public houses, liquor and drug shops are to a very great extent in excess of the needs of the locality, more especially in Calcutta. It is stated, and any one can verify the statement, that they abound in the neighbourhood of Bentinck Street and there are numbers of them also near the Docks. I see it stated that at the Talla Waterworks, in opposition to the memorials and express wishes of the residents, a grog-shop was there opened.

"I find also from these papers that these shops for the sale of liquors and intoxicating drugs have been set down opposite schools and colleges, places of worship, hospitals and dispensaries. I believe that I am right in saying that the location of them in such places is contrary to the expressed wishes of the Government, but so long as there is no legislation on the matter, nothing can be done. Orders are given and these orders are for awhile carried out, but after awhile things revert to their former state.

"It has been stated in the Council of His Excellency the Viceroy that an immense evil has followed from the setting-down of these shops in the neighbourhood of the Tea Gardens, and that the result which always follows either there or in Bengal is, that as surely as shade follows sunshine, so does crime and disease follow drunkenness.

"I am, Sir, not one of those who consider that drink is per se wrong. It is, as all the creatures of God are, good in itself. It is the abuse of it which leads to mischief. There is in itself no more evil in drinking wine than in eating bread and butter, though of course the evils which flow from excessive drinking are of a most deadly and debasing character. What, then, is the result? It is an increase in drunkenness and an increase in crime, and I doubt not that it could be fairly proved, an increase, in disease, arising either directly from the taking in excess of intoxicating liquors, or indirectly from the passions which are aroused by such excess.

"Doubtless it is a fact that there has been a great increase in the Excise revenue of the country. I can well believe it. But what of the condition of the people? Is not their material and their moral condition of far greater value to this country than a rise in the revenue derived by the Excise Department? Well, Gentlemen, what is the remedy for this? Does this Bill supply any remedy? I submit that it does not as it should and can be made to do. It is a Bill, as declared expressly in the preamble, not only to consolidate and amend the law in force in Bengal relating to the manufacture, sale, possession, import, export and transport of exciseable articles, but also to the regulation and licensing of places in which such articles are sold, and to the collection of the revenue derived from such articles.

"And what do we find here? We find that the whole matter is here left to the Board of Revenue to make rules for the granting of licenses or permits under this Chapter, and the majority of the Select Committee are of opinion that it may be left to that body to make rules which will secure the taking of the opinion of the inhabitants of any given area as to the propriety or otherwise of setting up a liquor shop in an area where one or more of these already exist, although those existing may be sufficient for the purpose. I venture to think otherwise and to insist that there should be clear enunciation in the Bill of the principles on which those rules are to be made.

"Under section 42 the Board has to make rules, so far as I can see, on almost everything which is material for this matter. The Board has the power of determining the number of licenses, of prescribing the form of any license or permits the fee (if any) payable for any such license, the place of sale, the hours during which licensed premises may or may not be kept open, the class of persons to whom exciseable articles may be sold, the prevention of drunkenness, the employment of women and children, and other things. Here I pause for one moment. If the Council will look at section 38, you will find that the Select Committee have actually gone out of its way to enable the Board of Revenue to license the employment of children under 14 in the grog-shops. Is there any conceivable reason in the world why children under the age of 14 should be initiated into the evils that are almost necessarily attendant on being in such places? We are told that the Select Committee were unanimously of opinion that liquor should not be sold to children under the age of 14. I am glad to hear it, but if this is so, why has not that been put into the Bill? Why should not there be some definite statement of the policy of this great Province in respect of the sale of liquor? Until there is such an embodiment of that policy, I see no help for the evils that are existing.

"The Select Committee have in the Majority Report expressed their dissent with regard to many of these matters, but I submit that it is in the highest degree desirable and necessary so as to give effect to the principles enunciated by the Government of India, to which I have adverted, to prevent the sale to children and habitual drunkards and, perhaps, also to women, and to prevent, as far as possible, the spread of drunkenness, that this Bill should be re-committed to the Select Committee in order that they might apply their minds, which I do not think they have done, at least not effectively, to the questions upon which I have been speaking. They have assumed, as I think, that when some of the memorialists speak of local option, they mean and refer to an option involving the absolute prohibition of the sale of liquor in any area. So far I am at one with them, but the majority of the memorialists spoke of local option in another and different sense—the sense in which the Government of India speak about it—of taking the opinion of the country within given areas as to the places and locality at which intoxicating drugs and liquor shops should be set down, and as to the needs and requirements of the people for such shops.

"The Bill, Sir, is one which will continue for a number of years to come to be the law under which this country shall be governed as regards matters of Excise, and I object in the most emphatic terms to leaving almost unlimited powers in the hands of the Board of Revenue. In respect to the manufacture, sale, possession, import, export and transport of exciseable articles and the licensing regulation of premises, I submit that the Act itself should lay down clear and definite principles for the guidance of the Board of Revenue in making these rules, and that there should be a distinct provision made therein for taking the opinion of the inhabitants and of the rate-payers in any municipality.

"I cannot conceive why in a place like Calcutta, where we have a gentleman, like the Hon'ble Mr. Greer, as Chairman of the Calcutta Corporation, the Corporation should not have a voice in determining what are the requirements of Calcutta. I do not think he would approach the question in any niggardly spirit, but he would, as would any of his successors, deal with the matter in a broad and just manner.

"We have had memorials on the subject from every class of the community. We have had memorials from Christians, from Hindus, from Muhammadans, from the inhabitants of Calcutta, from various Associations, from the Landholders' Association at Bhagalpur, from the Muhammadan Defence Association. In fact, every section of the community have represented their views against this inefficient measure. Speaking for myself I cannot find in it any effective check against the increase of the number of houses for the sale of intoxicating liquors and drugs, or any provision either for ascertaining the wishes and requirements of the public in that matter or for preventing the evils of drunkenness.

"Notwithstanding the Government Despatch and the memorials placed before the Committee, the matter stands in exactly the same position as it did, with one exception, viz, that a clause has been introduced, and I welcome it, to make it punishable to sell liquors to drunkards. Everybody will agree that this is a step in the right direction. But why should there not be in the Act a prohibition to sell to children and habitual drunkards, even if women are not to be included in it?

"It was said by Your Honour, when on the introduction of this Bill I called attention to certain amendments which I had proposed when Act II of 1903 was under consideration in Select Committee, that there might be difficulty in enforcing those amendments, regard being had to the Police system in this country. I am well aware of such difficulties, but with all respect I venture to suggest that the remedy is to reform the Police. At all events, if the matter is taken out of the hands of the Commissioner of Police, and Excise Superintendent, subject to the control of the Board of Revenue, and placed in the hands of the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, or of any other Corporation, they would no doubt exercise a just discretion, and, in this way, the execution of the Act would be in great measure put beyond the risk of interference on the part of the Police. That, Sir, is the form of the local option which, I understand, the memorialists ask for, and that I feel bound in conscience to request that this Council shall direct its attention; and in that view, I ask that the Council shall direct that this Bill may be re-committed to the Select Committee to consider how they may deal with this matter. It will not be beyond their powers to do so.

"I respectfully submit, Sir, that giving due weight to the great principles which have been enunciated by the Government of India, the amendments which may then be proposed will be found to fall strictly within the range of practical politics and legislation, and that the welfare of the people committed to your charge in Bengal will be improved and effectively gained. As the Hon'ble Members of the Council will observe, the motion which stands in my name is divided into three parts; they are all governed by and intended to be so, by the first portion of the motion, viz., that the Bill may be re committed to the Select Committee with instructions to re-consider and so amend the same as to secure by express and direct legislative enactment.

"There are strong objections to this general rule-making power by the Board which is taken in this Bill. I desire that there shall be direct legislative statement as to the persons by whom and to whom, and places where, and the conditions under which, public houses may be established and licenses granted in any given area. I quite admit that the Board of Revenue, when once these principles are laid down in the Bill, will then have a safe ground upon which to go in making their rules. The proper function of this rule-making power is to make rules with respect to matters and things which have been definitely stated, clearly defined, and have the sanction of the Legislature. I do not think that they should have power to make a rule to-day which may be rescinded to-morrow. The people of Bengal are entitled to know what are the conditions under which they live and what are the limitations under which this rule-making power is to be exercised. That forms the premise of my motion. It is that direct and express legislative effect should be given to the policy of the Government of India enunciated in paragraphs 303 and 304, that is, that the number and places of licensed houses shall be strictly limited and located having regard to the circumstances of each locality, and that efforts should be made to ascertain the feeling that exists in any locality, and that deference should be paid to this opinion.

"The next paragraph deals with the question of the sale of intoxicating liquors and drugs to women and children. At home, where also there is a great and increasing growth in drunkenness, the Legislature has made it penal to sell liquor to children under the age of 14 and to persons who are habitual drunkards. There can be no greater difficulty so far as the Police are concerned in putting that on the record in this Act, than there would be in the Board of Revenue, under the auspices of my Hon'ble friend in charge of this Bill, making a rule that liquor is not to be sold to children under 14 or to confirmed drunkards, or as the Bill itself provides to prohibit the sale of liquor to an intoxicated person. If these matters were put not in a rule but in the Act itself, there would be a great object gained there. It would appear on the Statute Book and the subjects of the King would know the law and be better able to regulate their conduct by it, and it would behove the officials to carry it out.

"Then it has been pointed out that there exist many ways and means by which the provisions of the law and the existing rules as regards the closing of public houses are defied. There are back-doors and side entrances and all sorts of ways and means by which persons may and do evade the liquor regulations. One looks in vain for any remedy for these evils in the Bill itself. We are told that the Board of Revenue will make rules. When? In the Greek calends? What have they done hitherto to restrict the number and regulate the places of these shops? Are we to be content with good intentions? I think it would be a far better way to provide for these matters in the Act itself and thus directly strike at the evils of crime and disease which follow drunkenness.

"It is stated in one of these papers that in 28 hours, the number of children who entered one of these public houses amounted to 43 or 44, and that of this a considerable number—16 or thereabouts—were drinking. One knows the evil which was met at home by legislation. Children are sent for their fathers' beer: the first thing they do is to take a sip. They want to see what the stuff is like that daddy drinks, and having done that they take another downward step and fill it up with water, and thus they learn two early lessons—the lessons of drinking and lying. Of course I admit that a country cannot be made virtuous by legislation, but it certainly can be prevented from descending at an ever increasing rate the downward slope of crime.

"For these reasons, I respectfully move the motion that stands in my name, and which I hope will be carried."

The Hon'ble MR. BUCKLAND said :—"As the Member in charge of this Bill, entrusted with the duty of passing it through this Council, I am constrained to oppose the motion of the Honourable and learned gentleman who has just sat down. The motion which he has brought before the Council with such eloquence and feeling is one which I have to oppose as being unnecessary, as being undesirable, and as likely to prove not only infructuous but harmful. I say that that motion is unnecessary, because all that it proposes to do can be done perfectly well without it. There is no need whatever to have it inserted in our legislation that the principles of the policy of the Government of India should be given effect to by municipalities or other local institutions in Bengal. Nor is there any need for legislation to give effect to the other clauses of his motion, and I think it is a well-accepted principle of Government and of legislation that legislation should not be undertaken unless the need for it is shown.

"The principles of the Government of India have been stated at considerable length in that Despatch to which the Hon'ble Member has alluded and to which I shall have to allude at greater length, but in that Despatch, as far as I have been able to see, the word 'legislation' nowhere occurs, and no hint of legislation being necessary is given except in the second clause of paragraph 103 from which the Hon'ble Member quoted that 'the traffic in liquor and drugs should be conducted with suitable regulations for police purposes.' If the Council will read, or listen to me attentively while I read, paragraphs from the Govenment of India's Despatch and follow me carefully, it will be seen that there is nothing whatever there laid down which cannot be enforced by a rule under the Act as it at present stands, or by the Bill as we propose to pass it without any legislation such as the Hon'ble Member proposes.

"I also say that this motion is undesirable, because if I rightly followed the Hon'ble Member he proposed to introduce the important but dangerous principle of local option. Now on an occasion like this I think it is essential that not only this Council but the much larger public which take an interest in these matters should be privileged to know the whole case and not be put off with mere extracts or words and paragraphs in the Despatch which is not accessible to many of us.

"I therefore beg with your permission, Sir, to trespass somewhat on the indulgence of the Council, and as I say largely with a view to the greater audience which is listening to us or will listen to us outside these walls that I ask you to allow me to read the paragraphs in the public despatches; for these papers were not in any way secret, but were published in the Gazette of India on the 1st March, 1890; they dealt with local option. and will show anybody with an unprejudiced mind that the subject was fully dealt with and that local option was then pronounced to be an absolute impossibility, and it is therefore undesirable now to re-open the question, because nothing has happened since 1890 to alter the circumstances which existed when that Despatch was written. I will ask your permission to read the paragraphs of the despatch of the 4th February, 1890, which refer to local option.

DESPATCH TO HER MAJESTY'S SECRETARY OF STATE, No. 29, DATED THE 4TH FEBRUARY 1890, REGARDING EXCISE ADMINISTRATION.

Local option impracticable.

98. A consideration of the arguments just referred to, as well as of others which we need not here specify, has convinced us that absolute prohibition, and what is known as local option, are both out of the question in India. A system of local option would throw the whole administration into confusion, and would in some places create an intolerable class tyranny which might have very serious political effects. We doubt greatly if a Sikh community would quietly submit to the total prohibition of liquor by a Muhammadan majority, and we believe that in some tracts local option would lead to the indefinite multiplication of liquor shops and the reduction of the rate of duty to a minimum. We have already dealt with this question at some length in our Despatch to Your Lordship, No. 157, dated 25th May, 1889. As was stated in that Despatch, any system of local option presupposes the existence of a highly-developed system of local or municipal institutions to which representatives are elected by the mass of the people and in which all conflicting interests command their due share of attention. No such system exists in India.

Difficulty of ascertaining public opinion on the question of drink.

99. Putting aside the question of local option, the difficulties even in the way of ascertaining what public opinion on the question of drink really is and of determining the amount of deference that may reasonably be paid to it are very serious. The widest divergence exists both in respect of the extent to which the habit of drinking is practised and of the degree of disapprobation with which it is viewed, and it is difficult to determine what meaning to attach to public sentiment on the question of drinking in a locality where one portion of the community regards drinking as a social or even religious duty, while another portion regards the consumption of spirits in any form or quantity as a positive sin.

101. Between the two extremes to which we have referred there exist in India classes of all shades and degrees of opinion and practice in regard to the habit of drinking, for whom drinking is neither enjoined nor absolutely forbidden by their religion. For example, the Sikh religion permits drinking, and many classes of Hindus, of some standing in the social scale, are not forbidden to drink either by caste rules or custom, and do in practice resort to the use of stimulants in a greater or less degree. In addition to the numerous classes falling under this intermediate head, whose religion and opinions are of an origin independent of European influence, there are also the Europeans, the Eurasians, and the Native Christians, whose habits and opinions must be considered in framing Excise regulations.

In many places these classes live side by side, and restrictions on drink which would be viewed as beneficent by one class would be considered by others to be tyrannical, while it is obvious that an Excise system, which might be suitable for, and approved by, one of these numerous classes, would be unsuitable for the majority of the other classes.

For Muhammadans and Hindus of certain castes no special restrictions are necessary in order to discourage drinking. The habit is opposed to their religious principles, and is discountenanced by the public opinion to which they are subject. It is no doubt true that some Muhammadans and some Hindus, for whom drink is forbidden by their religion, do drink secretly or openly, but this is either because they choose to disregard in this respect the principles of the religion which they profess, or because they have adopted Western habits and modes of life. In such cases any restrictions that Government could impose would be of infinitely less force than those which have been already disregarded.

On the other hand, almost all Europeans and Eurasians and many Natives of India, especially the aboriginal tribes, would regard severe restrictions on drinking as an unnecessary and tyrannical interference with their modes of living. Such restrictions would be frequently disregarded by these classes and would provoke a spirit of opposition, the strength of which is ignored by those who favour prohibition, whether enforced universally by Government, or locally and partially through the means of local option.

102. The considerations we have stated point to the conclusion that it is not merely impracticable and impossible to prohibit the use of stimulants in India, or to introduce a system of local option, but show also that it is impossible to introduce any Excise system that would be equally well adapted to all classes of the population of India and would be in complete accord with such public opinion as may be said to exist in different parts of the country. Nor could distinct and separate systems be applied to each of the several classes described or to groups of them. These classes are not distributed simply with reference to geographical considerations. The inhabitants of some districts are no doubt more given to the habit of drinking than those of others; but many of the varying degrees of disapprobation of the practice of drinking are represented in every district; and everywhere, or almost everywhere, there are both people to whom drinking is forbidden by their religion and also people for whom it is permissible and who do as a fact drink more or less whenever they can afford to do so. Any Excise regulations which could be adopted for a particular locality must necessarily fail to be suitable and acceptable in respect to at least some portion of the inhabitants.

"I now turn to the despatch No. 157, dated the 25th May, 1889, to which allusion has already been made. It went even more fully into the question—

7. Turning now to the second and wider question raised by the memorialists, namely, that of local option, we are led by a careful consideration of the subject in all its bearings to the conviction that, under the circumstances which now exist, no such system could be successfully administered in any part of India. Any scheme of "local option" presupposes the existence of a highly-developed system of local or municipal institutions, to which representatives are elected by the mass of the people and in which all conflicting interests command their due share of attention. In the communities in which such institutions are to be found, the necessary control over the actions of the representatives is secured by the right of periodical appeal to the judgment of the people. In India there is no representation of this character: the electoral system, so far as it has been introduced, rests upon the narrow basis of a restricted franchise and large masses of the people and those the least able to make their voices heard are without representation of any kind. No effective check could, therefore, be placed upon the capricious exercise of the power of granting or refusing licenses if it were entrusted to Municipal Committees or Local Boards.

8. "The peculiar conditions of society are," to use the words of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, "such that it is altogether impossible to delegate to local bodies the power of dealing with the complex and difficult problems connected with Excise Administration. In the first place, it is not allowable for members of the Muhammadan community to openly countenance or tolerate in any way the consumption of spirituous liquors. The use of spirits is forbidden by the Koran, and the representatives of this community would undoubtedly, were it in their power, uniformly declare against the grant of licenses to sell alcoholic stimulants." And again, notwithstanding that many Hindu gentlemen are entirely free from all prejudice in the matter, the general feeling amongst them is adverse to the consumption of spirits, and they would in most instances join with the Muhammadans in negativing proposals to grant licenses. On the other hand, the lower classes who habitually resort to stimulants, and who seldom use them in immoderate or injurious quantities, but in many cases as an antidote to the climatic influences to which they are exposed, are entirely unrepresented upon Municipalities and District Boards, and would, were their supply of liquor removed, be undoubtedly forced to have resort to illicit distillation and consumption. We are led by these considerations to the conclusion that it is altogether chimerical to expect that the lower classes could, by the removal of liquor shops, be driven to habits of strict temperance; and that the Government would be guilty of a dereliction of duty if it were to permit the creation of the class tyranny that would inevitably result from the adoption of a system of local option.

9. We fear that the advocates of temperance in England who press for the adoption of this system of administering the liquor traffic are not well informed regarding the peculiar structure of Asiatic society in general and of Indian society in particular. To attain even a partial success, "local option" demands a certain homogeneity of character, tastes, and moral standards in the community into which it is introduced. In India this condition does not exist, society is not so much an aggregation of individuals as of classes, and, moreover, of classes whose habits, opinions, and views of right and wrong are widely divergent. On such elected bodies as exist there are no representatives of the great mass of the people, and if the licensing power, unaccompanied as it would be with any kind of responsibility, were entrusted to Municipal and District Boards, it seems very probable that it would be exercised without much forbearance or regard for the susceptibilities of those chiefly interested. It is idle to expect the difficult problem of the administration of the liquor traffic to be solved by the votes of representatives who are subject to these disabilities, and in our opinion no system of "local option" could be devised that would not, under the conditions that have to be dealt with, be doomed to failure.

10. Your Lordship is aware that even in countries where no violent differences of social habits and tastes exist, where representation is fully developed and political life most active, attempts to enforce abstinence under penalties have not been altogether successful or useful to the cause of morality; and we have little hesitation in coming to the conclusion that such attempts would be wholly unsuited to the existing conditions of this country, and that even if representative institutions were more completely developed than they are, it would be exceedingly unwise to make India a theatre for experiments of this nature. These grave difficulties which are not absent even in the most advanced cities of the Empire would be especially felt in the smaller municipalities and outlying districts.

11. But while fully convinced of the impracticability and impolicy of introducing, or attempting to introduce, now or within any measurable distance of time, into this country any general system of local option, we are of opinion that no genuine expression of public opinion should be ignored in deciding whether a liquor license shall be given or not, and particularly in determining the location of a shop. To enable us to place accurately before Your Lordship the facts regarding the extent to which deference is now paid to local public opinion, we called for information from Local Governments bearing upon this aspect of the case. A brief summary of this information is now given:—

18. In Bengal more specific instructions have been issued for the guidance of the responsible officers in such matters. They have been instructed, in the Circular quoted in paragraph 2 of the letter from the Government of Bengal, which forms one of the enclosures to this Despatch, to ascertain and to consider, though not necessarily in all cases to conform to, local opinion. Where municipalities exist the Board of Revenue has been specifically directed to see that the Commissioners shall always be consulted; and remonstrances made by local bodies against the selection of the site for shops are never disregarded without good reason. It is further particularly ordered that, save for special cause, no liquor shops shall be opened near market-places, schools, factories, and other places where they are likely to afford more than usual temptations to drink, or to offend public feeling.

"Those are extracts from the despatches of the Government of India. The Government of Bengal wrote very much to the same effect. In fact, their despatch to the Government of India, dated 19th February, 1889, when Sir Steuart Bayley was Lieutenant-Governor, was in the hands of the Government of India when the latter wrote the despatch from which I have just read. I do not think the Council will thank me for reading these despatches which are rather long. The Bengal Government's letter is as follows:—

14. Turning now to the second question raised in your letter, I am to say that the Lieutenant-Governor is convinced that it will not be possible to introduce into Bengal any such system of local option as has been advocated by the Associations who have presented memorials to the Secretary of State. The peculiar conditions of society in this country are such that it is altogether impossible to delegate to local bodies the power of dealing with the complex and difficult problems connected with Excise administration. In the first place, it is not allowable for members of the Muhammadan community to openly countenance or tolerate in any way the consumption of spirituous liquors. The use of spirits is forbidden by the Koran. As a matter of fact, Muhammadans in Bengal are, as a rule, very abstemious, and the upper classes, rarely, if ever, indulge in drinking. The representatives of this community would undoubtedly, if it were in their power to do so, declare absolutely for the prohibition of all alcoholic stimulants. It would be incumbent on them by the tenets of their religion to do so. A Muhammadan gentleman, although he may tolerate the consumption of spirits by others when he is not responsible for its repression, could not venture to rise in his place at a meeting of a Municipality or District Board and authorise the establishment of a liquor shop anywhere or under any restrictions. Similarly, in the case of Hindus, who are not restrained by any religious sentiment from dealing fairly with Excise questions, it is no less the fact that the upper classes of the community who, from the nature of the case, can alone find representation in local bodies, are equally precluded from openly countenancing the establishment of shops for the sale of liquor. Notwithstanding that many Hindu gentlemen are without prejudice in regard to spirit-drinking amongst themselves, and will occasionally indulge in private, it is a matter of notoriety that public opinion on the subject runs so strongly among them that one and all of them, including those who drink in private would object in the same manner as the Muhammadans would do to any proposal for licensing a spirit shop. The influence of public opinion operates almost as strongly within the Hindu community in this respect as does the direct teaching of the Koran upon a Muhammadan. If therefore power without responsibility is entrusted to local bodies, whether Municipalities or District Boards, consisting as such bodies must do of a large majority of Hindu and Muhammadan gentlemen, there can be no doubt but that the lower classes who are not represented, but who habitually use stimulants, would be driven to the consumption of illicit liquor, and the whole system of Excise administration would be thrown into confusion. This condition of things is not likely to be materially modified for many years.

15. It is necessary for the Government to guard against any such class tyranny as the introduction of local option in this country would infallibly create. There is a certain proportion of people in Bengal, fortunately a proportion much less than obtains in most other countries, but still considerable, who are accustomed to drinking, and whose craving for stimulants must be satisfied. "It is," as Mr. Money wrote in the Minute which has already been quoted in this letter, "mere foolishness to expect that a certain proportion of the people of this country will not continue to use stimulants, or that the Excise revenue will not increase. As the upper classes adopt more and more European habits, we must expect to see them take the bad with the good, and probably at first even more of the bad than of the good; while as the position of the lower classes improves, as agricultural produce yields a better price to the cultivator, and yearly the number increases of men, women and children who earn a livelihood, such as they never dreamt of, in mills and factories, there will be a larger consumption of everything the mass of the people care for. They will wear more clothes, they will eat more food, and they will drink more liquor. Any attempt to enforce sobriety in a country where illicit distillation is so easy and so difficult of detection would be a failure. All we can do is to limit ourselves to supplying the demand, and not to create it; to open no new shops except on proof that they are required to meet an existing want, and to act on an honest recognition of the truth that the Excise revenue is a very small matter in comparison with the comfort and well-being of the people." It is not the case, with the great bulk of the lower classes who habitually use stimulants that they drink only for the purpose of intoxicating themselves. The statement is frequently made, but it is not more true than it would be if applied to similar classes in England. If, however, this were the case, it would still be impossible to enforce sobriety by the prohibition of drinking, and were it possible, the risk must always be great that those who are used to drink would be driven from the comparatively innocuous spirit of the country to the consumption of more injurious drugs. It is mainly for the protection of the labouring classes who are accustomed to some stimulant that is incumbent on the Government to retain its authority over the liquor traffic, and while regulating consumption by every means within its power, not to deny altogether to the unrepresented masses the opportunity of satisfying their reasonable craving. It cannot be expected that local bodies would be in any degree representative of the classes who are affected by local Excise measures. To entrust the Excise administration of the country to their hands would lead to class intolerance and class restrictions, which can only be obviated by the direct and independent action of Government.

16. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that a proper deference should be paid to expressions of local opinion in questions connected with the liquor traffic as well as in other matters. It is the duty of the Government to ascertain the sentiment and desire of the community amongst whom liquor shops are introduced to comply with it whenever possible and not to overrule it except under circumstances where such a procedure can easily be justified. The expression of opinion of Municipalities and District Boards, especially in regard to details, such as the choice of sites and the like, will often be a valuable exponent of public feeling to which due attention should always be paid. Such local sentiment is entitled to consideration, and it will be found that various orders have, from time to time, been issued by this Government and the Board of Revenue in which the observance of this policy is enjoined. It has been directed that the sites of shops should not be chosen near to market-places, bathing ghats and places of public resort, schools, hospitals, places of worship, factories, the interior of villages, the sides of roads leading to bathing ghats or places of water-supply, and in some districts along main roads or in villages inhabited by aborigines of known drinking habits. The existence of a nuisance by reason of the establishment of shops is not tolerated, and every possible concession to public opinion is accorded in such matters. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, cannot admit that, under the existing conditions of these Provinces, there is any justification for going further than this, or for introducing in any shape a system of local option among local bodies, and for entrusting them with the power to prevent the sale of liquors.

"I say that in the face of these expressions of opinion on the part of the Government of India, only 14 years ago, since which time I say, with all due deference to the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, the circumstances have not changed to any material degree, it would be perfectly useless to address the Government of India and ask them to agree to any system involving 'local option.' I say, subject of course to the greater knowledge of the law possessed by the Hon'ble Member, that I believe it is a fact that since the year 1890 no great law dealing with either local self-government or municipal administration has been passed either by this Council or by the Government of India, with the exception of the Calcutta Act which we debated in this room for 12 days in September, 1889. Therefore the circumstances, I maintain, remain very much the same. I do not think that it can be said with any show of reason—certainly no arguments or facts of any sort have been advanced—that the character of the people has in any way changed during this number of years.

"I have read extracts from the Indian public documents on the subject of local option. It may be said that local option is a subject which has been much discussed in England and is in force in other countries in Europe. I believe it is a fact that Sweden and Norway are the only countries in which local option is enforced. I do not see why living in Bengal we should go to Sweden and Norway for an example to imitate or follow. It is quite good enough for us, if we, at any rate, advert to the latest dictum on the subject in England.

"Some Members of the Council may be aware of the Report of the Royal Commission on the Liquor Licensing Laws which sat under the orders of Parliament in 1896 to 1899 and presented the report which I hold in my hands to the Houses of Parliament. That Commission sat under the presidency of Lord Peel, late Speaker of the House of Commons. It very soon, as I understand, showed that there were two parties in that Commission, and it was impossible for them to agree. They presented what is called a Majority Report and what is called a Minority Report. Both dealt with local option. The majority reported:—'We are not satisfied that there is at the present time a general desire for the power of local prohibition by plebiscite, and we do not advise the adoption of any of the plans for this purpose which have been submitted to us.' Of course total prohibition is one thing and local option is another, but when they said 'any of the plans for this purpose' they obviously included local option. Those are the relevant words of the majority's report. I will now turn to the minority's report. They were naturally anxious to do something for the introduction of local option. They went into the subject of what is called 'popular control' at very considerable length, gave a history of the proposal of 'local veto' and set out in a page and-a-half the arguments in favour of local veto and then the arguments against it. They summed up as follows:—'In sparsely inhabited districts local prohibition could probably be enforced without much difficulty, but in towns, even where a strong public opinion existed, violation of the law might take place with injurious consequences. We have no evidence before us that public opinion in England, whatever it may be in Scotland and Wales, is at all strong enough to justify such a measure. We must recognise the fact that most people still regard alcoholic liquor as an ordinary article of diet, which is only harmful if taken in excess. It would be rash to predict the course of public opinion during the next decade, but since in any case local veto could not be tried until the seven years to be allowed for reduction had expired, it might be well to postpone any decision as to its adoption or otherwise until that period of transition has expired.' That was all they had to say in favour of local option. If that is the last word that has been said by an authoritative body on a subject of such great importance—said in England where there are not so many interests of classes and races likely to break out and give considerable trouble to the administration as there are here—if that is the dictum in England, where drunkenness, I regret to say, has assumed much more alarming proportions than it has in India, I think we may safely say that the time has not yet come when local option should be introduced into India.

"I should be immensely surprised—indeed I cannot conceive it possible—that the Government of India should go back from their fully-reasoned decision of 1890 and allow the Government of Bengal to pass an Act which would allow local option to be introduced in District Boards and Municipalities and made the sport of every section of the community—a constantly recurring source of dissension in every body of Municipal Commissioners or District authorities,—one that, I am sure, will do more harm than good to the people. Therefore I say that this motion would be infructuous and it would be harmful if carried. It would be infructuous because we should be merely wasting our time in re-considering this matter in Select Committee, because the Government of India will be perfectly certain to veto such a Bill, and harmful, because it would undo all the good which has been gained by the years of labour spent in the improvement of the Excise law and the reports of many officers and of the Government of Bengal as well as of the Board of Revenue. It would waste all the time spent on it in Select Committee; all that has been done would go for nothing. Therefore, I entirely oppose the Hon'ble Member's motion which is before us.

"I will now, with your permission, proceed to take up some of the points which the Hon'ble Member has dealt with in more or less detail. He asked why we should not put into the law in sub-clause (b) the prohibition of the sale of liquor to women and children? The Select Committee expressed their willingness to recommend that power should be given to the Board to frame rules for the prohibition of the sale of liquor to children under the age of 14. One good reason why we could not legislate on the subject without reference to the Government of India is, that we have the express orders of the Government of India not to do so. That is contained in the Despatch of the Government of India of last autumn. But there is another very good reason why we should not introduce this into the Bill, namely, because we can do all we require without it. We have only got to put the same point into a rule under the Bill, under clause 43 (2), and it will be just as effective as in the law. The great objection to putting it in the law is, that it would then apply to the whole of the country. Now there are many parts of the country where women and possibly children are accustomed to buy liquor, and if that power of buying liquor was suddenly taken away from women and children, in districts, say, inhabited by Sonthals and other aborigines, I think I am not pressing the point too far when I say that you might have a rebellion. At any rate the Board can, with the greatest ease, when this Bill is passed, pass a rule that no liquor should be sold to women or children under 14. That would be just as effective as having it in the law, and what is more we can alter it. It is important that there should be power in the hands of the Board to alter rules which are found to be working unsatisfactorily. If you wish to put a principle into law you cannot alter it without the introduction of a Bill and a debate which may extend over the whole field of Excise administration.

"The next point to which the Advocate-General drew attention, though I do not think he said very much about it, was that adequate and reasonable provision should be made therein so as to prevent the spread of drunkenness in Bengal. That is a counsel of perfection with which we all agree, and if any Hon'ble Member can show us in any concrete form or shape that we can adopt any reasonable suggestion to prevent drunkenness, for my own part, I should be quite willing to adopt it. We have in Select Committee in several instances inserted clauses, sub-clauses, forms of words, with a view to checking drunkenness as far as we could. We have even gone so far as Assam to draw from the rules obtaining there certain new clauses with regard to the prevention of drunkenness which have been introduced in this Bill. But there is no object whatever in making our statute law a receptacle of moral principles, or introducing into it expressions or sections laying down principles of Excise administration. What we want in a law is practical language for doing practical things. What I have said just now I venture to repeat, that in the law as now framed and the Bill which I hope will be passed into an Act ere long, we have a skeleton law under which it will be possible to make such regulations and rules as may be necessary to enforce the principles laid down by the Government of India.

"The Hon'ble Member has made some remarks, sometimes flattering, sometimes not so flattering, about the Board of Revenue. I am not here to defend the Board of Revenue, but I wish to correct the Hon'ble Member in one remark at least. He appears to think that, because under the law as it at present stands, and under the Bill as drafted, rule-making powers are invested in the Board, therefore the Board can do as they like and make any rules without the cognizance of any authority. I can assure the Hon'ble Member that he is entirely and absolutely mistaken. in the view that he holds. The Board, being under the control of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor—probably for very many years past, I have known it for more than 20 years—have been unable to pass any rules of any importance without the authority of the Government of Bengal. And when such rules as may be drafted by the Board for submission to the Government deal with legal points, the legal advisers of Government are consulted before those rules are passed or given legal effect. There is no reason whatsoever to apprehend that the Board of Revenue either as constituted at present or in the future, will one fine day start off on a rule-making excursion without the authority of the Government for every rule they issue in any important matter.

"Then the Hon'ble Member, as I understood him, declared that this power, which is now given to the Board under the law and which they exercise in a certain way, should be taken out of their hands to a great extent by putting in another authority whom they must consult and defer to. It is within the knowledge of the Council—it is fully stated in the papers to which I have referred—that shops are not opened at any new sites without the public being consulted by a notification being issued at certain places expressing the intention of the Excise authorities to open a new shop. I will not trouble the Council by reading to them the rules which are to be found on page 77 of the Excise Manual as regards the districts, and with regard to Calcutta on page 80 of the same Manual. I will say briefly, that information is given to the public whenever a new shop is to be opened. I am perfectly aware that it has been said, and will be said, that nobody wants to go to a police-station to look for a notification in regard to a liquor shop. That may be so. I have no doubt in my own mind that these rules with regard to Calcutta are the survival of the old system which obtained when the Commissioner of Police and the Chairman of the Corporation were the same person. I think it is quite probable that the gentleman who was then responsible for Calcutta, both as Commissioner of Police and Chairman of the Corporation, knew in one capacity or another what was going on through the town. But when the Chairmanship of the Corporation was separated from the Chairmanship of the Police, the duty of being consulted with reference to the sites of new liquor shops remained with the Police but was taken away from the Chairman of the Corporation. It was not taken away by express enactment but departed from him owing to the new constitution. I have not the faintest objection in the world to my Hon'ble friend, the Chairman of the Corporation, being consulted before a new shop is opened. My only regret is for him, I am afraid he will know very little about it. I believe I have some knowledge of the work which is performed week in and week out by the Hon'ble Member, the Chairman of the Corporation. As far as I know, he has nothing whatever to do with the Excise administration of Calcutta and will be entirely at sea in the matter. But when all is said and done, and you consult as many people as you like, the public will never be satisfied unless they get the power in their hands, and that is the point at which I must join issue with the Hon'ble Member. Consult whom you like, consult the residents in the street, the members of the Corporation for the wards affected, consult the police, and take everybody's opinion, but the decision must rest with somebody, and must rest with the Board of Revenue as at present constituted under the law, and if any strong body of petitioners object to the decision of the Board of Revenue it is always open to them to appeal to the Government of Bengal.

"Similarly, in the mufassal the rule now provides for Municipal Commissioners being consulted by the local officers. I have before me a statement which shows that no reports have come up, for many years past, from the local officers to the authorities of Calcutta, of any disputes in regard to the opening of any site for shops in the mufassal towns. They have managed to settle their own affairs for themselves, and I cannot conceive it possible that any Government should make over to the Municipal Commissioners, or any Local Boards, the power to reduce the number of shops or increase them at their own sweet will, or to overrule, by any majority of two-thirds or one-half or whatever number they like, the final decision of the local officers. I do not understand myself how the district administration can go on if such a principle is allowed.

"Then I think we have had also some remarks from the Hon'ble Member to the effect that the number of shops are considerably in excess of the requirements. It seemed to me as I listened to what he was saying, that he was begging the whole question. What is the standard of requirements? Who has laid down any definite standard of requirements? Surely the most obvious standard is that there is a demand, and the demand requires the supply of a certain number of shops. If those shops are not opened, the demand will not be met. That these shops are pecuniarily successful is evidenced by the considerable competition shown for them when the licenses are sold, in Calcutta every three years, and in the mufassal every year. Now the Hon'ble Member, I understand, says there are too many shops in Calcutta. Has he any idea how many shops there are? Has anybody in this room besides my Hon'ble friend, the Excise Commissioner, any idea how many shops there are in Calcutta, or how many there have been during the last ten years? I have before me a statement which shows that 14 years ago, in 1890, there were 135 shops, and in 1902, or 1903, there were allowed 137 shops, two of which were not opened. Therefore, within the last 14 years, the number of country liquor shops has not altered. Now with regard to the mufassal, I have before me another statement which shows that in 1881, which was just before the Excise Commission sat, which was presided over by the late Sir John Edgar, there were as many as 6,284 licenses for country spirit shops. Twenty years after that number had been reduced by 3 000, from 6,284 to 3,286. I do not know whether I am surprising the Council with these figures, but I think they are probably new to many of the Members.

"I will now turn to what we have heard about the increase of drunkenness. Are the Council aware of the number of shops in any of the big towns in the mufassal during the last few years? Here are some figures. In Burdwan, for the last 10 years, the number of country spirit shops has stood at 5; in Midnapore at 6, in Dacca at 8, in Gaya, which is a very thirsty country, at 18, and in Mymensingh at 8. In Chinsurah the number has been reduced from 12 to 5. In Patna it has been reduced from 32 to 30. Could Municipal Authorities or Local Boards have managed better or could they have done any better than that? What I do maintain, with regard to this question of reduction of shops or alterations of sites, is that the people have only got to make a reasonable representation to district officers, or to the Excise authorities in Calcutta, and they will receive all reasonable attention. But I entirely demur with the idea that the people in a matter of this sort should dictate to the Excise Authorities or any other authorities in this country. The Hon'ble Member referred to an agitation with regard to a shop at Talla. It was well-known that that agitation was brought about by a gentleman who was disappointed in getting a license. That is the kind of agitation which is to be met with throughout the country. When an applicant for a license is disappointed, he immediately stirs up a faction and thus the whole country may be divided into sides and there may be serious difficulties.

"The Hon'ble Member also referred to such smaller matters as the allegation that the back-doors of the liquor shops in certain parts of the town are open at all hours of the night, avowedly, I understood him to argue, for the contraband or improper sale of liquor. He may rest assured that under the orders of the Excise authorities the back-doors and the sides of shops have been closed up, and this fact is perfectly well-known to anybody who inquires about it.

"He also alluded to some figures brought before the Committee about the number of children seen buying liquor at some of the shops. Now, these statements have been examined. I forget the exact number of children, but the statistics were taken for 28 hours, spreading over 11 days, and it works out to this, that there was practically one child who attended each shop. What these children went there for, cannot be said. They might have gone there for a proper purpose or to take a message, but we cannot say. If our rule is enforced that no child is to be allowed to purchase liquor at any shop, there is no reason why the number of children, who visit these shops, should not disappear altogether.

"Then I think I heard the Hon'ble Member say that people wanted to know the law. That is a very good reason and it is the main reason why we are passing this Excise Bill into law, so as to make the law more easily knowable to anybody who wishes to ascertain it. But there is no difficulty now-a-days in the way of anybody who wants to know not only the law but the practice in the Excise Department, investing in the Excise Manual, of two volumes, sold at the ridiculously small charge of Re. 1-4. The point that I have to complain of is that temperance reformers, and people who with the very best intentions have addressed us, entirely fail to get up their subject before they trouble the Council, the Member in charge, and the Government, with their well-meant advice. What we try to do in the Excise Department, of which I am temporarily at the head, is to do what is practical, not to attempt anything that is theoretical, merely because it is put forward by some well-intentioned people as a good thing to be done.

"Not many months ago the Barmaids' Act was passed in this room. The matter was made over to the Board of Revenue, and I have reason for believing that the orders passed by the Board of Revenue in cases under the Act—which were never before the Government I am willing to admit—have given satisfaction to the public.

"It has often been said that the Board of Revenue look to the revenue and do not care what else happens. There never was a more malicious statement. Ere now revenue has been sacrificed when it was seen that good would come from the sacrifice. What the Board of Revenue naturally object to is, adopting a series of suggestions of well-intentioned persons without being sure that some good would result. The theory of our Excise administration is to make all exciseable articles as dear as possible and by that means to keep down consumption, keep down drunkenness, and prevent the demoralisation of the people, by making it more difficult for them to get the exciseable articles which may do them harm.

"Now it may be said, what have we done in this direction? I have already mentioned how the number of country spirit shops has been reduced in 20 years from 6,284 to 3,286. I will also inform the Council that during the last period of years the liquor has been made more dear in all sadar distillery shops in a very great degree. The rate of duty has not been much raised, but we have another way of doing it, and that is by raising the license fees. Figures show that 20 years ago and more, in 1880-81, the incidence of the taxes from license fees on each gallon of sadar distillery liquor was Re. 1-6 in those years. Last year the incidence of the revenue from license fees on each gallon of sadar distillery liquor was Rs. 2. The increase in 20 years has been from Re. 1-6 per gallon to Rs. 2 per gallon. That has not been by any means an easy thing to attain. It has only been done by better administration, by the department insisting upon the license vendors paying greater fees for their shops, and so far, as the liquor is dearer, the system works automatically, keeping down the amount of consumption.

"And not only in regard to sadar distillery liquor has this successful policy been adopted, but also in regard to the ganja revenue which has increased enormously. I can go back to 40 years. Forty years ago the average revenue per maund of ganja was Rs. 106, now it is over Rs. 660. At the same time the consumption of ganja has been reduced from 8,500 maunds to under 4,700 maunds. That is a concrete instance of the way in which the Excise Department works by making exciseable articles dearer to keep down consumption.

But then, says the Hon'ble Member, the outstill system is in force, and the outstill system admits of the manufacture of liquor without any restriction. I think he quoted from the Minute of Dissent of the Hon'ble Members who have dissented from the Select Committee's Report. But however that may be, there are good points about the outstill system. The whole of Bengal is unsuited for the central distillery system. The difficulties which make it impossible to introduce the central distillery system are briefly as follows:—

(1) the expense relatively to the amount of revenue to be collected;
(2) impossibility of securing a trustworthy preventive establishment;
(3) defective means of communication;
(4) facilities for illicit distillation;
(5) deterioration of liquor in transport, and

"These difficulties are largely obviated when an outstill system is adopted. I will not quote its advantages to you at length, as I am afraid I have already trespassed too long on the indulgence of the Council, but they are distinctly set forth in that Despatch which I presume the Hon'ble Member has studied with the same care with which he always studies his briefs—the despatch of the Government of India to the Secretary of State, paragraph 83—in which the advantages of the outstill system are set forth. Nobody is enamoured of the outstill system The outstill system has been adopted as an alternative system which cannot be avoided owing to the nature of the country. The outstill system has been adopted in Bengal because practically it is impossible to adopt the central distillery system throughout. There is one great and admitted defect in the outstill system and that is that we cannot tell the amount of consumption accurately. But having admitted so much, I will go on to say that the outturn of the outstills cannot be unlimited, because the capacity of the still itself is limited, so that practically not more than a certain amount can be brewed at any given outstill, and our Excise authorities are aware of all the facts and have their register with regard to every outstill, so that practically the outturn of these outstills is by no means unlimited. There is also this great advantage in the outstill system, that it is the best known preventive to keep down the illicit distillation which would otherwise overrun the whole country. We do not wish to have an army of Excise sub-inspectors and similar people, who are very much like the Police in other respects except that they have no police powers. We do not wish to harass the people in out-lying or other places. It is much better that a small local monopoly should be sold to the outstill-holder to be exercised over a limited area in which he himself has to act as a detective over illicit practices of his neighbours. That is how the outstill system works. If anybody can invent an outstill system better than the present one, so long as I am on the Board, he is quite welcome to propose it. Nobody has yet invented a better system and therefore we are compelled to use the existing one.

"I do not think that there are any other points which the Hon'ble Member has mentioned to which I need revert, nor need I recapitulate what I have said already at sufficient length. But I will repeat briefly that I regard his motion as quite unnecessary, as undesirable and not only as infructuous, but as likely to be harmful. Therefore I ask the Council to reject it."

The Hon'ble DR. ASUTOSH MUKHOPADHYAYA said:—"Sir, when I came into the Council Chamber this morning I had no intention of addressing my Hon'ble Colleagues upon the motion which stands in the name of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, because I had no desire to interpose any feeble remarks of mine, which might in any way diminish the effect of the weighty and eloquent words of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General. But the debate has taken what is to me a somewhat unexpected turn, and I do not desire to record a silent vote upon this motion. I do not desire to conceal the fact that when I read the Report of the majority of the Select Committee, it was with feelings of pain and astonishment. This is strong language, but I use it deliberately, because these are precisely the words which accurately express my feelings.

"Representations have been received from men and women of unquestionable repute asking the Government to interfere for the prevention of drunkenness; and what is the answer which the Select Committee gives? The Hon'ble the Advocate-General has been good enough to read out paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Report, and I will read paragraphs 10 and 11. They are as follows:—

10. Sale of exciseable articles to children.—Suggestions have been received from several quarters to the effect that a clause should be inserted in the Bill for prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors or drugs to children. We do not consider it expedient that any general prohibition of this kind should be inserted in the Bill. The Board of Revenue has power, however, under clause 42 (iii), to prescribe the insertion in licenses of conditions as to "the persons or classes of persons to whom a licensee may, or may not, sell exciseable articles;" and we desire to recommend that the Board should consider the expediency of framing a rule, under this power, for prohibiting, wherever expedient, the sale of exciseable articles to children under the age of 14.

11. Sale of excisable articles to women.—Suggestions have also been received for the prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquor to women. This matter can, if necessary, be dealt with under clause 42 (iii) of the Bill, and sales to women are to some extent regulated by clause 71 also; and we do not consider it expedient to insert in the Bill any further provisions on this subject.

"I say, Sir, without hesitation that this is not good business: it is not good for the public, it is not creditable to the Government. I adhere to the opinion that the time has come when the Government should honestly face the problem which lies before it, and make an earnest endeavour not for the purpose of increasing the Excise-revenue, but for the purpose of preventing drunkenness. I say this without the slightest hesitation. Are we agreed as to the principles which are to regulate this measure? If so, let them be embodied in the Statute Book; and if they are not, let them be discussed in this Council. What are the principles for which the Hon'ble the Advocate-General has contended? He says, in the first place, that the principles of the policy of the Government of India enunciated in paragraphs 103 and 104 of the despatch of the 4th February, 1889, should be given effect to.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge asked us to read this Despatch with all the care that we read our briefs. I have done so, and let us see what the principles are: the principles are that the number and places at which intoxicating liquors and drugs are sold should be strictly limited to the circumstances of the locality, and that efforts should be made to ascertain local opinion and that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such opinion when ascertained. These are the principles that the Hon'ble the Advocate-General says should be embodied in the Statute Book.

"In answer the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill says that the doctrine of local option is condemned in paragraph 98 of the despatch of the Government of India, and ought not to be put into the Statute Book. That answer is, I submit, wholly irrelevant. The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill has created a fiction of his own and has completely destroyed it. If the Hon'ble the Advocate-General had suggested that we should in any way contravene the principles laid down in paragraph 98 of the Despatch, the question might have been raised whether it was wise for us to do so. But he has not done anything of the kind. Practically the whole difference between the Hon'ble the Advocate-General and the Government lies in this: the Hon'ble the Advocate-General says that these are the principles which the Government of India accepted 14 years ago, and demands that they should be put into the Statute Book. The Government says: 'No; let them lie buried in the Gazette of India of the 1st March, 1890.'

"I venture to point out that what has taken place in this Council proves conclusively the necessity of incorporating these principles in the Statute Book; unless they find a place in it, they are a little liable to be misunderstood; on the other hand, if they receive legislative sanction, they become clearly formulated, easily ascertainable, and little liable to capricious alteration. It is no reflection on the Members of the Board of Revenue to be told that the Legislature desires to place in the Act the principles which ought to underlie the rules which are to be framed by them. If a suggestion like this had been made in England, that the principles which ought to regulate the sale of liquor in England should be left to be determined by the Commissioners of Inland Revenue or by the Licensing Justices in England, it would be met with deserved ridicule; but in this country, the suggestion is not only seriously made, but even defended in Council. I submit that this principle should be put into the Statute Book as well as the principle that intoxicating liquors and drugs should not be sold to women and children under the age of 14.

"I do not know whether the Hon'ble Member is aware that so late as 1901 an English Statute was passed which provides for the restriction, or rather the prevention, of the sale of intoxicating liquors to children. Perhaps it may be said that if the British Parliament passed such a law in 1901, why should we not wait for another ten years; but if we look at the history of the matter, we shall find that it was provided for in 1872 and again in 1886 when the Parliament enacted Statutes for the purpose of regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors to children. The first of these Statutes fixed the age at 16 and the second limits the age at 14. Both these provisions apply not to sales, but to consumption on the premises only. The present enactment fixes the age at 14, and applies to sales of intoxicating liquors, whether consumed on the premises or elsewhere. It also creates a double offence; for whereas under the earlier Statutes, the license-holder was only liable, now the person who sells is also liable to conviction and is subject to like penalties. I would like to know, Sir, why children in England should be protected, and why our children should be left free to be ensnared and entrapped.

"Then, so far as women are concerned, my Hon'ble friend went on to say sententiously that you have here among you women who must be allowed to purchase liquor, and that this must be tolerated. This is an unfortunate doctrine. When people are clamouring for prevention of drunkenness, the answer given is—'Some of you are so bad that you ought to be left alone, and not only that, but that you ought to be encouraged in the drunkenness which you pursue.' Is this a doctrine, Sir, which ought to be seriously advanced anywhere, least of all in this Council?

"The third principle for which the Hon'ble the Advocate-General has contended is, that adequate provision should be made in the Act so as to prevent as much as possible the spread of drunkenness in Bengal. The answer of the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill is, that the Statute Book is not the best receptacle for moral provisions. Who said it was? Has my Hon'ble friend heard that so late as 1902 the British Parliament passed an Act which is known as the Licensing Act of 1902, the avowed object of which is to prevent drunkenness? If anybody will take the trouble to go through the provisions of this Act of 1902, he will find that it would be desirable to have provisions in our Act on similar lines. I should like to know why a serious effort should not be made in this behalf. I therefore support the motion of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General, and I say without hesitation, that it is necessary and desirable to send the matter back to the Select Committee, and I hope it will lead to excellent results."

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU said:— "I rise to support the motion of my Hon'ble friend the Advocate-General. I must say that I was surprised at finding that the motion was opposed in this Council, and the reason of my surprise is this, that when we began our labours in the Select Committee, in which I had the honour of sitting, on the first day, we discussed informally the question of principles raised in the various petitions sent in to the Government. It was thought that that discussion would take a long time, and that it would be better if the details of the Bill were first disposed of and when all these details were disposed of, we should consider the questions of principle, the foremost questions of principle being the subjects of local option and local veto, and the subjects connected with them. My Hon'ble friend, Maulvi Seraj-ul-Islam, Khan Bahadur, and myself agreed to that suggestion as tending to expedite the business of the Select Committee.

"We sat, I believe, for about four days and discussed the technical portions of the Bill and other small and minor matters. When these were disposed of, we asked that the questions of principle should then be considered. I, for one, as a Member of the Select Committee, was prepared to submit certain proposals which would not be so revolutionary as the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill seems to think. But he said that these were proposals which had already been vetoed by the Government of India, and that it would be an useless waste of time to consider them in the Select Committee, and that if we had any resolutions to move on the subject, we had better do so in the Council, and that it would be an useless waste of our time in the Select Committee. It may seem to my Hon'ble friend a mere waste of time to devote our energies to this question, but I venture to submit that our time has also its value, which to us relatively is very great, and that we devote our attention to these matters not for the purpose of mere agitation, but because we owe it to ourselves and because we feel that there is a duty cast upon us, and we should be wanting in our sense of duty if we did not try to discharge it to the best of our ability.

"I submit that the question as to how and to what extent the opinion of the public may be taken and given effect to with regard to opening shops was not considered by the Select Committee. I had the honour of having sent in several amendments upon that question. I venture to submit that it would be inexpedient and inconvenient that these matters of detail should be discussed in this Council. On that ground, Sir, I would ask this Council to refer the matter back to the Select Committee for further consideration.

"When we tried to raise the question of principle in the Select Committee, we were told that the Bill was simply to consolidate the existing legislation on the Excise system in Bengal, and that it would be no part of our duty to consider the question of principle or policy apart from what was already in force. This is another matter which has not been sufficiently considered in the Select Committee. Several important matters, which have practically been conceded, have not been incorporated in the Bill, but have been left to be dealt with by rules to be framed by the Board of Revenue. I for one take a strong objection to the Board of Revenue being invested with almost absolute powers with regard to the making of rules on the subject of the Excise Administration of this Province. There is no doubt that the Board of Revenue is an excellent institution, but the proceedings of the Board of Revenue have not got that amount of publicity which it is desirable that they should have.

"We insisted upon, or tried to insist upon, the provisions to restrict the sale of liquor to women and children being inserted in the law itself, because the law would be easily accessible to the public who would be able to know what the provisions of the law were, because they would be incorporated in the law itself. The Select Committee was practically unanimous in recommending to the Board the prohibition of the sale of liquor to children under 14, but the Hon'ble Member in charge wished this provision to be inserted as a rule of the Board in the Excise Manual, which, we were told, was a very inexpensive publication, and that the public might get it for a nominal price. But the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill forgets that many people outside the Board of Revenue did not know of the existence of the Excise Manual, and that the people in the mufassal interested in the drink question know nothing about the publication, or that it can be easily obtained at a small price at the Printing Office of the Government of Bengal, whereas if this was put into the Bill itself, it would be easily and readily accessible to the public.

"But apart from these matters, on the question of principle that has been raised to-day I wish to say one or two words. My Hon'ble friend the Advocate-General is in error when he says that the outstill system does not prevail in Bengal proper. If he will refer to the excellent map annexed to the Report of the Excise Department, he will find that the outstill system prevails in a large part of Bengal proper. There has been no attempt on the part of the Board of Revenue to determine the quantity of liquor that these outstills turn out. In vain it is that one would look for it in the Reports of Administration of the Excise Department year after year for any indication as to the quantity of gallons of outstill liquor manufactured and consumed. There is nothing anywhere to give any indication of this; at the same time the enormous growth of revenue tends to show that there must be a very large consumption of outstill liquor produced.

"As regards the sale to children, it was thought that there might be cases in which it would be desirable that liquor should be sold to children. The Hon'ble Mr. Haro said that when a labourer working in the field felt disposed to drink and he could not spare the time to go himself to the liquor shop, he might send a little boy to fetch the liquor for him and it would be hard to the labourer to deny him this privilege. Fortunately, our agriculturists are not in that state that they want liquor when they are working in the field. But even if that was so, the agriculturist labourer should not be allowed to send a little child to the liquor shop to fetch liquor for him.

"It has been said that we are not prepared to legislate for the moral improvement of the people. I join issue with my Hon'ble friend who made this statement. The Government of this country has frequently legislated for the moral welfare of the people. It is now many years since that the suttee was abolished: some of our countrymen at that time protested. But the Government made a firm stand and said: 'If we have abolished the suttee, we have done so in the cause of humanity.' To remove drunkenness would also be in the cause of humanity. In abolishing the suttee the Government said that they were not prepared to countenance the murder of women in the name of religion. I for one think it is no less the duty of the Government to sit idly and see a large number of its subjects actually die a moral and physical death from drunkenness.

"My friend, the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, has said that we are agitators and faddists, and that we forget that the prices of the exciseable articles have increased considerably since 40 years ago, and that the ganja has risen sixfold in value. I may take the liberty to inform him that rice which is looked upon as a necessity for life in this Province and is the staple food, has also risen sixfold in value since 40 years ago. The purchasing power of the people may have increased and many things may have led to the rise in value. Is the Hon'ble Member prepared to say that the consumption has decreased or that the revenue has decreased from the amount which stood 40 years ago?

"I have taken some trouble in collecting the figures regarding the revenue on the principal exciseable articles, and they are as follows:—

	1883-84.		1893-94.		1902-03.
	Quantity.	Fees and duty.	Quantity.	Fees and duty.	Quantity.	Fees and duty.
	Gallons.	Rs.	Gallons.	Rs.	Gallons.	Rs.
Country spirits ...	355,279	13,74,755	416,857	24,45,174	652,009	34,53,138
Outstill liquor ...	.....	38,47,976	.....	28,07,724	.....	35,63,589
Tari ...	.....	6,63,693	.....	8,73,863	.....	10,50,229
Pachwai ...	... ..	1,83,054	.....	2,71,763	.....	5,40,769
Ganja ...	.. ...	10,73,713	... ..	23,19,971	.....	32,62,160
Opium ...	.....	19,05,481	.....	20,33,784	.....	26,52,154

The total revenue from all sources stood at Rs. 1,04,23,171 in 1883-84. It rose to Rs. 1,21,00,000 in 1893-94, and in 1902-1903, it was Rs. 1,57,87,729.

"In the figures that I and my Hon'ble friend, Maulvi Seraj-ul-Islam, Khan Bahadur, put in our Note of Dissent, I am told that some errors crept into the accounts that we gave for the outstills. We took these figures from the Excise Administration Reports which are not very clear in many places, because the forms are changed from time to time and it is possible that there may be some error in the figures that are there, but I have taken particular care in regard to the figures which I have just given to the Council. I have tried to verify them, and I venture to believe that they are correct.

"I am aware that any outside control in the administration is not to the liking of many of our rulers, and that local opinion and local bodies do not find favour. They are all right when they support the authorities, but are interested, artificial and manufactured to orders when they venture to disagree, and I can understand the natural desire of those concerned in the Excise administration of the Province not to submit to local opinion. But the suggestions I was prepared to put forward in the Select Committee and which I shall bring forward in this Council when the occasion may arise, are so moderate that some of them I am sure will be unobjectionable.

"The Hon'ble Member has told us that all that we want is to be found in a rule in the Excise Manual. I will ask him, does he mean to refer to that rule in all seriousness in answer to our objections? Our objections apply not only to new sites, but also to existing sites. Many years ago the Excise Commission made certain recommendations, and following that Commission, the Government of Bengal and the Government of India have laid down in plain, definite and distinct terms that the liquor shops should not be allowed in certain places. If any one of the Hon'ble Members will condescend to go with me to the northern part of the town, I will show them that shops exist in sites which have been condemned by the Excise Commission, but the Board of Revenue have done nothing. It only calls for local opinion when a new site has to be sanctioned. But we go further, and say that many old sites are objectionable, and what has the Board of Revenue done for them? They say that they have got rules dealing with the subject.

"Let us see what the rule is for Calcutta. It is quoted in the Report of the Select Committee, and it refers to new sites; the rule provides that a reference is to be made to the Commissioner of Police. The rule was evidently framed for Police purposes, but the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill says that when that rule was framed, the Commissioner of Police and the Chairman of the Corporation were one and the same individual. It is many years ago since these two offices were separated, and what has the Board done since then? They sit in a house which is one of the oldest and darkest in Calcutta, and they frame their rules in darkness, and no body knows what they do. I challenge the Hon'ble Member to show anywhere in the Excise Manual any provision for consulting any one in Calcutta.

"With regard to an old site. This is the premier city in India and the second city in the British Empire, but local opinion here is not consulted even on the opening of a new shop. You have a show of consulting local opinion when you are opening new shops in the mufassal, but I say it is only a show, because the final decision rests with the local officers, the Superintendent of Excise, and ultimately with the Board of Revenue. But even that show is wanting here in Calcutta. The matter is referred to the Commissioner of Police. Does anybody in this Council by any stretch of imagination contend that the Commissioner of Police represents the public? But though the public is not consulted, a notice intimating the opening of a new shop is hung up on the notice-board of the local thana and the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill expects people to go to the thana to see what notices are hung up there. I think we ought to know that respectable people in Calcutta and elsewhere try to avoid the thana as much as possible, and even when they do go to the thana when misfortune takes them there, would they be in a position or frame of mind to see what notice was hung up on the notice-board?

"But what about the old sites? As I have said already, in the mufassal the Municipal Commissioners are referred to, but in the departmentalized Corporation of Calcutta they are not deemed worthy of such a reference. The Excise Commission recommended that liquor shops should not be allowed near bazars and schools. If any of the high authorities in the Excise Department would accept my offer and would not think it derogatory to accompany me, I can show them shops near bazars and market-places, and just near schools and places of worship, and in the very heart of broad thoroughfares, I shall show them what goes on in these shops. And I can assure them that they will not find it an edifying spectacle. Liquor is sold at all hours of the night, and people know that they can always obtain it What has the Board of Revenue being doing all these years? Did not complaints come to their notice? What were the actual steps that they took to repress such a state of things? Therefore I do not think that the Board of Revenue can blame us if we decline to surrender ourselves absolutely to their judgment. As I said in the Select Committee, the Board of Revenue are a board of revenue and are not a board of morals. They might have charge over minors and lunatics and people of weak mind; but I do not think there is any law which empowers them to have charge of the morals of the public.

"I submit that it will be inconvenient to discuss in this Council any detail of the various proposals that we, as representatives of a small section of the public it may be, have to bring forward with regard to the opening of shops in their midst. We venture to hope that if these proposals are considered in a reasonable spirit and not with a bias against them from the beginning, many of them may be adopted; but it would be inconvenient to consider them in this Council. This is probably the only occasion which will arrive for the next 20 years to come for considering these proposals. It is also possible that between those who have at heart the interests of the Excise-revenue and those who wish to see the revenue controlled in the interests of the public morals and public welfare, there may be some compromise effected, and in that view I hope Your Honour's Council will adopt the motion."

The Hon'ble the PRESIDENT said:—"I think it may be more convenient if I intervene at this stage of the discussion with a view to express the position which I feel myself inclined to take up in this matter. I should have been right at any moment to have intervened in the sense which I now propose to do, if the matters which have been brought before us by the Hon'ble Member who has just sat down had been brought before us either in the Note of Dissent or at an early stage in this discussion. It seems to me that there has been misapprehension on both sides. There are certain points in respect of which I do not at all feel prepared to go forward to legislation at the present moment. But there are other points in respect of which I am very far from feeling that we ought not to consider carefully the necessity for so doing.

"First of all in respect of local option, I should like to say this, that I do not believe, as at present advised, that we can have what is ordinarily known as local option, pure and simple, any way. But, in the second place, I should like to say that, while agreeing in that respect with what fell from my Hon'ble friend, Mr. Buckland, I differ from him in this, that I do not understand that to be the proposal made by the learned Advocate-General. Now this explains to a certain extent the position in which we find ourselves. There has undoubtedly been very great vagueness of expression.

"We hear now from the Hon'ble Member who has just sat down that he has definite and clear and precise proposals to make. We have not heard these proposals. They have not been brought before us either in the Select Committee's Report or in the Note of Dissent. We do not know really what they are. But I do think that there are questions which the discussion has brought forward before us to-day—questions to be met and discussed—and that in regard to them we ought to have these clear and definite proposals. If it was stated in the Select Committee, as has been alleged by the Hon'ble Member, that we ought not to consider these questions because the Government of India had prohibited their consideration, then I am bound to say that there has been a certain amount of misunderstanding. The Government of India have not prohibited their consideration. The Government of India asked that, if we proposed to go on with legislation in respect of any of these points, we should consult them first. That is all. Now the question remains entirely this: Are we prepared to undergo the necessary trouble and the necessary delay that that course involves? I say, without hesitation, we are quite prepared. We have no hesitation whatever in agreeing to delay this Bill for a week or two, or a month or two, or even for a longer period, if we are going to have the whole thing thoroughly threshed out, and have any hope of passing, as I trust, a thoroughly complete and satisfactory Bill. I do not wish in any way to burke discussion or avoid any necessary delay.

"Now there are one or two things which I should like to say before asking the Hon'ble Mr. Buckland to consider the proposal to accept the motion of the Hon'ble the Advocate-General. There is one point I wish to state emphatically, and that is this: I have no sympathy whatsoever with the denunciation of the Board of Revenue or the action of Government in respect of Excise. I am new to the province, but at the same time I have been carefully looking up the past history of Excise in this province; and I can give this assurance that, after seeing the history of Excise in several other provinces, I feel that the Government of this province has in the past nothing whatever to be ashamed of in the care that it has given to the study of this question and the very important improvements it has introduced. I am not at this moment inclined to enter upon a defence of the Government policy in respect of Excise; but I desire to dissociate myself altogether from the criticism which has been passed upon the Government policy and the Board of Revenue in regard to the rules which have been framed.

"The second point is this. I am astonished to find that Hon'ble Members like the learned Advocate-General and my Hon'ble friend, Dr. Asutosh Mukhopadhyaya, should declare not in so many words, but in regard to the manner in which they have advanced their view, that there is nothing whatsoever in a rule which has the force of law. Why, says my Hon'ble friend opposite, should the children of England be protected from the grog-shop, and why should the children of this country be entrapped? Yet he is speaking of a report which suggests that there should be a rule having the force of law to prevent this. I dissociate myself from his view of the Select Committee's Report, and from his estimate of rules under the Act. At the same time, I do agree with this, that rules are not the best form of legislation where they can be avoided. We ought to lay down in the law such principles as it is possible to lay down, and if we have made up our minds that a thing is to be forbidden, we should ourselves incorporate the prohibition under the Act and not ask any other authority to include it in a rule.

"With regard to the sale of liquor to children under a certain age in grog-shops, if it is the mind of this Council, without any hesitation or doubt, that children ought not to be served with liquor, then let us say so in the Act. If, on the other hand, there is any question of doubt as to whether there are any places in this country where it would not be expedient to prohibit the sale of liquor to women, then let us say that this is a question of doubt, and that the Board of Revenue after due inquiry ought to dispose of it.

"Now, what are the points that arise between the learned Advocate-General and the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill. There are three things which are dissented from by two Members of the Select Committee. The first is with regard to local option, not local option as usually understood, but merely the ascertaining of local popular feeling and sentiment. This is a question upon which we are told that we are going to have definite proposals, which, if approved in Select Committee, will come up in the next report, and, if disapproved, will come up in a definite form and clearly stated in the memorandum of dissent; and we shall then be able to deal with them in a satisfactory manner.

"The next point is with regard to the sale of liquor to women and children under the age of 14. Both points were touched upon by the Advocate-General. We have our Hon'ble Colleague's proposals on these points; and we can deal with them. Then we have the rest of the Advocate-General's motion. It is an extremely vague motion, viz., first, that the principles laid down by the Government of India to be adopted according to local circumstances by Local Governments in a manner which they might see fit should be included in the legislation, and, secondly, that we should make some provision to prevent the spread of drunkenness in Bengal. There is a great deal of vagueness about this; and we do not know exactly what is proposed. If it be said for a moment that there is nothing in this Act to prevent the spread of drunkenness, then such a statement is unjust. The Advocate-General, however, may like the Hon'ble Member who has just spoken have definite proposals to make; if so, let him by all means make such proposals. For this reason it seems to me necessary not to go on with this matter, so that he may draft these proposals and the matter may be thoroughly considered.

"What I desire to say is this, we have no desire to rush this legislation through. We do not care even if it takes a long time, because it will last a long time. We feel that we ought not to hurry through this legislation, because it is going to influence the country for a long time to come. If this Council, after hearing the Report of the Select Committee, wants any reference to be made to the Government of India, I will have no hesitation in making it. I do not want to hurry this through, but I do want to have it thoroughly considered.

"I therefore propose to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill that we should accept this motion and refer these questions to the Select Committee and, for my own part, I should be very glad if the learned Advocate-General be also added to the Select Committee."

The Hon'ble MR. WOODROFFE said:—"I do not propose to take up the time of the Council after the address of the President, but I desire to say in concurrence with the observations which have fallen from Your Honour that there did appear to me to be a good deal of misunderstanding. The Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill employed himself for well nigh 45 minutes in answering a speech which was never delivered. I never suggested for a single moment local option in the sense in which it was held to be impracticable by the Government of India.

"As regards what has fallen from the Chair with reference to the matter of vagueness in respect of the first portion of my motion, I beg to point out that the matters which I referred to have been sufficiently indicated and sufficiently stated in the Government Despatch, viz., that a strict limitation should be imposed as to the number of places at which liquors or drugs can be purchased, and also that efforts should be made to ascertain the existence of local opinion and local public sentiment, and that a reasonable amount of deference should be paid to such opinion when ascertained; and also that where municipalities exist Municipal Commissioners should be consulted in determining the location of shops. I regret that I fell into error in supposing that the outstill system was not so prevalent as I supposed it was. It appears that it exists more widely than I thought, and if so, it furnishes a crucial argument for putting this matter into the law, because I find that the Government of India four years ago expressed themselves in favour of this principle, and I think that steps should be taken to give it more direct effect.

"If it is the opinion of the Council that I should be added to the Select Committee, I shall be very willing to serve on it."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. GREER moved that the Hon'ble Mr. Woodroffe be added to the Select Committee on the said Bill.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to a date to be specified hereafter.

Also that a Pile Beacon, with a diamond shaped head, has been placed on the western edge of the 18 feet patch in 17 feet O.L.W.S , summit of Hummock Hill, N. 2° W., six and-a-half miles distant. Approximate position—Lat. 33° 09′ S., long. 137° 36′ E.

Mariners navigating Spencer Gulf north of Tiparra Shoal are cautioned against making too free with the western shore, as between Franklin Harbor and Point Lowly the shoal water extends in several places from one and-a-half miles to four miles from the shore line, which in many places is very low and often distorted by mirage.

Vessels beating up or down the gulf against strong head winds are therefore cautioned to keep about the middle of the Gulf towards the Middle Bank Lightship, which may be passed close to. They may also anchor anywhere north of Tiparra Shoal and await a slant of wind.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF FEBRUARY 1904.

THE weather at the beginning of February was characterised by the presence of a depression in South-East Bengal, which moved slowly eastward and filled up on the second of the month. It gave rise to moderately heavy rain in East Bengal and Assam. Pressure on the 1st of the month was below normal, the defect being slight in the north and increasing up to one-tenth inch in the south-east of the province. The barometer had been rising very rapidly in the wake of the depression and continued to rise up to the morning of the 3rd, when it was in excess over the province. During the 3rd a sharp reaction set in, with the effect of bringing the barometer to practically normal height on the morning of the 5th. Temperature, which on the 1st was in defect in the north and in excess in the south of the province, responded to these changes of pressure falling rapidly as the barometer rose, and though this fall was slightly checked and revised by the subsequent reaction of pressure, the temperature was below normal over almost the entire province on the morning of the 5th. From the latter date to the 12th, the barometer oscillated up and down, rising from the 5th to the 7th, falling from the 7th to the 9th, and then again rising to the 12th, but these oscillations were slow, uniform and moderate in amount, and though their amplitude above the mean height was greater than that below, its maximum was at most stations less than one-tenth of an inch. The weather during this period retained its ordinary cold-weather character, winds being for the most part very light. During the whole of this period temperature continued in more or less defect in the south of the province, while in the north there was a change from defect to excess on the 8th, the latter maintaining itself up to the 12th.

A change of weather now set in, a sharp fall of pressure amounting at most stations to more than one-tenth of an inch taking place on the 12th. This continued on the next day, and was followed by small but abrupt oscillations on the 14th and 15th. The unsettled conditions which now clearly prevailed resolved themselves into the formation of a small shallow depression at the head of the bay on the morning of the 17th. An area of low pressure continued to show itself over Bengal up to the 20th, and was accompanied by falling pressure over the province, the distribution over the Bay and land area assimilating itself to that which prevails in the hot season. Following these changes of pressure, the temperature began to rise slowly, the area of excess temperature gradually extending from north to south until on the morning of the 16th it practically included the whole province. On the 20th of February a rise of pressure set in and continued unchecked, though with variations of rapidity up to the 25th, the barometer on that date being greatly in excess of normal. This rise was accompanied by a reversion to the ordinary cold-weather distribution, the weather chart on the morning of the 21st showing a gradient of pressure once more from north to south. Notwithstanding the rise in the barometer, temperature, though on the 20th it showed a tendency to fall, rose rapidly on the succeeding day, and remained with slight variations in excess up to the end of the month. The pressure, it is true, began to fall on the 25th, and continued to do so up to the 29th, but the distribution shewed indications of change from the cold-weather type only on the last two days of the month. On the 29th a small recovery of pressure took place.

General Summary.—The weather of the month naturally divides itself into three periods, from the 1st to the 12th or 13th, when ordinary cold-weather conditions prevailed, the pressure being on the whole above the normal, while the temperature was abnormally low. During the middle period of the month irregular conditions arose, the tendency being to a premature establishment of a hot-weather distribution. These conditions culminated in the formation of a depression on the 17th, which dominated the character of the weather for the next few days. This depression was not of the nature of a cold-weather storm, but originated in Bengal itself, and arising as it did from local causes was, as is usual in such cases, accompanied in its progress by thunderstorms. With the exception of the rain which fell on the first two days of the month, the only precipitation which took place in February was due to the influence of this depression. The latter portion of the month was characterised by a return to the normal distribution, average pressure being high, as well as the temperature for the whole period.

Summary of pressure.—Owing to the average excess of pressure during the first and last divisions of the month mentioned above, an excess which was not counterbalanced by the defect in the middle period, the mean pressure of the month is, except for a few stations in the extreme south, above the normal. The mean excess is, however, nowhere large, its greatest value being 038 inch at Darjeeling.

Summary of temperature.—Temperature on the whole was in excess during the month. As although it was low during the first part of the month chiefly over the southern half of the province, the excess which prevailed during the second half as a rule more than counterbalanced this, and, moreover, extended over the whole province. There is consequently an excess of mean average temperature over the whole province with the exception of a few stations in the extreme south. The same holds good of the mean maximum temperature. In the case of the mean minimum temperature, on the other hand, the province is divided into two nearly equal portions by the line of no variations. The greatest excess of maximum temperature is 3°·8 at Bhagalpur and the greatest defect 3° 4 at Chaibassa. The greatest excess in mean temperature is 2°·8 at Rampur Boalia.

Summary of rainfall.—Apart from that in the first two days of the month, the whole rainfall was contained within the period from the 16th to the 20th. Rain was heaviest in North and East Bengal and lightest in Orissa and Bihar. The two former Dvisions received about one-third more than the average, while in the two latter only about half the ordinary amount of rain fell. In South-West Bengal and Chota Nagpur, the total quantity of rainfall was nearly normal.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the Province for the month of February 1904:—

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye-observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.

GEOLOGY AND MINERALS.

The 10th March 1904.

No. 864—68-20.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 20 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901 (VIII of 1901), the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules for application to all coal mines in British India :—

I.—SINGLE SHAFTS AND OUTLETS.

Rule 1.—(a) The owner, agent, or manager of a mine shall not employany person in the mine, or permit any person to be in the mine for the purpose of employment therein, unless there are at least two shafts or outlets with which every seam for the time being at work shall have a communication, so that such shafts or outlets shall afford separate means of ingress and egress available to the persons employed in every such seam.

(b) Proper arrangements shall be made for persons to descend to and ascend from the mine at each of such shafts or outlets. If apparatus is necessary, it shall be kept on the works belonging to the mine, and shall be constantly available for use.

(c) Such shafts or outlets shall not at any point be nearer to one another than 45 feet, and each shall be connected with the other by means of a communication not less than 4 feet high and 4 feet wide.

(d) The foregoing provisions of this rule with respect to shafts and outlets shall not apply—

(i) while a shaft is being sunk or an outlet being made;
(ii) to any working for the purpose of making a communication between two or more shafts or outlets;
(iii) to any working for the sole purpose of searching for or proving mineral;

so long as not more than 40 persons are employed below ground at any one time in the whole of the different seams in connection with a single shaft or outlet.

(e) In cases where there are special difficulties which make compliance with the foregoing provisions of this rule not reasonably practicable, the mine may be exempted therefrom by the Local Government, subject to such conditions as it may think fit to impose.

(f) So much of this rule as requires two shafts or outlets to be separated by distance of not less than 45 feet shall not apply to any shafts sunk or commenced to be sunk before this rule comes into force.

II.—RAISING AND LOWERING PERSONS.

Rule 2.—In every mine which is usually entered by means of machinery the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

(a) A single linked chain shall not be used for lowering or raising persons in any working shaft or plane, except for the short coupling chain attached to a cage, skip, bucket or tub.

(b) There shall be attached to every machine worked by steam or mechanical power, and used for lowering or raising persons, an adequate brake or brakes, and a proper indicator (in addition to any mark on the rope) showing, to the person who works the machine, the position of the cage, skip, bucket or tub in the shaft; and, if the drum is not on the crank shaft, there shall be an adequate brake on the drum shaft:

Provided that in the case of a shaft not exceeding 100 feet in depth or of a shaft in course of sinking so much of this rule as requires an indicator shall not apply.

(c) Every apparatus on or in which persons ride in every working shaft shall be provided with a sufficient cover overhead, except in a shaft not exceeding 150 feet in depth where buckets are used for winding or in a shaft in course of sinking, or where persons are employed at work in a shaft.

(d) Every working shaft used for the purpose of drawing mineral, or for lowering or raising persons, shall, if exceeding 150 feet in depth, be provided with proper means of communicating distinct and definite signals from the bottom of the shaft, and from every entrance for the time being in use between the surface and the bottom of the shaft, to the surface, and except in the case of a shaft in course of sinking from the surface to the bottom of the shaft and to every entrance for the time being in use between the surface and the bottom of the shaft.

(e) Every working shaft (except a shaft in course of sinking) used for lowering or raising persons shall, if exceeding 100 feet in depth, be provided with guides.

(f) There shall be on the drum of every machine used for lowering or raising persons such flanges or horns or other appliances as may be sufficient to prevent the rope from slipping. The rope shall be securely fastened to the drum, and there shall be at least two turns of the rope on the drum when the cage, skip, bucket or tub is at the bottom of the shaft. After any stoppage of winding for more than two hours, the cage, skip, bucket or tub shall, before any person is allowed to ride therein, be run a complete trip up and down the working portion of the shaft at least once to ensure that everything is in good working order.

(g) A competent person or persons appointed by the owner, agent, or manager for the purpose shall, once at least in every 24 hours, examine the state of the external parts of the machinery and of the head-gear, ropes, chains, and other similar appliances of the mine which are in actual use both above ground and below ground, and shall, once at least in every week examine the state of the shafts by which persons ascend or descend and the state of the guides and the conductors in the shafts, and shall without delay write or cause to be written a true report of the result of such examination; and every such report shall be recorded in a paged book to be kept at the mine for the purpose, and shall be signed and dated by the person who made the examination.

III.—Roads and Working Places.

Rule 3.—The roofs and sides of all travelling roads and working places shall be made and kept secure.

Rule 4.—(a) Every part of a mine in or through which any person has to work or pass shall be inspected at least once during every twenty-four hours by a competent person or persons appointed by the owner, agent, or manager for the purpose of ascertaining the condition thereof so far as the presence of gas, ventilation, roof, sides, and general safety are concerned:

Provided that when a mine has been unworked for more than twenty-four hours, the inspection shall be made within two hours before any workman is allowed to pass a station or stations appointed by the manager at the entrance to the mine or different parts of the mine, as the case may require.

(b) Every person who makes such inspection shall without delay write or cause to be written a true report of the result of such inspection either during or at the close of such twenty-four hours, and every such report shall be recorded in a paged book to be kept at the mine for the purpose, and shall be signed and dated by the person who made the inspection.

Rule 5.—It at any time it is found by the person for the time being in charge of a mine or any part thereof that, by reason of inflammable gases prevailing in the mine or part, or of any cause whatever, the mine or part is dangerous, every workman shall be withdrawn from the mine or part, and a competent person appointed for the purpose shall inspect the mine or part, and, if the danger arises from inflammable gas, shall do so with a locked safety-lamp, and in every case shall make a true report of the condition of the mine or part; and no workman shall, except in so far as is necessary for enquiring into the cause of danger, or for the removal thereof, or for exploration, be re-admitted into the mine or part, until the same is stated by the person appointed as aforesaid not to be dangerous Every such report shall be recorded without delay in a paged book, which shall be kept at the mine for the purpose, and shall be dated and signed by the person who made the inspection.

Rule 6.—Where a place is likely to contain a dangerous accumulation of water, the working approaching that place shall not at any point within 100 feet thereof exceed 8 feet in width or height, and there shall be constantly kept at a sufficient distance, not being less than 10 feet in advance, at least one bore-hole near the centre of the working, and sufficient bore-holes on each side, and, where necessary, above or below.

Rule 7.—Every entrance to any place, which is not in actual use or course of working and extension, shall be properly fenced across the whole width of the entrance, so as to prevent persons inadvertently entering the same.

Rule 8.—Every underground plane on which persons travel and which is self-acting or worked by an engine shall be provided (if exceeding 100 feet in length) with some proper means of communicating distinct and definite signals between the stopping places and the ends of the plane, and shall be provided in every case with sufficient manholes for places of refuge, occurring at intervals of not more than 60 feet, and being not less than 4 feet in height 2 feet 3 inches in width and 2 feet in depth.

IV.—Plans.

Rule 9.—The owner, agent, or manager of every mine shall keep in the office at the mine an accurate plan of the workings of the mine, on a scale not smaller than 200 feet to the inch, showing the workings up to a date not more than six months previously. It shall also show the shaft openings, and all those important surface marks within the boundaries, such as railways, which lie within 600 feet of any part of the mine workings, also the general direction and rate of dip of the strata, together with a statement of the depth of each shaft and a section of the seam or seams being worked:

Provided that the owner, agent, or manager of a mine worked in the open and not under cover shall be exempt from the necessity of keeping such plans, unless required to do so by the Chief Inspector of Mines.

Rule 10.—The owner, agent, or manager of every mine shall, at any time on the request of the Chief Inspector of Mines or of any Inspector of Mines, produce to him at the office at the mine such plan and section, and also, on the like request, mark on such plan and section the then state of the workings of the mine; and the Chief Inspector or Inspector shall be entitled to examine the plan and the section, and for official purposes to make or have a copy made of any part thereof respectively.

Rule 11.—If the owner, agent, or manager of a mine fails to keep, or wilfully refuses to produce or allow to be examined, the plan and section aforesaid, or wilfully withholds any portion thereof, or wilfully refuses on request to mark thereon the state of the workings, of the mine, or conceals any part of these workings, or produces any imperfect or inaccurate plan or section, he shall (unless he shows that he was ignorant of the concealment, imperfection or inaccuracy) be guilty of an offence against these rules.

Rule 12.—When a mine or seam is abandoned or the working thereof has been discontinued for more than a year, the owner of the mine or seam shall, within three months after the abandonment or within fifteen months after the discontinuance of working, send to the Chief Inspector of Mines the plan and sections which have been made for the mine or seam in compliance with these rules and showing the nearest surface boundaries in relation to the underground workings, or a true and accurate copy of the same; but no person except an Inspector of Mines shall be entitled, without the consent of the owner of the mine or seam, to see the plan when so sent until after the expiration of twelve years from the time of the abandonment.

V.—EXPLOSIVES.

Rule 13.—No explosive substance shall be used below ground in a mine except under the following conditions, namely :—

(a) It shall not be stored in the mine.

(b) It shall not be taken into the mine except in secure cases or canisters, containing not more than five pounds each, and a workman shall not have in use or keep for use at one time in any one place more than one of such cases or canisters :

Provided that the Chief Inspector may, in special cases and by order in writing, permit, subject to such limitations as he may prescribe, the use at one time in one place of more than one of such cases or canisters.

(c) In the process of charging or stemming for blasting, no person shall use or have in his possession any iron or steel pricker, scraper, tamping-rod or stemmer, and only clay or other non-inflammable substances shall be used for tamping or stemming.

(d) When a hole has been charged, the explosive shall not be unrammed, and no hole shall be bored at a distance of less than 12 inches from any hole where a charge has missed fire.

(e) No detonator shall be carried or kept in the same case or canister with any other explosive material, or inserted into the priming cartridge until immediately before it is used.

(f) No explosive shall be forcibly pressed into a hole of insufficient size.

(g) In any place which is dry and dusty, or in which the use of a locked safety-lamp is for the time being required by or in pursuance of these rules, no shot shall be fired, except by and under the direction of a competent person appointed by the manager of the mine.

VI.—VENTILATION AND LIGHTING.

Rule 14.—An adequate amount of ventilation shall be constantly produced in every mine to dilute and render harmless smoke and noxious gases to such an extent that the working places of the shafts, levels, and workings of the mine, and the travelling roads to and from these working places shall be in a fit state for working and passing therein.

Rule 15.—No lamp or light other than a locked safety-lamp shall be allowed or used—

(a) in any place in a mine in which there is or is likely to be any such quantity of inflammable gas as to render the use of naked lights dangerous; or

(b) in any working approaching near a place in which there is likely to be an accumulation of inflammable gas; and when it is necessary to work the coal in any part of a ventilating district with safety-lamps, it shall not be allowable to work the coal with naked lights in another part of the same ventilating district situated between the place where such lamps are being used and the return airway.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this rule, the expression "ventilating district" means such part of a seam as has an independent intake commencing from a main intake air course, and an independent return airway terminating at a main return air course.

Rule 16.—Whenever safety-lamps are used, they shall be so constructed that they may be carried with safety against the air current ordinarily prevailing in the mine.

Rule 17.—In any mine or part of a mine in which the use of safety-lamps is for the time being required by or in pursuance of these rules, the following provisions shall have effect, namely:—

(a) A competent person shall be appointed by the manager to clean, trim, examine and securely lock all such lamps before they are taken into the workings for use, and such lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found to be in safe working order and securely locked.

(b) No safety-lamp shall be unlocked except at the appointed lamp station, or for the purpose of firing a shot.

(c) No person, unless he has been authorised in writing by the manager either for the purpose of examining safety-lamps or for the purpose of firing shots, shall have in his possession any contrivance for opening the lock of a safety-lamp.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this rule the term manager includes an under-manager and any person for the time being carrying on the duties of the manager.

(d) No person shall have in his possession any unlocked safety-lamp, naked light, match, smoking apparatus or apparatus of any kind for striking a light, except within a completely closed chamber attached to the fuse of the shot.

Rule 18.—Where the use of safety-lamps is for the time being required by or in pursuance of these rules, the position of the lamp stations for lighting or re-lighting the lamps shall not be in the return air.

VII.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Rule 19.—Every side entrance to a mine from the surface and the top, and all entrances between the top and the bottom including the sump (if any) of every working ventilating, or pumping shaft, shall be properly fenced; but this shall not be taken to forbid the temporary removal of the fence for the purpose of repairs or other operations, if proper precautions are used. Shafts temporarily or permanently out of use shall be properly fenced.

Rule 20.—Every fly wheel and all exposed and dangerous parts of the machinery used in or about a mine shall be kept securely fenced.

Rule 21.—Where no enactment for the regulation and inspection of steam-boilers and prime-movers is for the time being in force, every steam-boiler, whether separate or one of range, shall have attached to it a proper safety-valve, and also a proper steam-gauge and water-gauge to show respectively the pressure of steam and the height of water in each boiler.

Rule 22.—Ambulances or stretchers with splints and bandages shall be kept ready at hand in a convenient place and in good and serviceable order at every mine.

Rule 23.—Copies of all rules made under the Indian Mines Act, 1901, shall be kept at every mine, and shall be produced at any time on the request of an Inspector of Mines.

Rule 24.—Where the natural strata are not safe, every working or pumping shaft shall be securely cased, lined, or otherwise made secure.

Rule 25.—If in any mine the winding apparatus is not provided with some automatic contrivance to prevent over-winding, then the cage, skip, bucket or tub shall not, when persons are being raised in it, be wound up at a speed exceeding three miles an hour after it has reached a point in the shaft to be fixed by the special rules made for the mine under section 21 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901.

Rule 26.—Where any person required by these rules, or by any special rule made under section 21 of the Indian Mines Act, 1901, to make any report is unable to write, he shall be present when his report is written for him, and shall have it read over to him and shall attach his thumb-mark to it. The person writing the report shall also sign his name at the end, together with a statement that it has been read over to the person for whom it was written.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to make various amendments in the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, III of 1885, for the following purposes, namely :—

(1) to give legal authority to the practice now already in existence under which District Boards incur expenditure on veterinary objects;

(2) to impose tolls on newly-constructed bridges until the initial cost and the capitalised value of the cost of maintenance and renewal have been recovered;

(3) to give power to levy a rate to enable District Boards to pay sums guaranteed by them by way of interest on capital expended on railways or tramways; and

(4) to remove certain flaws and omissions in the Act which experience of its working has brought to light.

The amendments are explained in detail in the following notes.

NOTES ON CLAUSES.

Clause 2 repeals—

(1) the words "or of the Districts of Singhbhum, the Sonthal Parganas, or the Chittagong Hill-tracts" in section 1. This repeal is required partly because one of these Districts (Singhbhum) is now considered to be sufficiently advanced to be admitted to the benefits of Local Self-Government, and partly because the specific exception in the case of the Sonthal Parganas and the Chittagong Hill-tracts is now unnecessary, having been superseded by Regulation III of 1872, section 3 (as amended by Regulation III of 1899, section 3), in the case of the former, and by Regulation I of 1900, section 4, in the case of the latter district;

(2) the proviso in section 6. The first portion of this proviso is entered for repeal in order to permit of the abolition of Sadar Local Boards, which experience has proved to be unnecessary and which have already been abolished in some districts in which the proviso does not stand in the way. The rest of the proviso assumes that a Union Committee cannot exist except where a Local Board has been created. This principle has been proved to be inconvenient and difficult of working. It is, therefore, proposed, by later clauses of the Bill, to subordinate Union Committees primarily to the District Board instead of the Local Board;

(3) section 16, its provisions being embodied in a new section 19A;

(4) section 24, its provisions being reproduced in amended form in a new section 29A;

(5) the last paragraph of section 25, its provisions being embodied in a modified form in the new section 29A;

(6) section 34, its provisions becoming unnecessary in view of the amendments made in section 32(g);

(7) section 72. The repeal of this section is necessary, as it will be superseded by the new section 114 which appears in clause 35 of the Bill. Section 114 as it now stands in the Act requires every Union Committee to provide for the registration of births and deaths, and to submit such returns as the Local Board may direct. But the registration of births and deaths is not, and never has been, under the Local Board, and it is not now contemplated that a Local Board, even if it possessed this power, should exercise, except by delegation, control over Union Committees. In point of fact the registration of vital statistics is carried out by the police under the control of the Magistrate, and there is no intention of transferring this work to District or Local Boards. In the few rural areas (the colliery tracts of Burdwan and a portion of the Darjeeling district) in which Bengal Act IV of 1873 (which provides for the compulsory registration of births and deaths) has been brought into force, the District Magistrate, and not the District or Local Board, is and will continue to be the controlling authority. For these reasons it is proposed to alter section 114 so as to provide that a Union Committee shall register births and deaths only if required to do so by the District Magistrate;

(8) the proviso to section 73. This proviso is rendered unnecessary by the amendment made in section 108 by clause 31 of the Bill;

(9) the words in section 103 "A Local Board shall exercise powers of supervision and control over all Union Committees within the area under its authority, and"

These repeals are proposed as part of the policy of subordinating Union Committees to District Boards rather than to Local Boards.

2. Clause 3 amends section 10 of the Act, in order to provide for cases in which the members of a Local Board make default in electing representatives on the District Board, there being at present no legal means for dealing with such cases.

3. Clause 4 introduces a new section 19 with the object of covering similar defects in bye-elections, and a new section 19A, which reproduces the provisions of the existing section 16 and the latter portion of the existing section 19 as to duration of a member's term of office. The references in section 19A to sections 17 and 18 (as to resignation and removal) are new, but are obviously required.

4. Clause 5 amends section 22 so as to permit the election of Chairmen of District Boards by official designation in the case of districts in which the election of Chairmen is authorised.

5. Clause 6 introduces a new section 23A to provide for cases of default in the election of a Chairman or Vice-Chairman of a District Board, the Lieutenant-Governor being empowered to intervene to fill the vacancy by making an appointment.

6. Clause 7 amends section 25 of the Act so as to permit the election of Chairmen of Local Boards by official designation. The absence of such a provision gives rise to frequent difficulties in cases where the Chairman is the Sub-divisional Officer, when it often happens that his transfer or absence on short leave occasions an interregnum, prolonged by the almost inevitable delay on the part of the Board in carrying out the necessary formalities for appointing a successor or substitute.

7. Clause 8 amends section 26 so as to provide for cases of default in the election of a Vice-Chairman of a Local Board, the Lieutenant-Governor being empowered to intervene to fill the vacancy by making an appointment.

8. Clause 8 also introduces a new section 26A to authorise the grant of leave to Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen of District and Local Boards.

9. Clause 9 makes consequential amendments in section 29 of the Act, by providing for the filling of casual vacancies caused by the grant of leave.

10. Clause 9 further introduces a new section, 29A., which reproduces the provisions of sections 24, 25 (last paragraph), 26 (second paragraph), and 29 (third paragraph) of the existing Act, as to a Chairman's and Vice-Chairman's term of office, with the addition of a sub-section as to the term of office of a Chairman or Vice-Chairman acting for another who is on leave.

11. Clause 10 amends section 32, clause (g), mainly in order to remove an inconsistency between its provisions and those of section 34. The latter section, which it is now proposed to repeal, authorises the framing of leave rules for officers of District Boards, with the approval of the Commissioner, while under section 32 rules for the same object are subject to the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor. In practice the latter is the procedure adopted, and the addition of the words "leave allowances" to section 32 (g) is the sole amendment of that section which is required in consequence of the repeal of section 34.

The words "punishment (including suspension and removal)" are substituted for the words "suspension and removal" in section 32, clause (g), in order to enlarge the scope of the section by legalising the imposition of penalties for minor offences or breaches of discipline.

12. Clause 11 introduces a new section authorising District Boards to make rules for the creation and management of a Provident or Annuity Fund. The adoption of the system of Provident Funds for employés of District Boards was approved in principle by the Government of India, while at the same time the absence of a specific provision of law authorising the creation of such Funds was pointed out. On the introduction of the system, District Boards were instructed to act on the assumption that power would be taken at the first opportunity to give legal effect to it, and it is with this object that the enactment of clause 11 of the Bill is now proposed.

13. Clause 12 makes certain amendments in section 36 in pursuance of the policy of subordinating Union Committees to District Boards rather than to Local Boards.

14. Clause 13 provides for the election of a Chairman of a Union Committee, for which there is at present no provision of law.

15. Clause 14 makes certain amendments in section 44 in pursuance of the policy of subordinating Union Committees to District Boards rather than to Local Boards.

16. Clause 15 introduces new sections, 46A to 46E, as to the levy of a rate to enable District Boards to pay sums guaranteed by them by way of interest on capital expended on railways or tramways, and clause 26 (2) introduces a proviso to section 82 to declare the procedure to be followed by District Boards before giving such guarantees. The Government of India have attached great importance to the introduction of District Boards into the field of railway enterprise. They have pointed out that there are many places in Bengal where light railways would prove of great service to local trade, and that District Boards would be the appropriate agency to further the development of the country by aiding the construction of such lines. Under existing conditions, however, there seems to be little hope of the assistance of District Boards being forthcoming in Bengal, as it is improbable that many District Boards would at any time have a sufficient surplus of income to enable them to embark on projects of the kind. In these circumstances, it was suggested that District Boards should be empowered to impose a special cess, to be utilised for the purpose of railway construction; and that section 57 (ii) and the proviso to section 58 of the Madras

Local Boards Act, 1884, should be adapted so as to secure that the power to impose an additional tax should be purely permissive, and that it would rest with the District Board alone to take action. Clauses 15 and 26 (2) have been inserted in the Bill to give a modified effect to these views. The functions of District Boards in Bengal will continue in practice to be confined to the guaranteeing of interest on capital raised by outside enterprise, and are not likely to be extended to the investment of the Board's own capital in works of construction.

17. Clause 16 adds an Explanation to section 48 with the object of making it clear that the Commissioner, in dealing with estimates framed by District Boards, is to have the same powers as the District Magistrate, as defined in section 47. The absence of an express declaration to this effect has given rise to practical difficulties.

18. Clause 17 (1) amends section 52 (3) in order to bring it into closer accordance with the law as now contained in Act I of 1871, section 31, as amended by Act I of 1891.

19. Clause 17 (2) introduces an additional clause into section 52, which is necessitated by the new provisions [sections 86A. et seq.] relating to tolls on bridges.

20. Clause 17 (3) introduces an additional clause in section 52, which is necessitated by the new provisions [sections 46A. et seq.) relating to the levy of a rate for payment of interest on capital expended on railways or tramways.

21. Clause 18 (1) makes an addition to section 53, clause Fifthly, with the object of legalising the payment from the District Fund of sums assigned by the District Board to a Local Board or Union Committee. The power to make such payments, though contemplated throughout the Act, is nowhere clearly given by the Act as it now stands.

22. Clause 18 (2) amends section 53, clause Sixthly with the objects of (1) extending to delegates of District Boards the concession granted by section 69 (2) of the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884, to Municipal Commissioners, as to travelling expenses for attending meetings in connection with the election of members for the Bengal Legislative Council; and (2) legalising the payment from the District Fund of travelling allowance to members of District Boards and Local Boards in performing journeys for carrying out any of the objects of the Act.

23. Clause 19 amends section 56 (1) with the object explained in paragraph 18, ante.

24. Clause 20 is necessitated by the additions made by clause 27.

25. Clause 21 amends section 61 with the object explained in paragraph 18, ante.

26. Clause 22 makes an addition to section 63, in order to legalise the grant from the District Fund of contributions in aid of secondary schools in cases where they are not under the direct control of the District Board. It might have been supposed that the power already conferred by section 63 of undertaking the maintenance and management of schools under public management includes the minor power of assisting them with funds, but this view has been overruled. It is therefore contemplated to remedy the deficiency in the manner shown in this clause, and also to provide for the furtherance of education by taking power to authorise similar contributions to schools under private management.

27. Clause 23 makes an addition to section 67 with the object of empowering District Boards to devote a portion of their funds to the training and employment of medical practitioners. The practice has for some time existed in Bengal, and the occasion of the amendment of the Act is taken to give it the authority of law.

28. The same provision is extended to the case of veterinary practitioners. Some time ago, when the Civil Veterinary Department in Bengal was in process of formation, District Boards were invited to co-operate, and were asked in particular to what extent they were prepared to utilise the services of passed Veterinary Assistants. It then came to notice that doubts prevailed whether, under section 100 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, District Boards were legally competent to contribute to veterinary measures, and it was further found that many of these bodies were disposed to rely on this legal difficulty as an excuse for declining to spend money in the manner suggested. The difficulty was reported to the Government of India, and that Government requested that, if there were any doubt whether local bodies, and especially District Boards, could legally contribute towards the maintenance of veterinary projects, the law might be amended in order to enable them to do so. The necessary additions have therefore been made to section 67 of the Act.

29. Clause 23 also contains a provision empowering District Boards to spend money on the promotion of free vaccination. Though the licensed system of vaccination is generally in force throughout Bengal, occasions at times arise on which District Boards find it necessary to employ paid vaccinators, subject to the supervision of the Civil Surgeon (who is the Superintendent of Vaccination in all districts), to operate free of charge. The law as it stands does not expressly authorise this procedure, but the difficulty is surmounted in practice by the expedient of permitting District Boards to devote funds to this object under the head "Medical." The necessary legal powers will be attained by sub-clause (b) of the proposed addition to section 67.

30. Clause 24 has been inserted with the object of extending to servants of District Boards the concessions granted by the Government of India as to the treatment of Government servants at the Pasteur Institute at Kasauli.

31. Clause 25 amends section 73 in order to prevent conflict between that section and sections 108 et seq. of the Act.

32. Clause 26 (1) makes an amendment in section 82 of the Act. By that section the Local Government is empowered to permit District Boards to guarantee the payment of interest on capital expended on works of communication. But the Government of India have directed that, in view of the possibility of the liability for the fulfilment of such guarantees being ultimately shifted to Imperial revenues, guarantees should not be given without the previous sanction of the Government of India; and consequently all guarantees of the kind that may be given must, in existing circumstances, be regarded as subject to the sanction of the Governor General in Council. In view, however, of the importance of this requirement, the Government of India have expressed a desire that it should be placed on a statutory basis. The words "Lieutenant-Governor," in section 82 of the Act, have accordingly been replaced by the words "Governor General in Council."

33. Clause 26 (2) adds a proviso to section 82 as part of the new scheme of taxation which is explained in paragraph 16, ante.

34. Clause 27 introduces a series of new sections, numbered 86A to 86L, to authorise District Boards to impose tolls on newly-constructed bridges until the initial cost and the capitalised value of the cost of maintenance and renewal have been recovered. The principle is no new one in Bengal, being already embodied in the Bengal Municipal Act, III of 1884. The provisions contained in clause 27 of the Bill are in the main reproduced from sections 158 to 170 of the Municipal Act, with the omission of matter relating to tolls on roads. The following points may be noticed in connection with the proposed new sections.

35. Section 86A.—This has been drafted so as to confine the power of taking tolls to the case of bridges constructed out of the District Fund and completed after the commencement of the new law.

36. The rate of interest is in proviso (b) to section 86A put at 4 per cent. instead of, as in the Municipal Act, 6 per cent. The latter Act reproduced a rate of interest in force more than 20 years ago.

37. Proviso (2) will prevent the levy of tolls on any but large bridges. It is estimated that the minimum cost of a bridge over a river requiring a ferry throughout the year is Rs. 5,000, and this limit is tentatively taken in the Bill.

38. Section 86C reproduces the provisions of section 168 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, except the portions which were repealed by the Indian Tolls (Army) Act, II of 1901. The exemptions from toll which are enacted by the latter Act will of course continue after the passing of the present Bill.

39. Section 86H.—Section 162 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, declares that whoever, with intent to evade payment of toll, fraudulently avoids passing through a toll-gate shall be liable to fine. Such a provision may be suitable in a municipality and in the case of a toll-bar on a road (though its utility has not been tested), but it is liable to abuse in the mufassal, and can hardly be necessary when the toll-bar is on a bridge over an unfordable river. The section has therefore not been reproduced in the Bill.

40. Section 163 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, provides that in case of non-payment of toll the vehicle or animal or any part of its burden may be seized and sold. This section is possible in a town, but would be very dangerous in the mufassal, where it would be difficult to supervise the action of the toll-bar-keeper. The section has therefore not been reproduced in the Bill. It is believed that sections 86G, 86H and 86J, in the Bill, will be sufficient to secure the due payment of tolls.

41. Clause 28 introduces a new section, 88A, with the object of legalising contributions from the District Fund towards the improvement of the water-supply of municipalities situated within the district. The legality of such an allocation of District Funds formed the subject of a discussion in 1893, when a contribution was made for this purpose by the Shahabad District Board to the Municipality of Arrah. The Legal Remembrancer of the day decided in its favour, but it seemed that such an interpretation of section 88 might at any time be called in question, in view of the declaration in section 1 that the Act shall not extend to any place or town to which the provisions of the Bengal Municipal Act 1884, have been extended. The object is clearly one to which a portion of the District Fund may very properly be diverted, seeing that a pure water-supply in a municipality is an advantage to the district in general. Section 88A has accordingly been framed with a view to preventing any dispute on the point, the contributions being made subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor.

42. Clause (2) introduces new sub-clauses 3(a), 3(b) and 3(c) in section 100, in order to legalise expenditure incurred by District Boards for veterinary purposes. This matter is explained in paragraph 28, ante.

43. Clause 30 (1) amends sections 105, 106, 107 and 117 with the object of subordinating Union Committees primarily to the District Board instead of the Local Board.

44. Clauses 30 (2), 31 and 32 make certain additions to sections 107, 108 and 109 with the object of authorising Union Committees to undertake, where necessary, and subject to the provision of the new section 119A, the construction, maintenance and repair of bridges situated within the Union.

45. Clause 33 amends section 110 with the object stated in paragraph 43, ante.

46. Clause 34 amends section 111 with the object stated in paragraph 18, ante.

47. Clause 35 amends section 114, and provides that a Union Committee shall register births and deaths only if required to do so by the District Magistrate, who will continue to be the controlling authority—see paragraph 1 (7), ante.

48. Clauses 36, 37 and 38 introduce amendments with the object stated in paragraph 43, ante.

49. Clause 39 extends the rule-making power conferred by section 138 (a), so as to enable the Lieutenant-Governor to determine the authority who shall decide disputes concerning elections. The precedent followed in this case is that of section 15 of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, as amended by Bengal Act IV of 1894.

50. An extension of the power of the Local Government to make rules is also proposed in the same clause to enable the Government to declare what circumstances shall be a disqualification for continuance of employment under section 33. Rules have recently been issued by the Government for regulating the retirement, under certain conditions, of District Engineers and other employés of District Boards on attaining the age of 55 years. The existing Act contains no definite authorisation of such rules, and it is desirable to give them at the earliest opportunity a strictly legal basis. The clause is expressed in general terms in order that it may cover disqualifications, other than that of age—indebtedness, for example—the rules on which subject do not definitely apply under the existing provisions of the law to officers paid from Local Funds.

51. Further extensions of the power of the Local Government to make rules are proposed so as to admit of the making of rules to regulate the training and employment of medical and veterinary practitioners, the promotion of free vaccination and the establishment and maintenance of veterinary dispensaries, and to prescribe the mode of ascertaining the capitalised value of the estimated cost of maintaining and renewing bridges.

52. Clause 40 amends section 142 so as to remedy a verbal omission.

53. Clause 41 is proposed in order to exclude pleaders, who are professionally engaged by a District Board of which they are members, from the operation of section 144 of the Act.

54. Clause 42 amends the heading to Schedule III in consonance with the proposal to take power to abolish Sadar Local Boards, and brings it into accordance with the provisions of section 9 of the Act.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

SUB-INSPECTORS OF SCHOOLS.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked :—

1. Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article in the Sanjibani of the 17th December last on the matter of the grievances of Sub-Inspectors of Schools?

2. Would the Government be pleased to inquire and state—

(a) how far its wishes as conveyed in its letters No. 2949L.S.-G., dated the 24th July, 1895, and No. 516T.G., dated the 30th June, 1897, have been given effect to in the matter of the recruitment of Deputy Inspectors from among the Sub-Inspectors lent to the District Boards and in the promotion of the Board-appointed Sub-Inspectors to the subordinate service grades;

(b) what is the number of teachers, clerks, and Sub-Inspectors who have been permanently appointed as Deputy Inspectors since the 30th June, 1897?

3. Would the Government be pleased to state—

(a) whether there is any Government order to the effect that Sub-Inspectors of Schools, though belonging to the same graded system and the same service as the clerks and teachers, should not rise above the grade of Rs. 100 a month, even when their qualifications are not inferior to those of the latter who are allowed unimpeded promotion up to the grade of Rs. 250;

(b) whether the stoppage of Sub-Inspectors at the grade of Rs. 100 till they retire has not had the effect of blocking the promotion of the whole body of Sub-Inspectors who have been lent to or appointed by the District Boards;

(c) whether, considering the fact that the majority of the Board-appointed Sub-Inspectors are graduates and a very large number of them are Muhammadans, the recruitment of Deputy Inspectors should not be principally confined first to the "seconded" Sub-Inspectors serving under District Boards and then to those appointed by the Boards?

4. Is the Government aware that in the scheme that has been submitted to Government for the re-organisation of the Subordinate Educational Service, the Director of Public Instruction has excluded the seconded Sub-Inspectors, although they were not so excluded from the last re-organisation sanctioned in Government Resolution No. 1281, dated the 30th March, 1897? As the seconded Sub-Inspectors are to all intents and purposes Government servants, does the Government consider it fair to exclude them altogether from the proposed re-organisation?

5. Is it in the contemplation of Government to take over all the Sub-Inspectors now serving under the District Boards into Government service? If so, has any action been taken in the matter?

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied :—

1. The attention of the Director of Public Instruction was drawn to the article in the newspaper referred to, and the points therein noticed have been considered by him.

2. (a) The orders of Government alluded to in this question have been strictly complied with. Government decided, in its letter No. 516 T.—G., dated the 24th July, 1897, that of the 119 Sub-Inspectors who had been transferred from Government service to the service of the District Boards, the names of the 25 most deserving should be printed in Roman type in the list of the Subordinate Educational Service, 10 being placed in Class V on Rs. 100, 10 in Class VI on Rs. 75, and 5 in Class VII on Rs. 60. The names of the remaining 94 officers were, in accordance with the orders quoted, printed in italics, such officers being regarded as seconded from the Department. When a vacancy occurs among the 25 officers whose names are printed in Roman type, one of the seconded officers takes his place. In this way, no Board-appointed Sub-Inspector can enter the graded list, until all the seconded officers have been provided for. The 25 officers in the graded list are eligible for promotion to the grade of Deputy Inspector; and 14 of them have been so promoted since 1897.

(b) Since 1897, 46 men have been promoted to be Deputy Inspectors or Additional Deputy Inspectors. Nine posts of Additional Deputy Inspector were created in districts in which the number of schools under inspection was excessive. Muhammadans were appointed to these posts, in order that the Muhammadan community might be better represented in the Inspecting Agency than it had been in the past. Inasmuch as there were very few Muhammadans serving as Sub-Inspectors at the time, only one post was filled by a Sub-Inspector, the remaining eight posts being awarded to teachers. Of the 37 men who have been promoted to ordinary posts of Deputy Inspector, 19 were teachers, 4 were clerks, and 14 were Sub-Inspectors. As, however, the 4 clerks referred to had acted previously for some years as Sub-Inspectors, practically 19 teachers and 18 Sub-Inspectors have been so appointed. The number of teachers in the service is, it may be explained, at least four times as large as that of Sub-Inspectors; and there are, therefore, many more graduates among them from whom a selection for posts of Deputy-Inspector can be made. Experience in teaching is, moreover, a very valuable qualification for such posts.

3. (a) & (b) According to the orders passed at the time of the reorganisation of 1897, the maximum pay of a Sub-Inspector is fixed at Rs. 100 a month. Capable Sub-Inspectors are, however, eligible for promotion to Deputy Inspectorships; and, as indicated in answer to question 2 (b), 14 Sub-Inspectors from the graded service have been promoted to Deputy Inspectorships since the year referred to. Some Sub-Inspectors, also, have been promoted to posts carrying higher salaries, such as clerkships in the offices of the Inspector of Schools and the Director of Public Instruction, and to teacherships in schools.

(c) The meaning of this question is not quite clear. The principles and orders governing the selection of Deputy Inspectors have, however, been fully stated in reply to questions 2 (a) and (b).

4. The position of the transferred Sub-Inspectors is fully explained in reply to questions 2 (a) and (b). The main object of the proposals for the re-organisation of the Subordinate Educational Service which have recently been submitted to the Government of India is to include in the graded service a large number of ungraded officers—many of them graduates—who are at present in receipt of very small salaries, and who have little chance of promotion in present circumstances. It was not considered necessary to include in the scheme any proposal for the improvement of the prospects of the transferred officers.

5. There is no proposal that Government should take over all the Sub-Inspectors now serving under the District Boards into Government service. There are, however, proposals under consideration for improving the prospects of Board-appointed Sub-Inspectors. As, however, the question has not as yet been laid before District Boards for consideration, it is not desirable to give further information on the subject at present.

THE SUBORDINATE EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The Hon'ble BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:

1. Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the Sanjibani of the 14th January last in which, from the grade promotions of officers of the Subordinate Educational Service, published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 16th December last, it has been shown that clerks and teachers have obtained promotion from one grade to another after an interval of 2½ to 4 years, while Sub-Inspectors of Schools serving in the same grade for 4 to 8 years or more have not obtained any promotion?

2. In order to remove the present block in the promotion of the whole class of Sub-Inspectors under the District Boards, whether lent to them or appointed by them, will the Government be pleased to consider the advisability of promoting Sub-Inspectors who have served for an unusually long period in the grade of Rs. 100, and who may not be appointed as Deputy Inspectors in the higher grades along with other officers of the Education Department?

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied:—

"This question raises the same points as have already been dealt with in the replies to the last question and no separate answer to it is required."

VERNACULAR EDUCATION.

The Hon'ble BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

1. Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the articles published in the Sanjibani of the 13th and 27th August last on the introduction of the new scheme of vernacular education into all classes of schools in the province?

2. Would the Government be pleased to institute an inquiry into the evils pointed out in those articles consequent on the sudden and precipitate introduction of the new scheme of education by an independent agency and publish the results of the inquiry?

3. Does not the Government feel the necessity of postponing the introduction of the new scheme until after there has been a sufficient staff of teachers trained to teach it?

4. Although it is very desirable that in the lower forms of High English schools subjects other than the English language, such as Arithmetic, History and Geography, should be taught in the vernacular, but as the aim and scope of a High English school are quite different from that of a Middle English school, and having regard to the fact that the Universities Commission has found that the large percentage of failures in the University Examinations is due to deficient knowledge of English, would the Government be pleased to re-consider its decision in respect of High English schools being compelled to adopt the Middle English course in its entirety up to the fifth class?

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied:—

1. The attention of Government has been drawn to the articles in the newspaper referred to. The whole subject of the introduction of the new scheme of Vernacular Education was fully discussed in Government Resolution No. 1 of the 1st January, 1901, which was published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 2nd idem. A reference to that Resolution will show that the scheme in question is compulsory only in the case of Government and aided schools; and that the position as regards unaided schools is that, if they wish to compete for scholarships, they must conform to the rules in force in respect of Government and aided schools.

2. In the Resolution referred to, the difficulties connected with the introduction of the new scheme were exhaustively considered, and the best means of overcoming the same were fully discussed. Action has since been taken, and is still being taken, with the object of facilitating the introduction of the scheme; and no useful purpose would, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, be served by instituting an inquiry such as that suggested by the Hon'ble Member.

3. A perusal of paragraph 10 of the Resolution above quoted will shew that the difficulties in connection with the training of teachers was fully considered before orders were passed approving of the introduction of the scheme. It was not expected, it was said, that teachers would, all at once, teach the new subjects well: it was almost certain that they would teach them badly. What was contended, however, was that the teaching would not be worse than the then existing entirely mechanical system of training the memory, whereby all the other faculties were dulled at the expense of monotonous parrot-like exercises. It was urged that even inferior teaching with a good educational system would produce better results than bad teaching with an unsound system. Hence, the change was considered necessary, notwithstanding the grave difficulties which would have to be faced.

Immediately after the issue of the Resolution referred to, arrangements were made at the various training schools of the province with the object of imparting instruction in the new methods; the result being that about 250 trained teachers are now being turned out annually. Facilities have also been given to teachers who were trained according to the old methods to qualify themselves in the additional subjects introduced under the new scheme. Training schools for primary school teachers have been opened at most of the sub-divisional head-quarters under trained masters. English teachers have been trained in batches at the Kurseong Training College; and their knowledge in the modern methods is being utilised in various ways. Inspecting officers are being trained in the new subjects in the training schools. Lastly, frequent conferences of teachers and inspecting officers are being held for the purpose of advancing the new system.

In the circumstances, His Honour does not consider it desirable to postpone the introduction of the scheme, as suggested by the Hon'ble Member.

4. A reference to paragraph 12 of the Resolution above referred to will show very clearly that the case of private high schools was carefully considered by Government, and that the privilege of sending up candidates for middle and upper primary scholarships was for the first time conceded to them, with the special object of encouraging them to substitute Vernacular for English text-books in the lower classes. In the same paragraph the evil results of teaching subjects such as Arithmetic, History and Geography through the medium of English, instead of the Vernacular, in the lower classes of these schools, were discussed, and the system then in force was pronounced to be "perfectly disastrous to the sound education of the pupils in the English which their parents want them to acquire." It may also be noticed that the Government of India, in paragraph 26 of the Education Resolution of the 11th March, 1904, have held that the line of division between the use of the Vernacular and of English as a medium of instruction should, broadly speaking, be drawn at a minimum age of 13. In the circumstances, His Honour sees no reason for modifying the orders already passed on this subject.

GURU TRAINING SCHOOLS.

The Hon'ble BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

1. Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a paragraph in the Sanjibani of the 3rd December last on the subject of guru-training schools and another in the Sanjibani of the 10th idem on the same subject?

2. Would the Government be pleased to inquire and state—

(a) how many of the 79 guru-training schools have already got head Pandits trained in the new scheme of vernacular education from first-grade training schools?

(b) how many gurus attend the guru-training schools having such trained head Pandits, and how many those which have no such Pandits?

3. Is the Government aware that owing to the want of duly-qualified head Pandits, who ought to be ex-students of first-grade training schools under the new scheme, and the impossibility of getting suitable men on a monthly pay of Rs. 9, besides the schooling fees, the Director of Public Instruction has issued orders that second-year students of the old normal schools or men similarly qualified might be appointed head Pandits of guru-training schools? Would not such arrangements frustrate the real aim of such schools?

4. If a guru has to undergo training for two years in a guru training school, he must have to take leave of his pathshala for the period. Does Government think that a stipend of Rs. 3 only a month would suffice for his own living and the maintenance of his family during his stay in the guru-training school?

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied:—

1. The articles in question have been brought to the notice of Government.

2. (a) The number of Guru Training Schools already opened is 100, and not 79, as stated. Of these 100 schools, 91 have been supplied with head

Pandits. Information is not immediately available as to the exact number of head Pandits who have come from first grade training schools.

(b) The number of gurus under training in schools under the 91 head Pandits is 550; while the number of such persons under training in the 9 schools as yet unprovided with head Pandits is 44.

3. The instructions issued by the Director of Public Instruction are to the effect that the head Pandit of a Guru Training School must, if possible, be a person who has passed the final examination of a first grade training school, that is to say, a person who has passed the 2nd year examination of the new training school course, or the 3rd year examination of the old course. In case no candidate satisfying either of the above conditions is available, a 2nd year pass man of the old course may be appointed, provided that he produces a certificate from the Head Master of a first Grade Training School that he is well grounded in object lessons and Kindergarten principles, and is able to train gurus in these subjects. The pay of the head Pandits having been recently raised from Rs. 9 to Rs. 12 generally, there should be no difficulty in giving effect to those orders; and it is probable that it will soon be possible to dispense with the services of any 2nd year pass men of the old course who may have been appointed.

4. The subject of the amount of the stipend which should be given to a guru during the period of his training is being separately considered. If funds are forthcoming, an endeavour will be made to increase the amount fixed under present orders in cases in which it appears to be inadequate.

MR. GARRETT'S CIRCULAR.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

1. Has the attention of the Government been called to a circular letter purporting to be issued by the Magistrate and Collector of a district in Eastern Bengal, which has appeared in the Asian Sporting Newspaper of the 13th February, 1904, and calling upon the local Rajas and Zamindars to join in the sport of pig-sticking to be undertaken to clear the jungle of certain tracts from Mansakhan Jholmalia to Dighapatia and to bear the expense of the parties to be organized for the purpose, European and Native gentlemen being invited to take part in the sport?

2. Is it true, as stated in the Amrita Bazar Patrika of the 3rd February, 1904, that the Magistrate and Collector referred to in the Asian Sporting Newspaper is Mr. Garrett of Rajshahi?

3. Will the Government be pleased to state what sum of money, if any, has been collected in pursuance of the circular above mentioned, and how the same has been applied?

4. Has the Government taken any action with reference to the circular in question?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

1. The attention of Government had been previously called to the Circular letter in question.

2. The Magistrate and Collector who issued the Circular is Mr. A. Garrett, Collector of Rajshahi.

3. No money has been received by the Collector as the result of the Circular, as the execution of the scheme was arrested in time.

4 The Lieutenant-Governor called on the Commissioner of Rajshahi for a full report on this matter on the 9th February last, and has recently received his report. Meanwhile, however, the Commissioner, hearing of the matter, had instructed the Collector at the end of December last to stay action in execution of his scheme until he had reported all the facts for the Commissioner's consideration. The Commissioner has now intimated to him that the scheme was impracticable and injudicious, and must be abandoned. In this opinion the Lieutenant-Governor concurs.

GOVERNMENT BUILDINGS IN CALCUTTA.

The Hon'ble BABU BHUPENDRA NATH BASU asked:—

Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the value of the various public buildings in Calcutta owned by the Government of Bengal and the average annual cost of maintaining the same?

The Hon'ble MR. HORN replied:—

"A statement containing the information asked for has been laid on the table."

Statement referred to in the above answer.

EXPENDITURE BY DISTRICT BOARDS FOR EDUCATIONAL PURPOSES.

The Hon'ble RAI TARINI PERSHAD, BAHADUR, said:—

In the Budget Estimate for the current year (1903-1904) Government was pleased to transfer a sum of Rs. 4,52,940 to the District Boards, namely, Rs. 3,71,700 for expenditure on primary education, Rs. 63,000 for additional Sub-Inspectors, and Rs. 18,240 for lower primary scholarships. Will the Government be pleased to state how the said amounts were distributed among the different Divisions of this province?

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied:—

"A statement is laid on the table giving the information asked for by the Hon'ble Member."

EXPENDITURE ON POLICE REFORMS.

The Hon'ble RAI TARINI PERSHAD, BAHADUR, said:—

In the Budget Estimate for 1903-1904 there was a provision of four lakhs for general police reforms, which, as was then expressed, were to be carried out after the Report of the Police Commission. Will the Government be pleased to state whether any portion of the said amount has been spent during the current year towards such reforms; and if so, in what way?

The Hon'ble MR. MACPHERSON replied:—

"Certain reforms in the Police Department have been carried out in the current year as is shown by the fact that the expenditure has risen from

Rs. 63,15,000 last year to Rs. 64,06,000 this year. The sum of four lakhs specially set apart for reforms in connection with the Report of the Police Commission has, however, not been spent because the orders of the Secretary of State have not yet been received."

AGRICULTURAL BANKS AND GRAIN GOLAS.

The Hon'ble RAI TARINI PERSHAD, BAHADUR, said:—

The Hon'ble Mr. Earle, in the course of his speech on the Bengal Financial Statement for 1903-1904, was pleased to say: "The grant for the management and improvement of Government estates in the Land Revenue Budget for 1903-1904 includes Rs. 15,000 for expenditure in connection with the opening of Agricultural Banks and grain golas in Government estates."

Will the Government be pleased to state how many Agricultural Banks and grain golas have been opened during the current year?

The Hon'ble MR. EARLE replied:—

"The number of Agricultural Banks which have been newly opened during the current year, 1903-1904, is 7. Last year (1902-1903) there were 48 banks open, viz.:—20 in Government estates, 16 in Wards' estates, and 12 in private estates. There are now 55 such banks open, viz.:—25 in Government estates, 15 in Wards' estates, and 15 in private estates. No grain golas have yet been opened."

THE BENGAL FINANCIAL STATEMENT FOR 1904-1905.

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES laid on the table the Financial Statement for 1904-1905, with explanatory notes. He said:—

"I beg to lay on the table the Financial Statement for 1904-1905, together with the usual appendices and accounts.

"Some of the budgets which my predecessors have laid upon the table have been Prosperity Budgets; others have been Famine Budgets. The budget for 1904-1905 is neither a Prosperity Budget nor a Famine Budget, but is what I may call a Financial Settlement Budget. It is the outcome of the Financial Settlement which has just been made by the Imperial Government with the Government of Bengal. This settlement constitutes a new departure, and since it not only furnishes the framework of the budget which is before us today but must powerfully although indirectly strengthen the financial position of the Local Government, I may be permitted to say a few words regarding it.

"I need not enter into the past history of Provincial decentralisation which is no doubt sufficiently well known to the Members of this Council. It is sufficient to say that the previous Financial Settlements were concluded at intervals of five years, and the procedure adopted was for the Government of India, after carefully scrutinising the different heads of expenditure, to decide how far each could be safely reduced. They did not exactly say to the Local Government that the latter should not spend more money under a particular head, but they did say that in making the Settlement they would not allow for a higher expenditure. The scale of expenditure which was thus evolved they called the ruling account, and they then proceeded to make over an income just sufficient to cover this expenditure.

"Now, in the first place, it is obvious that when a Financial Settlement is concluded in this manner the Local Government has practically no alternative but to adopt the ruling account as the basis of its budget estimate. Indeed the ruling account and the budget estimate would be identical were it not for two reasons. In the first place the ruling account corresponds with the revised estimate of the year in which it is made, and the budget estimate of the following year may and should show an increase In the second place when the Government of India have prepared a ruling account and shown that the revenue of a Local Government exceeds its necessary income, they do not usually resume the whole difference, but share it with the Local Government. In a word the Government of India make over not only enough income to cover the ruling account but also something over. This something over, however, is for the most part required to meet expenditure, the necessity of which had been affirmed on the one side and denied on the other. All this is to explain that few reforms involving recurring expenditure can be hoped for in such a budget as this, unless provision has actually been made for them as part of the Settlement. Of course we should not be justified in making ourselves liable for new recurring expenditure on the strength of a lump grant, for when the lump grant was exhausted, the recurring expenditure would continue, and we should have nothing wherewith to meet it. That briefly is the relation between the new settlement and the present budget estimates.

"One other point, however, remains to be explained, namely, how a large lump grant has been made to the Local Government as part of the Settlement which has just been concluded. The new Settlement differs from those previously made in this respect that it is to last for an indefinite period. A little consideration will show that such a settlement cannot be concluded precisely on the same terms as one that is to last for only five years. Hitherto at the end of every five years the expenditure has been cut down, and income has been allotted sufficient to cover the expenditure on the revised scale. The position of the Local Government in each case depended upon the extent to which it had been cut down and upon its recuperative power, that is, upon the extent to which its new income was made up of expanding revenue. If, however, there is no intention to cut down the expenditure at the expiry of five years, it is obvious that the same proportion of expanding revenue cannot be given; for otherwise at the end of the five years the Local Government would be in a much better position than before. On the other hand, if the proportion of the expanding revenue is reduced and compensation is not otherwise given, then for the first five years the Local Government will be in a worse position than previously; for no benefit from the change of system will be felt until the five years are over, and meanwhile the Local Government will suffer from the curtailment of its growing revenue.

"The obvious remedy is for the Government of India while cutting down the expanding revenue to make a large grant so as to compensate the Local Government for the disadvantageous position in which it would otherwise be placed in during the first five years of the new system. This is the explanation of the fact that the Government of India has given us a lump grant with which to enter on the new settlement. Moreover as the grant is to compensate for a disadvantage which will last for five years this also explains the condition on which the grant is made, namely that the expenditure is to be spread over several years. I may say, however, that we did not expect so large a grant as 50 lakhs, and that in this and other respects the Government of India have dealt generously with us.

"Now as to the effect of the new Settlement on the financial position of the Local Government.

"One drawback of the system followed in the case of the previous settlements has been, that the Government of India have been no more willing to allow the Local Government to undertake recurring expenditure than if no Financial Settlements had existed. The reason of this is that at the end of five years it was practically impossible for the Government of India to cut down recurring expenditure, for which the Local Government had made itself liable. Consequently, at the end of five years the liability for the new expenditure had to be allowed for in the new Settlement, and practically it was passed on to the Government of India. The new Settlement which has now been made, however, is not for five years, but for an indefinite period. No doubt the sanction of the Government of India will be necessary in the future as in the past, but they will not be able to put forward the argument hitherto used that the liability will pass on to them at the expiry of the settlement, and practically the Local Government will be in a very much stronger position when it advocates recurring expenditure.

"But if the Government of India became liable for any recurring expenditure, on the other hand they snapped up any recurring income created by the Local Government. Thus an ordinary remunerative investment had no attractions for a Local Government, because at the end of the five years the revenues would be taken into account in the new settlement. Thus, for example, if a Local Government built houses for its officers the rent received would, when a new settlement was concluded at the end of the five years, be counted in as part of the resources made over to it for the purpose of meeting the expenditure under that new settlement.

"It may be pointed out also that, theoretically at any rate, the Local Government is now in a position to give a guarantee or to borrow money. Of course it does not follow that the Government of India will permit the Local Government to do so. Nevertheless, the change constitutes a step towards greater financial autonomy and is bound to have a strong indirect influence.

"In addition to the lump grant of fifty lakhs to which I have referred the Government of India have also made to us two other grants—one of five lakhs and one of fifty lakhs. The former is for expenditure on special public objects which has not been provided for in the Settlement, and the distribution of the amount has been left to the Lieutenant-Governor. The manner in which His Honour has distributed the grant is shown in paragraph 15 of the Explanatory Notes which I have put on the table. The other grant, namely, that for fifty lakhs, represents the contribution of the Government of India for the structural improvement of Calcutta. It is a condition that the money shall be reserved exclusively for this purpose, and it cannot be appropriated until the scheme is approved by the Government of India. It is earnestly to be hoped that a reasonable scheme for the improvement of Calcutta may be devised and adopted, so that the money may not have to be ultimately refunded to the Government of India.

"I now wish to make a few remarks about the Budget Reforms. The scale of the recurring expenditure has been cut down and the income has been adjusted to it, and it is not therefore possible for the Local Government to introduce many reforms involving such expenditure unless these have been agreed upon with the Government of India, and funds have either been provided or promised. It will be found, however, from paragraph 14 of the notes that liberal provision has been made. Of those in the list the largest and most important is, the assignment of four lakhs for the improvement of the position of ministerial officers This is a reform which I have always advocated, and I am sincerely glad that it has fallen in my lot to introduce the budget under which it will be brought about. Nothing it is true can be done until a detailed scheme has been drawn up and sanctioned; but the details have been worked out and the scheme will be submitted to the Government of India almost immediately. Another very important reform is the increase of the staff of Deputy Collectors. The harassment of the present staff of Deputy Collectors through overwork and constant transfers is very great, and the increase will not only be a great boon to the officers personally, but will also effect a very great improvement in the administration. The provision of a lakh of rupees for Sub-Deputy Collectors has been repeated from the current year's budget. The scheme could not be carried out because sanction was not obtained. The expenditure on the staff of Commissioned Medical Officers is not confined to this Province alone, but forms a part of a scheme for the whole of India. The remaining provision for reforms consists of half a lakh for an instalment of Police reforms in Calcutta, and a sum of Rs. 48,000 to allow for an Additional Judge for the Calcutta High Court.

"I wish to add one word regarding the expenditure of 15 lakhs out of the 50 lakhs made over to the Local Government.

"As this lump grant is to compensate for the disadvantageous condition of the Local Government for the first five years of the new Settlement, it has, as already explained, been made subject to the condition that the expenditure should be spread over several years. It has however been arranged that 15 lakhs should be spent in 1904-1905. Of this sum half or 7½ lakhs has been added to the allotment for Civil Works under the Public Works Department. Of the remaining 7½ lakhs, 6 lakhs have been set apart for the housing of the Police in Calcutta and the Mafussal; one lakh will be expended on what is believed to be a remunerative scheme for leasing out land in the Sundarbans; and the remainder, Rs. 50,000, is one-half of a grant of one lakh which will be spread over two years and which will be devoted to the continuance of the experiments for the improvement of the cultivation of indigo.

"The only other point I need notice is, that the expenditure shown in the budget for the year considerably exceeds the income of the year. The difference is fully accounted for by non-recurring expenditure, as is shown in paragraph 13 of the Explanatory Notes. Owing to the large grant which has been made to the Local Government it will be in a position next year to expend considerable sums on buildings or other purposes the expenditure on which is non-recurring, although it is not in a position to increase its recurring expenditure or to introduce reforms other than those stated which involve such expenditure.

"The Financial Statement will come up for discussion on the 6th of April, and in the meantime my Colleagues and I shall be happy to give to Hon'ble Members any information which they may require. We shall also be greatly obliged if Hon'ble Members will extend to us the courtesy shown to our predecessors, and will give notice to us as soon as possible of any points which they propose to bring forward, so that we may be prepared with the necessary explanations."

PART I.—General Review.

(1) ACCOUNTS FOR 1902-1903.

1. When the revised estimates for 1902-1903 were laid before the Council on the 28th March 1903, the closing balance of that year was estimated at Rs. 56,43,100. The actual closing balance was not known till the accounts were finally closed some months later, and it then turned out to be worse by Rs. 1,14,000. The receipts had been under-estimated by Rs. 89,000, but on the other hand the expenditure had also been under-estimated by Rs. 2,03,000. The real closing balance was therefore Rs. 55,29,000.

(2) REVISED ESTIMATE FOR 1903-1904.

2. The next step towards the preparation of the budget for the year 1904-1905 is the revision in the light of the latest information of the estimate for the year 1903-1904 which last March was laid upon the table in the form of a budget estimate. More accurate information is now available and certain changes have been made. A year ago the opening balance of the year 1903-1904 was a matter of estimate, now the actual figure is known from the accounts of the year 1902-1903: moreover, since then the progressive income and expenditure have been closely watched month by month: also savings under some heads have been transferred for expenditure under others: and, lastly, certain extraordinary items, chiefly large grants from the Imperial Government, have to be brought into the account.

3. During the first half of the current year the rainfall was unsatisfactory and the ordinary revenue was considerably less than had been anticipated, so much so that at one time it was actually found necessary to curtail expenditure. When the Hatiya rains had passed, however, there was a complete recovery, and now it is evident that the receipts from ordinary revenue will exceed the estimates.

4. In March 1903 the forecast of my predecessor was that the year 1903-1904 would open with a credit balance of Rs. 56,43,000, that the total revenue would amount to Rs. 5,16,25,000, that the total expenditure would be Rs. 5,52,68,000 and that the year would close with a balance of Rs. 20,00,000.

5. As already noted, however, the opening balance of 1903-1904, which corresponds with the closing balance of 1902-1903, has proved to be worse than the estimate by Rs. 1,14,000. On the other hand it is anticipated that there will be a net improvement in the receipts from ordinary revenue amounting to Rs. 2,24,000. This is the net result on the one hand of increases under Land Revenue, Stamps, Miscellaneous, and Irrigation and Navigation, and on the other hand of decreases under Jail Manufactures, Forests, Assessed Taxes and Provincial rates. If the opening balance and ordinary receipts be taken together they show a net improvement of Rs. 1,10,000.

6. To these receipts must be added certain extraordinary items aggregating Rs. 4,04,000, which bring the total net improvement on the receipt side up to Rs. 5,14,000. The items in question are the following:—

(A) A credit of Rs. 2,15,000 on account of the sale-proceeds of the premises No. 29, Chowringhee Road, which were the quarters of the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta. Nearly the whole of the amount realised has been paid away in the purchase of another house for the same officer.

(B) An assignment of Rs. 1,89,000 from the Imperial Revenues which is made up of—

(1) Rupees 87,000, the balance of a loan taken by the Port Commissioners of Chittagong for the purchase of the steam vessel Gekko, the remission of which was sanctioned by His Excellency the Viceroy during his recent visit to that Port. There is a corresponding charge under "Miscellaneous" on the expenditure side.

(2) Rupees 1,00,000 as a contribution towards the cost of the Teesta Valley Road in Sikkim.

(3) Rupees 2,000 to pay for the additional police force sanctioned for the frontier.

These grants are distinct from the large grants amounting to Rs. 1,05,00,000 which are referred to below.

7. On the expenditure side there have been savings amounting to Rs. 28,18,000 and increases amounting to Rs. 20,63,000, the result being a net improvement of Rs. 7,85,000. When this is added to the net improvement of Rs. 5,14,000 on the receipt side, the sum is a total net improvement of Rs. 12,99,000. The revised estimated closing balance is therefore raised by this amount, and becomes Rs. 32,99,000 in place of Rs. 20,00,000.

The savings referred to are principally made up of the following amounts:—

(a) and (b) Rupees 3,02,000 under Land Revenue, and Rs. 3,49,000 under Judicial Courts, owing partly to over-estimates in the budget and partly to the provision for the reorganization of the Subordinate Executive Service not having been fully utilized;

(c) Rupees 2,69,000 under Jails chiefly in raw materials owing to smaller demands for manufactures;

(d) Rupees 5,50,000 under Police owing to the suspension of any large reforms pending orders on the recommendations of the Police Commission;

(e) Rupees 1,72,000 under Marine owing to no payment having been made for the new steamer ordered to replace the Pilot vessel Sarsuti;

(f) Rupees 3,84,000 under Education, of which a part is nominal having been added to the Public Works Department grant for expenditure on Educational buildings, and a part is due to the scheme for the Provident Fund for gurus not having yet been sanctioned by the Secretary of State;

(g) Rupees 2,52,000 under Medical owing to smaller outlay on preventive measures against plague;

(h) Rupees 95,000 under Scientific and other Minor Departments, owing to the grant for the Pusa Farm not having been utilised, and no expenditure having been incurred for the Dumsong Division of the cinchona plantation;

(i) Rupees 3,07,000 under Irrigation and Navigation owing to no outlay on the suction dredger for which a provision was made in the budget;

(j) Rupees 38,000 under Stamps;

The enhanced expenditure occurred under the following heads:—

(1) Rupees 1,14,000 under General Administration chiefly under "Commissioners" due partly to privilege leave allowances, and larger expenditure on steam boat contingencies at Chittagong and Dacca, and partly to the adjustment of the value of tents and furniture added to the Lieutenant-Governor's tour and camp establishment;

(2) Rupees 75,000 under Stationery and Printing owing to larger supplies of stationery from the Central Stores;

(3) Rupees 81,000 under Miscellaneous to enable the balance of the Gokko loan to be written off;

(4) Rupees 17,69,000 under Civil Works.

8. The effect of the improvements noted above has been as already stated to raise the closing balance in the revised estimates from Rs. 20,00,000 to Rs. 32,99,000. To this latter amount, however, must be added three grants from the Imperial Government aggregating Rs. 1,05,00,000, which finally raise the closing balance to the extraordinary figure of Rs. 1,37,99,000.

These grants are—

(1) Rupees 50,00,000—a special grant in connection with the Provincial contract.

(2) Rupees 5,00,000—a special grant from Imperial to Provincial for such objects or institutions as hospitals, museums, colleges, public libraries, hostels, public spaces or gardens, &c.

(3) Rupees 50,00,000—the Imperial contribution towards the carrying out of the scheme for the Improvement of Calcutta.

BUDGET ESTIMATE, 1904-1905.

9. The Budget Estimate for 1904-1905 is practically a detailed statement of the new Provincial Settlement made by the Imperial Government with the Government of Bengal. The surplus opening balance is mainly composed of Imperial grants; on the revenue side of the Budget there are the receipts from the sources of Revenue made over to this Government, the lump assignment, and the special grant of 4 lakhs for ministerial officers; and on the expenditure side there are the various items that make up the ruling account. Provision on a generous scale has been made for reforms, but the greater part of the expenditure has either been allowed for when the ruling account was drawn up, or has been provided for in subsequent grants which have been separately made or promised.

10. The estimated opening balance is Rs. 1,37,99,000 and the manner in which this is arrived at has already been explained.

11. The estimate shows receipts aggregating Rs. 5,04,43,000, an expenditure of Rs. 5,36,97,000, and a closing balance of Rs. 1,05,45,000.

12. The ordinary Provincial minimum closing balance is Rs. 20,00,000; but in addition to that amount the Government of Bengal has agreed to keep the special grant for the improvement of Calcutta untouched, and not to spend more than 15 lakhs during the year 1904-1905 out of the grant of 50 lakhs made in connection with the Provincial Settlement; so that under the present conditions the minimum closing balance is Rs. 20+50+35, or 1,05 lakhs. The estimated closing balance is therefore Rs. 45,000 in excess of the present minimum.

13. The expenditure of the year exceeds the income by Rs. 32,54,000, and if that were a normal position, or if the expenditure were all recurring expenditure, the position would of course be unsound. The difference is, however, fully made up by the following items of "Non-recurring" expenditure:—

	Rs.
Part of the grant of 50 lakhs to be spent on Public Works, Police Buildings, &c.	15,00,000
Special grant of the Government of India ...	5,00,000

Revision of Gazetteer	45,000
Extension of Ravenshaw College	40,000
Dacca Madrassa	12,000
Total ...	32,49,000

14. Provision has also been made for the following reforms all of which involve recurring expenditure:—

	Rs.
(1) Increase of salaries of ministerial officers and subsistence allowance to apprentices	4,00,000
(2) Improvement of the position of I. M. S. Officers	1,20,000
(3) Increase of Sub-Deputy Collectors ...	1,00,000

(5) Pay of an Additional Judge for High Court ...	48,000
(6) Increase of Deputy Magistrates and Collectors ...	48,000
Total ...	7,66,000

To these sums must be added 2½ lakhs which the Government of India has promised to provide when a scheme has been prepared and sanctioned for strengthening the staff of Deputy Magistrates and Collectors.

15. The assignment of 5 lakhs made by the Government of India out of the Imperial surplus has been provisionally allotted as below:—

In view of these figures the revised estimate for 1903-1904 has been passed for Rs. 1,99,00,000 and the estimate for 1904-1905 has been placed at Rs. 2,02,00,000 with reference to the gradual increase of revenue. The original estimate for the current year, Rs. 1,61,00,000, has accordingly been repeated as the revised estimate for the year. The estimate for next year allows for the annual increase of revenue under this head, and has been placed at Rs. 1,65,00,000. The Provincial share ($\frac{7}{16}$) amounts to Rs. 72,19,000.

20. Provincial Rates.—The actual collections of the public works cess in 1902-1903 amounted to Rs. 48,11,599, and the estimate for next year has been taken at Rs. 48,74,000. An increase is anticipated on the completion of revaluation works in certain districts. Under General Rates for the management of private estates the estimate of receipts is Rs. 1,51,000, and this added to the estimate for receipts from the public works cess makes up the sum of Rs. 50,25,000 which appears in the abstract.

21. Assessed Taxes.—The budget estimate of receipts from income-tax for 1903-1904 was Rs. 50,70,000. The actual collections in the first ten months of the year amounted to Rs. 41,95,000. The revised estimate for the current year has accordingly been placed at Rs. 16,70,000, while the estimate for 1904-1905 has been passed for Rs. 17,00,000. The receipts of this Department are wholly Provincial under the new settlement.

26. Jails.—The actuals of the twelve months ending 31st December 1903 were Rs. 10,87,000, and adding to this an adjustment of Rs. 1,22,000 made in January 1904 on account of Jail supplies, the budget estimate for 1903-1904 has been reduced from Rs. 14,17,000 to Rs 12,00,000 in the revised estimate. The same figure has been adopted as the budget estimate for 1904-1905.

27. Police.—The estimate under this head amounts to Rs. 2,05,000 against Rs. 2,15,858, the actuals of 1902-1903, and Rs. 1,94,000, the revised estimate for 1903-1904.

28. Marine.—The budget estimate for 1904-1905 has been passed for Rs. 12,80,000 against the revised estimate of Rs. 12,84,000 for 1903-1904.

29. Education.—The estimate under this head is Rs. 7,30,000 against Rs. 7,20,000, the revised estimate for 1903 1904, and Rs. 7,08,909, the actuals of 1901-1902. The increase is expected mainly from the fees at high schools.

30. Medical.—The estimate under this head is Rs. 2,15,000 against Rs. 2,23,687, the actuals of 1902-1903. There were special receipts under Lunatic Asylums in 1902-1903, which are not anticipated in the budget.

31. Scientific and other Minor Departments.—The total receipts for 1904-1905 are estimated at Rs. 2,67,000 against Rs. 2,64,841, the actuals of 1902-1903. The revised estimate for 1903-1904, based on the actuals of the ten months of the year, has been placed at Rs. 2,40,000.

32. Miscellaneous.—The receipts for 1904-1905 are estimated at Rs. 9,13,000 against Rs. 10,56,000, the revised estimate for 1903-1904. Larger receipts are anticipated from the sale of elephants in consequence of recent extensive captures in Angul, while lapsed deposits are not expected to be so high as in the current year. Other fluctuations are explained in Appendix A.

33. Irrigation Major Works (Direct Receipts).—The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 18,77,000 against Rs. 18,45,000 the estimate for 1903-1904. Smaller receipts are anticipated from the Midnapore and Hijili Tidal Canals while an improvement is expected in the Sone Canals.

EXPENDITURE.

36. Refunds and Drawbacks.—The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 1,26,000 against Rs. 1,87.000 for 1903-1904. The decrease is due to the reduction in the Provincial share in some of the principal heads of revenue.

37. Land Revenue.—The total Provincial expenditure for 1904-1905 is estimated at Rs. 44,00,000 against Rs. 41,12,000, the revised estimate for the current year, as shown below:—

	Actuals, 1902-1903.	Revised estimate, 1903-1904.	Budget estimate, 1904-1905.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
(1) Charge of District Administration ...	31,47,131	31,01,000	34,54,000

Total ...	38,16,057	41,12,000	44,00,000

38. The increase under (1) includes a lump provision of Rs. 1,50,000 for increase of salaries of ministerial officers, for which a special assignment of four lakhs has been obtained from the Government of India, the balance of the allotment having been provided under Courts of Law. The details of the scheme as how best to ameliorate the condition of these hardworked and deserving officers with the grant thus added to the Provincial revenues are under preparation for submission to the Supreme Government. The budget also includes a provision of Rs. 1,48,000 for a larger number of Sub-Deputy Collectors and Deputy Magistrates, of which one-half is provided under this head and the other half under Law and Justice. The total cost of strengthening the staff of Deputy Collectors is estimated at Rs. 3,50,000, and when the scheme is sanctioned a further assignment of 2½ lakhs will be made from the Imperial Revenues. The revised estimate under (2) includes special grants for improvements, while that under (4) provides for temporary establishment in districts. Under the new financial arrangement the ordinary expenditure on account of survey and settlements in temporarily-settled and Government estates and other miscellaneous items will be Provincial, and the budget grant for those is Rs. 3,00,000. The actuals of 1902-1903 include a special writeback of Rs. 1,27,611.

39. Stamps.—The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 7,80,000 against Rs. 8,04,000, the budget grant for 1903-1904. The decrease is chiefly under "Stamp paper supplied from Central Stores," the estimate under this head being Rs. 3,49,000 against Rs. 3,68,000, the budget estimate for 1903-1904. The Provincial share under the new settlement (one-half) is Rs. 3,90,000.

40. Excise.—The total expenditure for 1904-1905 is estimated at Rs. 8,20,000 against Rs. 8,12,000, the budget grant for 1903-1904. Increased provision has been made under Allowances and District Distillery Establishment. Under the new settlement the Provincial share is seven-sixteenths and amounts to Rs. 3,59,000.

41. Provincial Rates.—The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 1,04,000 against Rs. 1,20,000, the budget grant for the current year. The decrease is chiefly under Revaluation charges, which have been budgetted for according to local requirements.

42. Assessed Taxes.—The expenditure for 1904-1905 is estimated at Rs. 1,64,000 against Rs. 2,06,000, the sanctioned estimate for the current year. The decrease is due to reduction of establishment consequent on the reduction in the number of assessees. The Provincial share under the new settlement is one-fourth.

43. Forests.—The total budget grant for 1904-1905 is Rs. 7,61,000 against Rs. 7,20,000, the estimate for 1903-1904. The increase is mostly due to larger reservations and delimitations in Chittagong and for creeper-cutting. The Provincial share is one-fourth under the new arrangement.

44. Registration.—The charges are estimated at Rs. 9,70,000 against Rs. 9,60,000, the grant for the current year. The increase is due partly to larger provision for new registration offices and partly to a new provision of Rs. 8,000 to meet money-order commission on remittances made by Sub-Registrars to head quarters. The charges under the new arrangement are entirely Provincial.

45. General Administration.—The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 18,56,000 against Rs. 17,56,000, the sanctioned estimate for 1903-1904. The increase is chiefly due to the higher rate of household allowance of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor and to a provision of Rs. 57,000 for a new steam-launch for the Commissioner of Dacca to replace the Lorna.

46. Law and Justice—Courts of Law.—The budget estimate under this head for 1903-1904 was Rs. 99,30,000, but in the revised estimate this has been reduced to Rs. 95,81,000 with reference to known actuals of the year. The estimate for 1904-1905 has been passed for Rs. 1,00,00,000, which includes provision for an additional Puisne Judge of the High Court and establishment, for the appointment of an additional Presidency Magistrate, for additional Sub-Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Magistrates, and for increase of salaries of ministerial officers.

47. Jails.—The budget estimate for 1903-1904 has been reduced from Rs. 28,59,000 to Rs. 25,90,000 in the revised estimate, the decrease being due to smaller expenditure under Dietary charges, Clothing and Bedding, Miscellaneous Services and Supplies, and Purchase of raw materials. The estimate for 1904-1905 has been placed at Rs. 26,80,000.

48. Police.—The following table compares the estimates under this head:—

The budget for the current year included a lump provision of Rs. 4,50,000 for any reforms which might be sanctioned on receipt of orders on the Police Commission's report. These orders have not yet been issued, and the greater portion of the grant has lapsed. The estimate for next year includes a provision of Rs. 50,000 for reforms under Calcutta Police and larger allotments both for Railway Police and Special Police.

49. Marine.—The budget provides for a total expenditure of Rs. 17,40,000, against Rs. 10,53,891, the actuals of 1902-1903. The increase is mainly due to a provision of Rs. 6,75,000 for the purchase of a vessel to replace the Pilot vessel Sarsuti.

50. Education.—In order to have a correct idea of the growth of expenditure under Education, it is necessary to show the disbursements both in the Provincial and District Fund accounts, since most of the expenditure under the latter is met from grants from the Provincial Revenues. The following table shows the charges from 1901-1902:—

56. Miscellaneous.—The revised estimate for 1903-1904 is Rs. 3,40,000, against Rs. 2,59,000, the original budget estimate for the year. The increase is due to the writing off of the balance of the loan granted to the Chittagong Port Fund for the purchase of the steam tug Gekko. The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 2,72,000 and includes a provision of Rs. 15,000 for charges in connection with the examination and arrangement of Government records.

57. Irrigation Minor Works and Navigation.—The estimate for 1904-1905 is Rs. 13,86,000, against Rs. 19,55,000 for the year 1903-1904. Rupees 7,50,000 out of these special amounts has been included in the grant for works in charge of the Public Works Department and the balance is shown under Works in charge of the Civil Department and will be reappropriated when the grants are actually sanctioned. THE BENGAL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1904.

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. SHIRRES introduced the Bill and moved that it be read in Council. He said :—

"It is usual when a Bill of so much importance as this is introduced that the Member in charge of it should explain the amendments which it proposes in greater or less detail. In the present case, however, the Statement of Objects and Reasons is very full and complete, and I shall not take up the time of the Council long. When an important Act, such as the Local Self-Government Act, is passed into law, no long time elapses before proposals for amendment are made to the Local Government. Most of these are on trivial points, or on technical points relating to matters of drafting. Each of them, however, is carefully enquired into, and if the proposal is found to be sound and is approved of, an order is passed that it should be brought up when the Bill comes up for amendment. As years pass on, other such small unimportant amendments accumulate until the mass of them becomes so large as to justify legislation, or else after some years some important reform or amendment is proposed, which is sufficient to turn the scale and a Bill is brought forward in the Council. This is the history of most of these amending Acts, and this is the history of this Act. An examination of the Statement of Objects and Reasons will show that almost all the amendments are of the former kind: most of them have to do with the drafting or with not very important points.

"Two important amendments of the latter kind however are proposed, and I shall confine my observations to them. The earliest of these in point of time is a proposal to enable District Boards to pay for the cost of bridges built subsequent to the passing of the Act by levying tolls on them.

"The other is a measure for giving greater power and responsibility to District Boards in connection with the construction of light tramways or railways.

"Tolls in Bengal were abolished, I think, in the end of the year 1879-80, and only a few years had elapsed when the proposal to empower local bodies to levy tolls on bridges was discussed by the local officers. I arrived in this country at the end of 1882, and in the following year it was certainly under discussion. The Government of Bengal were, however, at that time so deeply impressed with the evils of tolls that they were very unwilling to go back upon the principle which they had laid down to any extent. They did do so in the case of Municipalities, but in the case of District Boards we had to wait until a new generation grew up which was prepared for the change. The most extreme case, a case in which everyone will admit the proposal to be justifiable, occurs when a District Board is in possession of a ferry which yields considerable revenue. It would not yield a considerable revenue unless it was on an important route. If, however, a District Board builds a bridge, it not only loses the revenue which it derived from the ferry, but it has at the same time to pay out money for the construction of the bridge. The consequence of this is that throughout the greater part of the Province the roads are very badly provided with bridges. This is also aggravated to some extent by the fact that when District Boards during periods of famine or scarcity begin to make roads, they do not at the same time make bridges, because bridge-work requires very little labour, whereas road-making does require a large amount of labour.

In the Bill it is not proposed to confine the power of the Local Boards to levying tolls in cases in which ferries have been replaced by bridges, but they are to be empowered to levy tolls in all cases in which they build bridges after the passing of the Act.

"The other important amendments relate to giving a greater measure of financial autonomy to District Boards in regard to the matter of guaranteeing light railways. At present District Boards have nominally power to give such guarantees, but practically they have not. The reason for this will be gathered from a concrete case. Supposing that in a district a light railway is made for 25 lakhs of rupees, and the District Board guarantees four per cent. on this, that is one lakh of rupees a year. It may possibly happen that the rails are constantly washed away by flood and that large sums of money have to be expended for the re-construction of the line. Or it may happen that the value of the project was over-estimated, and that the returns do not justify it. The very worst that could happen is that the railway will have to be abandoned. Then the District Board becomes liable for the annual payment of a lakh of rupees. There are not more than one or two District Boards in the province which could afford to pay a lakh of rupees without so crippling the administration entrusted to them that Government would be compelled to step in. In other words, the burden would fall not upon the District Board but upon the Government. That being so, the Government looks at the matter from its own point of view and does not leave the decision with the District Board.

"It is not so in all provinces. In Madras, the District Boards have not imposed taxation to the full limit which the law empowers them to do. Consequently there is a reserve power which enables them to give a guarantee. In this Bill it is proposed to create for District Boards specific reserve power for taxation which will enable them to give a guarantee. The sections of the Bill which relate to this are 46A, 46B, 46C, 46D and 46E. It will be seen that these sections provide that if a District Board is disposed to give such a guarantee, it must agree to taxation being raised when it gives the guarantee and the order which actually imposes taxation is passed by the Lieutenant-Governor. This is to avoid the practical difficulty which would probably arise if the guarantee were given by the District Board, and some years later the District Board were called upon to pay the money. In such a case the District Board which was called on to carry out the guarantee might be differently constituted from that which gave the guarantee, and it might be very difficult to get together a quorum which would vote for imposing taxation. Therefore whenever they have to give a guarantee they have to decide whether they agree to taxation; if they are not disposed to do this, then the whole proposal drops. I may observe that a precedent for such permissive taxation is to be found in the Drainage Act.

"I have only one other remark to make, and that is that the Act very strictly limits the power of the Lieutenant-Governor in regard to such taxation, and lays down that no more taxation shall be imposed than is absolutely necessary for the purpose of securing the guarantee, and that as soon as the guarantee is fulfilled the taxation shall cease.

"These are all the remarks I have to make regarding the amendments which are in the Bill. After the Bill was drawn up and submitted to the Government of India some further amendments were received, and possibly some more may be received hereafter, but these can be dealt with when the Bill is referred to a Select Committee. The Bill has been introduced at the end of the legislative session, but it is not proposed to proceed with it to the Select Committee stage till, in all probability, the next cold weather. The object of introducing it now is that full publicity may be given to it, and that the Government may have full time to consider all the objections which may be submitted in regard to it."

The motion was put and agreed to, and the Bill was read accordingly.

The Council was then adjourned to Wednesday, the 6th April, 1904, at 11 A.M.

Masters of vessels, pilots, and others are hereby informed that a large Buoy, painted black, with staff and diamond-shaped head, has been placed in 18 feet O. L. W., with Shoalwater Point bearing N. W. ½ W., distant two and-a-half miles.

Mariners navigating Spencer Gulf north of Tipara Shoal are cautioned against making too free with the western shore, as between Franklin Harbour and Point Lowly the shoal water extends in several places from one and-a-half (1½) miles to four (4) miles from the shore line, which in many places is very low and often distorted by mirage.

Vessels beating up or down the Gulf against strong head winds are therefore cautioned to keep about the middle of the Gulf, towards the Middle Bank Lightship, which may be passed close to. They may also anchor anywhere north of Tipara Shoal and await a slant of wind.

EASTERN ARCHIPELAGO—BORNEO, NORTH COAST.

Marudu bay—Non-existence of rock.

No. 100 (second publication).—The British Admiralty has given notice (No. 133 of 1904) that he has made a very careful search for the rock, marked doubtful on the Charts and shown at a distance of 5 miles N. 69° E. from the eastern point of Melow island in the approach to Kudat bay. The ship was anchored in 13 fathoms in the supposed position, and soundings of not less than 12 fathoms were obtained for a distance of one mile around her in all directions without finding any indication of a shoal, nor was any discoloured water observed from the masthead. The fishermen and local authorities at Kudat, who are intimately acquainted with Marudu bay, know nothing of the existence of any danger hereabouts.

The abovementioned rock, which was not seen by H.M.S. Egeria in 1880, was inserted on the Charts from old documents, which probably were not very reliable; it has therefore now been expunged from the Admiralty publications.

Approximate position, lat. 6° 51′ N., long. 116° 57′ E.

The arm of a semaphore pointing upwards by day, or two green fixed lights, vertical, by night, denotes "No flood tide in Town reach."

The arm of a semaphore pointing downwards by day, or three fixed lights, vertical, a red light between two green lights, by night, signifies that the "Navigation of the river is dangerous."

THE BRUCE INSTITUTION.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 1794, dated the 22nd March 1904.—The following is published for general information.

A. EARLE,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT OF THE BRUCE INSTITUTION

FOR THE YEAR 1903.

1.—Control.—During the year under review, the Very Rev. Father V. Marchal, S.J., whose term of office had expired, was re-appointed to be a Governor, but towards the close of the year he resigned his appointment, and was succeeded by the Rev. Father A. Van de Mergel, S.J. Mr. H. A. Bamford was absent from India for a period of eight months, and in consequence ceased to be a Governor under Rule 8. He was succeeded by Mr. W. W. Hornell (Inspector of European Schools, Bengal). Mr. A. Pedler, (Honorary Secretary), was absent from India for a period of three months, during which period Mr. A. C. Edwards acted for him.

The following is a list of the Governors at the close of the year :—

The Most Rev. the Lord Bishop of Calcutta
The Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, Bengal
The Chairman of the Calcutta Municipality
The Director of Public Instruction, Bengal (Honorary Secretary)
The Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sale.
The Hon'ble Mr. L. P. Pugh (Barrister-at-law).
The Ven'ble Archdeacon Kitchin.
The Rev. J. E. Robinson, D.D.
The Rev. Father A. Van de Mergel, S.J.
Geo. Roddick, Esq.
W. W. Hornell, Esq.

II.—Capital and Income.—The capital of the Institution stood, as in the previous year, at Rs. 10,51,200, of which Rs. 10,46,200 is held by the Comptroller-General in the form of a 3½ per cent. stock certificate of the year 1865, and the balance, Rs. 5,000 is invested in 3½ per cent. Government securities of the year 1879, and is held by the Secretary and Treasurer, Bank of Bengal. The annual interest on the capital amounts to Rs. 36,792, which is placed to the credit of the Institution in the Bank of Bengal. The year opened with a balance of Rs. 17,681-1-0 and closed with a balance of Rs. 17,834-10-3.

III.—Election, Vacancies, etc.—The annual election was held in the month of January. For the 13 vacancies advertised, 50 applications were received, and 13 girls were elected on the recommendation of a Sub-Committee consisting of the Ven'ble the Archdeacon Kitchin, the Very Rev. Father V. Marchal, S.J., the Rev. J. E. Robinson, D.D., and Geo. Roddick, Esq. Of the girls elected, two were placed in the Loretto Boarding School, Entally, five in the Loretto Orphanage, Entally, four in the Calcutta Girls' School, one in the Pratt Memorial School, and one in St. Paul's Mission Home. Of the girls who had been withdrawn, fifteen had attained the age of seventeen years, the limit ordinarily allowed under the rules. One girl was removed from the foundation for unsatisfactory conduct, while two other girls were warned that if their conduct did not improve, they would be liable to be removed from the benefits of the Fund. Another girl was removed for continued absence without leave. Two girls, who had been ailing, were permitted to go to the hills for a change, but no charges beyond the usual school-fees were paid. There were two deaths.

At the close of the year there were 133 girls on the foundation, against 144 in the preceding year. They were distributed as follows :—

Loretto Convent, Entally—
Boarding School	19
Orphanage	30
	—		49

3. Father, or both parents alive	1	3	2	6
Total ...	52	50	31	133

IV.—Education and Maintenance.—The nature of the education imparted to the girls on the foundation is generally that prescribed for primary and middle schools for Europeans. In exceptional cases a higher education is given. Parents and guardians are allowed to choose any school for the education of their children or wards, who may be elected, provided that such a school has already been approved by Government as suitable for the education and maintenance of Bruce foundationers. A girl is not ordinarily allowed to remain in school after she has attained the age of seventeen years, when an outfit grant of Rs. 50 is usually given to enable her to start in life. If, however, a girl elects to take up teaching as a profession, some extension of time is generally allowed, if the Governors consider her fit to take up higher studies. Short extensions, not exceeding over a few months, are also generally allowed to enable the foundationers to appear at the examinations held under the Code of Regulations for European Schools. Two such extensions were allowed during the year. The end sought is to fit the girls for a respectable and useful station in life.

The average monthly cost for the education and maintenance of each girl on the foundation amounted to Rs. 18-13-4, against Rs. 19-6-6, in the preceding year.

The total amount paid under the different heads of expenditure was as under :—

1902.	Rs.	A.	P.	1903.	Rs.	A.	P.

V.—Inspection.—Mr. H. A. Bamford was appointed Visiting Governor for the first-half and the Ven'ble Archdeacon Kitchin for the second-half year. Their reports were on the whole satisfactory. A few cases of idleness and disobedience were brought to the notice of the Archdeacon, and he warned these girls that if their conduct did not improve, they might lose their places on the Bruce Fund. Annual reports are also received from the school authorities, in regard to the conduct, application, progress, health, and attendance of the foundationers. These reports have generally been satisfactory.

VI.—Meetings.—Four meetings were held during the year, and among the various resolutions passed, the following may be noted :

That in all future applications for election on the Bruce Fund, a statement of the case should be drawn up by the minister countersigning the application, and appended thereto, and that an addition be made to the advertisement of the election to the effect that no application will be considered which is unaccompanied by such a statement.

CALCUTTA;
The 1st March 1904.

Honorary Secretary to the Governors.

RESOLUTION ON THE OPIUM ADMINISTRATION REPORT FOR THE YEAR 1902-1903.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—OPIUM.

Calcutta, the 24th March 1904.

RESOLUTION—No. 1935.

READ—

The Report on the Administration of the Opium Department for the year 1902-1903 (from the 1st November, 1902, to the 31st October, 1903).

1. In the Benares Agency, Mr. Baillie was in charge for about seven months, and Mr. House for about five months, of the year. They spent between them 131 days on tour, during which period the office of every division and subdivision in the Agency was inspected. Mr. Bright, who held charge of the Bihar Agency throughout the year, spent altogether 80 days on tour, and inspected two subdivisions and seven sub-agencies. The Hon'ble Mr. C. E. Buckland, C.I.E., who assumed charge of the Miscellaneous Revenue Department of the Board on the 15th December, 1902, and remained in office for the rest of the year, visited both the Agencies twice during the year.

2. The improvement in check-measurements in the Bihar Agency, which was observed last year, was maintained; and there was an increase in the percentage of the area so measured to the total cultivated area. In the Benares Agency, although results were not quite so good as in the previous year, owing to the employment of a smaller number of officers on the work, the percentage of the area test-measured was still considerably higher than in the Bihar Agency. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to gather from the Board's report that this subject continues to receive the careful attention which it deserves.

3. In the Bihar Agency, there was a further diminution of the area which the raiyats engaged to cultivate. This decrease was general in all the sub-agencies, except Tirhut, and is generally ascribed to the competition of more lucrative crops. It was observed last year that the decrease in the area settled in the Benares Agency in the year 1900-1901 had been, to some extent, made good. In the year under review, however, there was a further decline under this head, owing chiefly to the relinquishment of cultivation of doubtful character in the Sitapur Division.

4. It is satisfactory to notice that the desirability of securing the personal attendance of cultivators at settlement time was steadily kept in view both by the Agents and the Board. Progress, however, is slow in the Bihar Agency, where the great majority of the raiyats still prefer to take their advances through the khatadars, or middlemen.

5. In both Agencies the season was, on the whole, an exceptionally good one. As compared with the averages for the preceding seven years, the average outturn per bigha showed an increase of 15 chitaks in the Bihar Agency, and of 1 seer, 12 chitaks in Benares. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to notice that there was a further large increase in the amount of money advanced in both Agencies for the construction and repair of wells; the figures for the Benares Agency exceeding all previous records, including even those of the famine year of 1896-97. The Board are requested to consider whether rules on the subject of these advances, similar to those which have produced such excellent results in Benares, could not be introduced in certain of the sub-agencies in Bihar where the system is not yet popular.

6. The average consistence of the opium received at the Patna and Ghazipur Factories was 73·80° and 70·72°, as against 75·08° and 71·75°, respectively, in the previous year. The low consistence did not, however, interfere with the process of manufacture. Owing to the unusually large outturn of the drug during the year under review, the expenditure shewed an increase of over 20½ lakhs in Bihar and of over 58 lakhs in Benares. For the same reason, the average cost price of opium per maund in both the Agencies was much less than in the preceding year.

7. During the twelve months from November, 1902, to October, 1903, 48,000 chests of provision opium were sold in equal proportions from the two Agencies. As compared with the results of the preceding 12 months, the average sale prices of Bihar and Benares opium shewed an increase of Rs. 100 and Rs. 104, respectively, per chest, owing chiefly to the rise in the exchange value of silver and to an increased demand for Bengal opium in China, Saigon, Batavia, Bangkok, Manilla and Formosa. The total outturn of provision opium during the year 1902-1903 was 64,739 chests. It is expected that there will be a reserve of 31,764 chests on the 1st January, 1905.

8. During the year under review, several administrative changes were introduced in the Opium Department. The most important of these was the abolition, in the Benares Agency, of the system of remunerating the lambardars, or middlemen, by the primitive system known as khurchan (scrapings), and the introduction, in its place, of a method of payment by a commission of 2½ per cent. on the value of the opium received from the cultivators. In future, the two appointments of Factory Superintendent at Ghazipur and Patna, which have hitherto been reserved solely for officers of the Indian Medical Service, will be open to, and will ordinarily be held by, qualified officers of the Opium Department. Also, the prospects of the Assistant Factory Superintendents, and of the Factory Assistants, have been improved. Finally, a concession has been made in favour of Sub-Deputy Opium Agents. Under the orders previously existing, a Sub-Deputy Opium Agent could not be promoted to the grade of Rs. 700 until he had completed 24 years' approved service in the Department, even if there was a vacancy in that grade. It has now been decided that promotions to that grade may be permitted whenever vacancies occur, even if the officers concerned have not completed 24 years' service, provided that they are otherwise eligible.

9. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that fair progress has been made in the work of revising the Opium Manuals, and hopes that their publication will not now be long delayed. A report has recently been received from the Director of Land Records on the subject of the utilisation by the Opium Department of survey maps and records in connection with opium settlements. This is now under the consideration of Government. The irregularities in the Chest and Saw-mill Department of the Patna Factory, referred to in paragraph 35 (h) of the Board's report, will shortly form the subject of a special communication to the Government of India.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to thank the Board for their efficient administration of the Department during the year under review. His Honour joins with them in their appreciation of the valuable services rendered, during the last five years, by Mr. Baillie, late Opium Agent, Benares, who has now left the Department for good.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

A. EARLE,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The mean pressure, temperature, etc., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from eye-observations.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The month of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground. Rainfall reported on any day is for 24 hours preceding 8 A.M. of that day.
